Stimson Gives Aims in Radio Speech.

London's Dickerings

Here are some of the highlights on the London naval conference from The Tribune's correspondents and press services:

Secretary of State Stimson's talk over the radio gives hopeful view on progress of conference.

Mr. Derrah hears from members of the Italian delegation that Great Britain is cooling off in its desire to grant America naval parity.

Mr. Steele reveals that newspapers of the world have won the right to sit in on the plenary sessions and that, out of 78 seats, American newspapers have been granted 12.

Mr. Wales describes social activities, including a reception at the Mansion House to delegates and wives, a dinner by Mrs. Dawes, and a luncheon at the Ritz.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—That the American delegation has given up hope of achieving actual reduction in the cruiser fleets of the chief naval powers and fallen back on the five year extension of the present battleship building holiday as the principal possible accomplishment of the London naval conference was indicated tonight in the address Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson broadcast to the radio audience of Great Britain and America.

The secretary of state, in careful words, approved in advance the proposals of the other delegations and advisers, and outlined the objectives of the United States in this conference.

Lists Four Chief Points.

It may be summarized thus:

1. Parity between the British and American navies in "power and efficiency."

2. A reduction of the battleship building programs of all naval powers by postponing the five year replacement of present capital ships, provided for by the Washington treaty.

3. Ending the rivalry in cruiser and destroyer building by limitation of the number and tonnage of these classes of surface craft.

4. Abolition of submarines, or, in any event, the reduction of their number, and prohibition of their ruthless use against merchant ships.

Vague on Political Pacts.

As to political agreements the chairman of the American delegation spoke vaguely.

Particularly noticeable was the character of the brief reference of Mr. Stimson to cruisers, and the competition in building them, which brought about this conference. Mr. Stimson spoke not of reducing or even limiting the cruiser strength, but of putting an "end to the competition" in cruiser and destroyer building.

This end, observers say, could be accomplished as well by limitation as by reduction. The cruiser reduction program, on which President Hoover's heart was set, has gone glimmering, as a result of the refusal of the British government to reduce the actual present British cruiser strength.

Concession to British.

The Stimson battleship program indicates the extent of the present concession the American delegation is willing to make to the British objectives.

Mr. Stimson, in his radio address, omitted committing America to the British thesis, except to the extent of postponement of battleship replacements for five years.

STIMSON LISTS PROBLEMS

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—After a preliminary introduction of the American naval delegation, Secretary of State Stimson swung into the parley's problems.

"We have come over here to try to negotiate a treaty between the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan, by which each of these nations will limit and reduce its navies," he said.

"We believe that this will accomplish two great purposes. First, it will put an end to the ill will, suspicion, and fear that inevitably is caused by competition in naval building; and, secondly, it will reduce the

MAYOR TANGLED ON LOOP VALUE, FIGURES SHOW

Reviewers' Action Is Hit by Malone.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Public officials exhibited much activity yesterday in seeking a plan to pull Chicago out of the financial mire, with no tangible results last night. Their private talks, conferences, interviews, public speeches and written statements did not evolve a plan to pay any of the $280,000,000 of floating debt nor pay the $11,275,500 in salaries owed to 40,122 public employés.

Perhaps chief interest centered around the new assessment of the loop property ordered by the board of review. This was for four reasons.

Hits Reviewers' Action.

Chairman William H. Malone of the state tax commission issued a statement saying the reviewers have no legal authority to make "a reassessment."

The plan made public by the board of review does not clearly indicate exactly what the board intends to do.

From the board's statement, Harry S. Cutmore, who has directed the recent reassessment, estimated that the completion of the reassessment will be delayed a month.

A prominent banker said he could see no way to pull the city out of its financial difficulties until the reassessment is completed.

The plan of Mayor Thompson and H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education, to add $300,000,000 to the loop valuations received two punctures. The city and school board caused a joint appraisal of the loop to be made in 1926. This set the value of all land and buildings as $1,179,445,471. The area covered was the district bounded by the river, south branch, Roosevelt road and the lake.

Valued at $1,281,490,973.

On that same territory the assessors' appraisal reported a higher valuation by $102,045,502. The assessors' appraisal showed a valuation for the same territory of $1,281,490,973 as of 1928, although it was claimed that land values had decreased and that building costs were less than in 1926. This joint appraisal is in the city and school board records and has been available for both Mayor Thompson and Mr. Caldwell.

After deciding that $1,281,490,973 is the full value of the loop, the assessors, to avoid overtaxation in Cook county, made the assessment 37 per cent of the appraised value. That, it was decided, is the ratio used throughout the state. Accordingly the reassessment valuation on the loop is $474,151,660. This is the figure which Mayor Thompson and Mr. Caldwell have publicly urged be increased by $300,000,000.

It was reported yesterday that they intend later to boost the proposed increase to $700,000,000 because of new buildings erected since 1927. That would make $400,000,000 for new buildings in the loop, while the estimated value of all for which permits were obtained is only $350,000,000.

Fails to Ask Increase.

Before the board of review, the mayor's agent, Thomas V. Sullivan, drew in his horns. He failed to ask for a $300,000,000 increase. Instead, he said he wanted a 40 per cent increase on the land of the loop, which would mean a $122,388,366 increase. Translated into appraised valuations, Mr. Sullivan desires that the loop value shall be $1,613,280,346, as compared with the city-school appraisal of $1,179,445,471. The difference is $432,834,875. But Mr. Sullivan may change his position when he next gets before the board of review.

When Mayor Thompson had his "great demonstration of the middle west" for a lakes to the gulf waterway, soon after he was inaugurated, he asked for delegates from all of the river cities. This was turned into a flood control gathering, but the delegates came. Among them was Thomas V. Sullivan of St. Paul. He helped so much in the hip hurrah stuff that Mayor Thompson decided that he fitted into the ballyhoo crusade.

Given School Board Job.

The mayor got him a job as assistant attorney for the school board. James E. Todd, attorney for the board, officially reported that he could get along with fewer lawyers, so Mr. Sullivan created his own job. He decided he would be the tax lawyer at $10,000 a year. The mayor caused an uproar against former Superintendent of Schools Chadsey because he was a nonresident at the time of his appointment, but Mr. Sullivan was placed at

17 FACE DEATH ON WRECK AS LIFE LINE ROPE SNAPS

BORDEAUX, France, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The single rope with which it was meant to rescue 17 members of the crew of the British freighter Knebworth snapped tonight after eight others had been safely brought ashore from the wreck.

Helplessly the rescue workers on shore watched the sailors facing death every minute as they clung to the rigging while the seas broke over them. It was feared that it was impossible that they could survive until morning. The ship had broken in two after striking a reef near Biarritz. Those rescued by means of the Breeches buoy included two women. One sailor was swept overboard and drowned when the freighter struck the reef.

Runs Ashore in Fog.

HAVRE, France, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Brazilian steamer Alagrete, bound for this port with 36,000 bags of coffee, ran ashore during a fog at Octeville, four miles from here tonight. Rocks stove a hole forward. Eight tugs strove without success to free the vessel, grounded only 100 yards from the cliffs. The sea was smooth and the crew remained aboard. It was hoped with high tide tomorrow the steamer could be floated.

SHOT TO DEATH WHEN HE BATTLES TRIO OF BANDITS

Felix Ogolle, 45 years old, was shot and fatally wounded early this morning in a gun battle with three robbers who attempted to hold up his poolroom at 1659 West Erie street. Ogolle and a half dozen patrons were in the place when two of the bandits entered with pistols drawn. One of them forced the customers to line up in a rear room with their hands in the air while the other covered Ogolle.

Then the third robber appeared and walked toward the proprietor, demanding his money. Instead of complying, Ogolle whipped a pistol from beneath the counter and started shooting. His shots went wide, however, and he dropped where he stood with bullets from the robbers' guns in his head and chest. The bandits fled without loot. Ogolle was taken to the County hospital, where he died an hour later.

1,200 Garment Workers in Toronto Go on Strike

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. '28.—(AP)—More than 1,200 workers on women's garments went on strike this morning over differences with employers regarding wages and working conditions. Though it could not yet be learned how many companies would be affected by the strike, it was stated the industry, which is now operating overtime on spring dresses and cloaks, would be seriously affected.

Fight to Save Diver Trapped Under River

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 28.—Telegraphic advices tonight from Outardes Falls said that the rescue crib work around the imprisoned diver, Trans, has been very successful, enabling a volunteer diver to get access to him. Trans was found to be held down by a spike protruding from the main coffer dam. In order to secure his release it would be necessary to saw out a piece of wood. This is being proceeded with tonight. Evidently Trans realized he was caught in such a way that movement would tear his suit and he would be drowned.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 28.—Word was being anxiously awaited here this evening on the progress of extraordinary relief measures being taken to rescue a diver, Peter Trans, who has been on the bottom of the Outardes river at Outardes falls since 10:30 a. m. Monday.

Trans, a Dane, whose home is in Montreal, slipped as he was going down the ladder to inspect the foundation of the coffer dam which is being built at Outardes falls by the Ontario Paper company, a subsidiary of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and which supplies paper for THE TRIBUNE and its associated publications.

Entangled in Gear.

The unfortunate diver got entangled in his gear and was unable to release himself. He was still alive after 30 hours of submersion. His air tube is, fortunately, unchoked and oxygen is being pumped to him.

Those on the spot being unable to extricate Trans, owing to the strong current, an appeal for immediate help was sent to the company's office at Montreal. Steps were immediately taken here to dispatch aid by airplane. Within an hour an airplane had left the Cartierville airdrome, on the outskirts of Montreal. An hour and three-quarters later the plane was at Quebec, where there were waiting two divers, arranged for by telephone. In another fifteen minutes the plane was off again for Outardes falls, 175 miles distant. Heavy snow and poor visibility was encountered about half way on the route, and the plane swung over to the south side of the river.

Plane Forced Down.

At 5 o'clock the plane was forced to land at Rimouski, opposite Outardes falls on the other side of the St. Lawrence gulf, about 33 miles away. Latest information here is that the plane is still at Rimouski, presumably prevented by weather conditions from getting over to Outardes falls.

Meanwhile, at Outardes falls, the staff was not idle. Advices were received here that a volunteer, putting on a spare diving suit, had gone down in an endeavor to rescue Trans. He reported that Trans was in an upright position and appeared to be jammed up against the corner of the coffer dam and the rocks. The volunteer was unable to release him.

Another attempt was made later in the day. It was found that the water had risen considerably and the current was swifter. Trans is receiving air.

Sinks Crib Around Diver.

On instructions from Montreal, a crib work has been sunk around the imprisoned diver, and this has been rapidly sheathed. This operation was to have been finished late this afternoon. Instructions have been given to the airplane pilot to land the two expert divers at Outardes falls with the utmost dispatch, and without risk of life.

Trans is in from twenty to thirty feet of water.

Police Ambush Traps Bandit During Holdup

A robber walked into a trap set by Chief Investigator Patrick Roche of the state's attorney's office early this morning in the 211 East Delaware apartments, one of the fashionable residence hotels of the near north side. A few minutes later he was shot and probably fatally wounded by one of the policemen lying in ambush with Roche in the office of the apartments. The scene of the shooting is a couple of doors east of the Casino club.

The ambush was the second arranged by Roche and the Chicago police in the last few weeks. The first trap, sprung last Sunday night, resulted in the capture of a half dozen alleged members of a robber gang that has terrorized the gold coast district for several months. The police have been on the robbers' trail since the holdup of the home of Charles M. Richter, 1418 Lake Shore drive, in which jewelry valued at $25,000 was taken.

Phone Talks Give Clew.

The 200 residents of the apartments were unaware of what was taking place when Roche marched his squad into the hotel foyer late last night and deployed them in the manager's office and other small rooms at the rear of the desk. The policemen sat down to wait. In three other near north side hotels other policemen were also in ambush. They have been on the watch ever since intercepted telephone conversations indicated that the hotels were to be robbed.

Abraham Dansk, night clerk at the 211 East Delaware apartments, was the only person in the lobby when the bandit pushed open the front door and walked in at 2:20 a. m. Dansk was in the cashier's cage busy with his accounts.

Covers Clerk with Pistol.

The robber strode up the steps that lead into the lobby and turned toward the desk and cashier's cage at the left. As he approached he drew a pistol and thrust it toward Dansk.

"Be quiet now," he warned the clerk. "Take me up in the elevator and if you open your mouth I'll shoot."

Dansk led the gunman to the elevator, they entered the cage and shot aloft. At the 17th floor the robber ordered the car halted, forced Dansk to hand over his office keys and pushed him out. Then he descended.

Once more on the main floor he went swiftly to the cashier's cage, opened the cash drawer with one of the keys taken from Dansk and drew out $24, all that was there.

Police Lie in Wait.

Behind the cage to the east is a door leading to the manager's office. There were no policemen in this office, but in the south wall of the office is another door that opens on a corridor and across the corridor is a door leading to another office. In the latter room stood Policeman John Greer. Roche and Policeman Edgar Dudley, who resides at the hotel, and Joseph Altmeyer were stationed in other near by rooms.

Apparently disappointed at finding only $24, the robber walked into the manager's office and, discovering no loot there, opened the south door and moved across the hall to the room where Greer was waiting.

As the door to his room opened Greer shouted: "Put 'em up. I've got you."

Policeman Too Quick for Him.

The robber, startled but defiant, raised his pistol to shoot. Greer was too quick for him. He fired once and his bullet struck the bandit in the chest, ranging toward the heart. The robber slumped to the floor and the other policemen rushed into the room.

The wounded desperado was taken to the Bridewell hospital. As they carried him out the policemen saw a deserted automobile standing in front of the hotel and they were of the belief that the robber may have had companions who fled when they heard the shooting.

SPAIN BOUNCES ITS DICTATOR; RIOTS FOLLOW

De Rivera Out; His Foe Is Premier.

BULLETIN.

MADRID, Jan. 29 (Wednesday).—(AP)—Police battled crowds of students boisterously celebrating in the streets of the capital the resignation of Gen. Primo de Rivera, for six years premier and dictator.

Almost 200 were arrested and many were injured, several seriously. Clashes occurred in many parts of the city. One demonstration near the royal palace was dispersed when police fired over the students' heads.

Drawn sabers were used to force back the manifestations in some downtown streets. There were many fist fights between the officers and students, who shouted: "Viva Rey! Muera Primo!" and "Long live the king! Death to Primo!" Police quickly suppressed shouts of "Viva republica!" or "Long live the republic!"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Jan. 28. — Primo de Rivera, Spain's good natured but tenacious dictator, reluctantly stepped down from power tonight but six paces ahead of a bayonet.

To Gen. Damaso Berenguer, chief of King Alfonso's military household and Primo's own mortal enemy, he abandons the task of "purifying" Spanish public life, for which little job he said way back in September of 1923 that he would need just three months. He handed his resignation to the sovereign at 8:50 p. m.—by request—and Gen. Berenguer will take the job over in the morning. Gen. Berenguer announced later that the duke of Alba, one of Spain's most democratic nobles, had already accepted the post of minister of education.

To Appoint Civilian Cabinet.

After his appointment Gen. Berenguer announced that his new cabinet would be composed of civilians except for the portfolios of war and marine. He also said that he intended to reëstablish parliament by means of elections for senators and deputies and reëstablish the constitution of 1876, under which Spain had been governed before the dictatorship. These reforms would be preceded by a cabinet of transition, paving the way for the return of a constitutional government.

There was a bayonet behind Gen. de Rivera, all right. The unpleasant instrument was held, figuratively speaking, by the whole Spanish army, the political army that boosted him into power after he had retrieved Spain's fortunes after the Moroccan disasters of 1922. Like a sheet of lightning across a summer sky a revolt against Gen. de Rivera's authority was scheduled to break out in Spain this very night or tomorrow, it is learned, and this was the consideration that caused the cheery big dictator to make up his mind with such unaccustomed speed.

Spain's "Lindy" Aids Fall.

For weeks Gen. de Rivera has heard a rumbling from the barracks throughout the country. Last Sunday he made a last desperate appeal to the soldiers that were once his. It took the army less than 24 hours to show thumbs down.

Early this morning Ramon Franco, hero of the south Atlantic flight, dropped out of the skies in Cadiz. Writing one of the most dramatic chapters in Spain's colorful history, he had escaped surveillance in Madrid and flown south with orders from some high personage to Gen. Godet, commander of the garrison there, with orders to rise against the dictatorship at nightfall unless word to the contrary was received from Madrid. Similar orders went out to other centers.

Señor Franco's revenge on Gen. de Rivera was sweet. It was the dictator who had thrown him, a national hero, in jail because of the noisy criticisms he had uttered around cafés in Madrid against the slipshod directorate. It is said that Señor Franco got his orders not very far from the royal palace. Gen. Godet, to whom he took them, by Gen. de Rivera's admission is one of the most brilliant as well as one of the youngest generals in the top-heavy Spanish army. His commander is the infant Don Carlos, captain-general of Andalusia and brother-in-law of King Alfonso.

he went before the king prepared to resign "for reasons of health," but before he did this he played his last card. He threw down before the king for royal signature an order depriving Gen. Godet and Don Carlos of their commands, effective at once. The king refused to sign. Gen. de Rivera then resigned, bringing to an end a régime unique in dictatorial annals for its mildness. It had endured since September, 1923, and despite continual conspiracies, nurtured by Spain's ousted politicians and ambitious army officers, it never had to really fight for its existence.

After Gen. de Rivera, clad in civilian clothes, issued from the palace where he had just handed in his resignation, he made his formal adieu in the form of a short press communique:

"The king has charged Gen. Damaso Berenguer with the task of constituting a new government. The designation of Gen. Berenguer makes me happy because he is a man both calm and reserved. We will discuss the situation together tonight."

Later on from his headquarters in the ministry of war on Gran via in the heart of the city, where an immense crowd had gathered, Gen. de Rivera made another statement.

"The members of the government," he said, "taking into account my health and certain personal affairs of mine which obliged me to present to the king my irrevocable resignation, informed me that my resignation would mean theirs and asked me to present that of the entire government.

"The king accepted mine and the others. For all of us he had an affectionate word and spoke a little speech of praise."

Cancel Puppet Assembly.

It was immediately announced that the meeting of the national assembly, a hand picked travesty of constitutionalism which Gen. de Rivera devised as an ornament of his régime, which had been scheduled for tomorrow, was adjourned indefinitely.

Gen. Berenguer and his brother, who is likewise a general, one of the many hundreds in Spain's topheavy army, were with the king when the outgoing dictator arrived. Details of the meeting were not revealed.

The new premier, who is 55, was high commissioner in Morocco in 1921 and 1922, but was impeached by the senate for his conduct of the war against the Riffs. He was convicted but never served the six months' sentence passed on him. In 1926 King Alphonso appointed him chief of his household, which was taken to mean that a breach had occurred between the king and the dictator.

Gen. de Rivera did succeed in lancing the festering mess of Spanish political life. He likewise saved King Alfonso from answering the parliamentary commission inquiry into the Moroccan disaster.

Every few months the dictator announced that he was quitting, earning a crack from an American Negro bootblack in Puerto del Sol that he was "about the resigningest critter in these parts."

King and Primo Played Tag.

The resignation that came with such suddenness tonight was a victory for King Alfonso. In 1925 Gen. de Rivera was the king's salvation. He became a Frankenstein from which the monarch longed to rid himself. It is no secret that the Spanish artillery revolt in the fall of 1926 was engineered by the king himself. By the end of December, with the peseta falling, King Alfonso managed to maneuver his premier into a position where he handed in his resignation, but dared the king to accept it. This time, it appears, King Alfonso worked up prospects of trouble from which there was no escaping. Gen. Godet's troops were ready to move.

KILLS FATHER'S SLAYER AS HE LAY IN BARBER CHAIR

Temple, Okla., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Harry Adair, recently sentenced to forty years in the state penitentiary for the killing of J. D. Graham, former Temple City marshal, was shot to death by Graham's son, Jim, as he sat in a barber's chair here today.

Adair was in the chair, face covered with towels. When the towels were removed Adair found himself face to face with the son of the man he killed. Graham, without saying a word, pulled out a pistol and fired five times. Adair died instantly.

The elder Graham was slain last April in a pool hall after he ordered Adair, said to have been drunk, to leave the place. Adair complied, but returned a few minutes later with a shotgun. Without warning he shot and killed Graham.

Young Graham was held without bail.

12 EX-BANKERS SENTENCED FOR TAKING 3 MILLION

Prison Terms Are from 6 Months to 20 Years.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Judge James S. Parker in Circuit court today sentenced twelve former officials of the Union Industrial bank and cases against three others were nolle prossed.

The group of former officials were arrested following the discovery of a deficit of more than $3,000,000 in the funds of the bank after the stock market crash last October.

First to Be Sentenced.

John S. De Camp, former vice president, was convicted by a jury in six hours and 15 minutes, and was the first to be sentenced.

The sentences are as follows, with minimum recommended in each case:

De Camp, 10 to 20 years; Ivan P. Christensen, 7½ to 20 years; Elton D. Graham, 5 to 20 years; Milton S. Pollock, 5 to 20 years; Mark Kelly, 5 to 20 years; Russell A. Runyan, 5 to 20 years; Frank D. Montague, 3½ to 20 years; James W. Barron, 2 to 20 years; A. J. Schlosser, 1 to 20 years; Clifford A. Plumb, 6 months to 20 years; Robert H. D. McDonald, 6 months to 20 years; Robert P. Brown, 6 months to 20 years.

The judge's recommendation of the "minimum" sentence does not mean that is all the prisoner may serve. Under the Michigan law, when a prisoner is sentenced with the minimum recommended he may ask for a parole on expiration of the minimum sentence. It remains, however, within the jurisdiction of the parole board to hold him until the expiration of his maximum sentence.

Superior Takes Blame.

At the request of Charles D. Beagle, prosecuting attorney, charges against the other three were nolle prossed. Their former superior, Frank D. Montague, shouldered whatever blame they might have incurred while working under his direction. They are Farrell H. Thomson, Donald McGregor, and George Woodhouse.

The twelve men embezzled $3,693,996 and made restitution of $1,229,497, leaving the bank with a net loss of $2,464,499. Christensen, acting for himself and a pool, took $2,500,000.

As Judge Parker sentenced De Camp he denounced the entire group as guilty of a "betrayal of trust."

N. U. JOINS CHINA IN STUDIES OF LAND ECONOMICS

Research studies in land economics in China will be made possible through an affiliation between Northwestern university and University of Nanking, China, Richard T. Ely, director of Northwestern's Institute for Research in Land Economics, announced yesterday.

The arrangement provides that a staff member from the Northwestern institute will leave next month for China, where he will participate in the research in land utilization and population planned by the Nanking school's department of agriculture. It is the first contact of the land institute with a foreign country by establishment of a permanent outpost, Dr. Ely said.

NOMINATE GRIGGS FOR CONGRESS IN MASSACHUSETTS

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Former State Representative Frederick D. Griggs won the Republican nomination in the second congressional district special primary today, winning easily over his "dripping wet" opponent, Frank C. Hinckley.

In a Democratic primary, in which all three candidates were regarded as wet, Attorney William J. Granfield was nominated over John Hall and Attorney James H. Mulcare.

The Republican primary results were: Griggs, 12,713; Hinckley, 8,987. Mr. Griggs, personally dry, had pledged himself to vote for moderation, on the ground that the district's vote for prohibition repeal must be construed as a mandate. The wet forces, however, fought a vigorous battle against him, as did organized labor.

Elected Congressman.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 28.—(AP)—On the basis of unofficial returns, J. Roland Kinzer, Republican, Lancaster lawyer, was chosen today to succeed the late W. W. Griest as Lancaster county's representative in congress.

WIFE BARES FILM MAN'S DUAL LIFE IN $300,000 SUIT

Mrs. Hutchinson Says She Spied on Her Rival.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—How Mrs. Samuel S. Hutchinson of Chicago trapped her husband with Mrs. Edith Taylor after the wealthy Chicago film distributor had carried on a double life from 1912 to 1928 was related in Judge Arthur Keetch's court today.

Mrs. Hutchinson testified as her own witness in a $300,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Taylor. While she was on the stand, her husband twisted nervously in the chair where he waited to go to the witness box in behalf of Mrs. Taylor.

The latter, in deposition, admitted Mrs. Hutchinson's charges of living with the wealthy Chicagoan, but denied that she enticed Hutchinson or in any way alienated his affections.

Found Out After Daughter Born.

"It was seven years after the start of our relations that I learned that he was married," Mrs. Taylor asserted. "Then it was too late to do anything. We had a daughter, Jane."

The girl is now 18 years old.

Mrs. Hutchinson said "the first inkling" she had of what was going on was when she inadvertently opened a letter addressed to her husband. Inside was another letter addressed to "C. P. Taylor." Later, she found papers in his grip linking him to an "Edith P. Taylor."

"My suspicions being aroused," she testified, "I went with my daughter-in-law and found the address of Edith Taylor at a real estate office. One night subsequently my daughter-in-law and I visited her home and asked for Mr. Taylor."

Points Out Mrs. Taylor.

"Do you see that Mrs. Taylor in court?" Mrs. Hutchinson's attorney asked. The witness pointed to the defendant.

"This woman said Mr. Taylor would be in shortly," she continued. "So we sat in the car and waited and saw my husband go in that apartment. He remained two hours and went home on the street car. We got home in the automobile first and I asked him, 'Where have you been, Sam?' He said, 'At the club.'"

The wife said she waited outside the apartment nearly every night for a week and saw her husband go in.

When she asked him to explain, she said he answered, "I neither deny or admit anything."

Mrs. Hutchinson testified that she and her husband were married in Chicago in 1894, "when he was a bank teller making only $65 a month, but he saved enough money to buy out a drug business. Then he bought out his partner and went into partnership with my brother-in-law, A. D. Roebuck of the firm of Sears-Roebuck. He prospered and we moved to a $300,000 home in 1926. We had five servants. And then, after we had learned to enjoy that beautiful home, my husband told me there was no more money and now I live there alone with only an old furnace man to assist me."

This, she said, was after her husband bought a film distributing company in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles and moved to the coast.

PRESIDENT HAILS FURTHER GAINS IN EMPLOYMENT

Davis Reports Upward Trend Is Continuing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—A continued upward trend of employment was reported to President Hoover today by Secretary of Labor Davis.

Statistics submitted to the President at the Tuesday cabinet meeting showed an increase in employment of 3.3 per cent for the week ending Jan. 13 over the previous seven day period. The figures also disclosed that there are now only three or four industries on the list covered by the labor department surveys which have not shown gains since the first of the year.

"An Encouraging Sign."

Satisfaction over the improved labor situation was expressed by Mr. Hoover following the cabinet meeting.

"The increased upward trend in employment is current in practically every industry," the President said. "There are a few minor spots which did not show an increase in employment, but they are generally classified as small industries. The reports show that the increase was distributed over the entire industrial world. It is an encouraging sign."

The first encouraging reports on the unemployment situation were given out by the President about ten days ago. At that time a great many industries were still showing a minus sign on the employment situation.

Auto Industry Gain 3.5 Per Cent.

The labor reports for the week ending Jan. 13 showed that in the iron and steel industry employment increased 2.4 per cent. The increase in the automobile industry was 3.5 per cent and the increase in the automobile tire industry 1.8 per cent. Employment increases in the four western divisions ranged from 1.3 to 1.9 per cent. The five eastern divisions showed increases ranging from 3.3 per cent in the middle Atlantic division, to 4.2 per cent in the south Atlantic division.

The biggest increases came in the tobacco industry. Each of the general industries group shows an increase: Foods, 2.6 per cent; textiles, 5.4 per cent; leathers, 4.2 per cent; tobacco, 54.4 per cent; vehicles, 2.7 per cent, and paper printing, 0.1 per cent. Some of the key industries taken separately showed increases of 7.6 per cent for hardware, 4 per cent for hosiery, and 11.3 per cent for confectionery.

78 SLAIN, 17,000 JAILED IN COREAN RIOTS, IS REPORT

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Peong K. Yoon, pastor of the Corean church and institute here, today announced receipt of a cablegram from Seoul, Corea, reporting that 78 Coreans have been killed and 17,000 arrested to date in the student disorders in Corea.

The cablegram said the movement, aimed against the Japanese government, has been spreading.

The demonstrations began last November in a strike of about 400 students in protest against alleged racial discrimination by Japanese. The strikes spread and during December some 900 students were reported arrested, many of whom still are in prison.

COURT CASHIER GOES FREE OF THEFT CHARGE

Henry Huetman, 59 years old, 2741 North Marshfield avenue, cashier in the office of the clerk of the Probate court until he was caught stealing the funds of the county to pay off gambling debts, was allowed to walk from Judge William E. Helander's Felony court yesterday a free man. The judge allowed the entry of an order of "dismissed for want of prosecution" to be entered, although Huetman made no effort to deny his guilt, which he admitted when caught.

The fact that the money was repaid was the reason offered by the officials for the erasure of the case from the criminal records. Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast said he protested against the dismissal of charges against a public official under such circumstances, but that Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court, did not appear to prosecute.

Deputy Appears for Robin.

Chief Deputy Clerk Eugene Meaney appeared in place of Mr. Robin and said that the money, $6,178, had been returned. He said that the clerk's office did not care to prosecute.

"This is a flagrant case of public officials compromising the commission of a felony," said Attorney Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission. "No wonder thieves flourish in the community."

Mr. Robin, Huetman's superior, said that he was willing to let the case drop because restitution was made and the defendant has three children and some grandchildren.

Uses Money to Pay Race Debts.

Huetman at the time he was caught said he used the money to pay off his horse racing losses. He had been cashier since May, 1928.

Frank Culliton, 32 years old, 240 Lavergne avenue, who embezzled $105,000 from the Madison and Kedzie State bank, was not so lucky when he was arraigned before Judge Phillip Finnegan in the Criminal court. He entered a plea of guilty and asked for probation with a promise of attempted restitution. Assistant State's Attorney John Leonard Murphy opposed the motion and the judge imposed sentence of 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary.

HOMES TENANTED BY DEAD, FLOOD FLYERS BELIEVE

Fate of Hundreds in Doubt in Indiana.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Uncertainty as to the fate of hundreds of Posey county residents isolated by southwestern Indiana flood waters held the attention of relief workers today.

National Guard aviators, flying low over many houses, found no evidence of life where just a day or two before they were greeted by hand waving. They believe that recession of the swollen streams will reveal dead bodies in the homes. Chimneys from which smoke had been seen rising gave no evidence of life today.

Hopes of Others Strong.

Other relief workers, however, are more optimistic. They believe that the circling planes no longer thrill the unfortunates and that the householders do not bother to rush outside to greet them.

The aviators flew over the territory between Evansville and Vincennes and Evansville, and Shawneetown, Ill.

A report by Lieut. D. D. Watson that he had seen from ten to fifteen women in the upper story of a house about 15 miles below Mount Vernon, where it would have been impossible to obtain food and fuel supplies, is being investigated. Relief workers hope to reach the place.

Two Families in Submerged House.

Reports from Mount Vernon express fear for the safety of two families reported to have sought refuge in a home near there. The house, according to the report, has been submerged since the families entered it.

The ice jam at the mouth of the Little Wabash river showed little signs of improving today. In many places the water in the territory behind the jam is said to be at its highest point now.

Evansville authorities today planned an attempt to rescue approximately thirty people marooned on Cut Off island, opposite New Harmony. Seven children and two women are among those on the island.

TWO HELD AFTER STORE FIRE.

Aaron Adler, 50 years old, and his son, Harry, 23 years old, were held by Fillmore police last night following a fire which caused $2,000 damage in their clothing store at 3621 Roosevelt road Monday night.

CHIEF OF CZARIST EXILES MISSING; FEAR RED PLOT

300 French Police Try to Solve Mystery.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Acting under orders telephoned from London tonight by Premier Tardieu, the Surete Generale, France's Scotland Yard, threw its detectives into a nationwide search for Gen. Alexander Koutepoff, chief of the Russian counter revolutionary army and successor to Grand Duke Nicholas as leader of czardom's exiles in Paris.

Police are acting on the theory that Gen. Koutepoff, who disappeared Sunday morning on his way to church, was kidnaped by cheka agents in Paris, who either murdered or drugged him with the intention of spiriting him out of the country to Russia to stand trial.

2,000 Followers Riot.

Tonight, in front of Gen. Koutepoff's modest flat on a side street in that somber Parisian quarter where embassies and government departments are housed in eighteenth century palaces, 2,000 men and women milled about, calling for vengeance against the Reds. They were taxi drivers, day laborers, cabaret entertainers, and what not, all exiles who idolized Gen. Koutepoff.

When Grand Duke Nicholas died, as leadership at the head of 50,000 former czarist officers fell to Gen. Koutepoff. He also became the director of that secret White Russian terrorist society said to have been responsible for bombings in Russia.

Every port of France is being watched and all roads across each frontier are under surveillance. Two ships flying the Red flag are lying in the harbor at Havre. Each piece of cargo that is put aboard is inspected. It is thought possible that Gen. Koutepoff's captors might have chloroformed him and put him in a packing case in hopes of getting him to Moscow alive.

French Press Incensed.

The French press is wild with indignation over what is called an affront to the country's dignity.

Gen. Koutepoff's friends declare he had expected the cheka would try to get him, ever since two months ago, when he learned that five ace secret service agents arrived in Paris on some mysterious errand. First the car across the street from his house changed hands. A Russian bought it. Then the garage a few steps down the street sold out to another Russian.

Spies watched from the windows of these places. One day the general heard a camera click. Gen. Koutepoff never went out alone and never stepped into a taxi unless he got a sign from the driver, indicating he was a White Russian, who are numerous in Paris.

But Sunday he went out alone and disappeared. The soviet embassy denies any knowledge of the affair, but is being closely watched.

BUSCH INQUIRY IS POSTPONED A DAY BY SWANSON

State's Attorney John Swanson took no action yesterday in the case of Henry J. Busch, his assistant, whose name was linked up in tapped telephone wire conversations with Thomas Abbott, alleged leader of a north side robber gang. The prosecutor said he was unable to bring about a conference between himself, First Assistant John E. Northup and Chief Investigator Pat Roche, Busch's accuser, and for that reason he would have to let the matter go over until today.

Busch was at the state's attorney's office throughout the day and for a time was in conference with Swanson and Richard Prendergast, Deneen committeeman of the Forty-second ward. The latter is Busch's political sponsor and he vouched for Busch's integrity.

10,000 FOLLOW CASKET OF RED SLAIN BY POLICE

March for 3 Miles Over N. Y. Streets.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Ten thousand persons marched over three miles of wet, sloppy pavements today to honor the memory of an obscure dead man.

Steve Katovis' only claim to fame was that he was shot down in a clash between police and striking market workers in the Bronx, but today his body, in a red draped casket, and flanked by an escort of motorcycle police, led a procession twenty blocks long.

Persons in that cortege were communists and communist sympathizers, who idealized Katovis as a martyr.

Banner Decries Killing.

They were orderly enough, though some 400 policemen had been placed in readiness in the event of trouble. Occasionally there would be a banner decrying Katovis' "murder" or condemning imperialism, and now and then the marchers would sing.

"The union makes us strong!" they would shout and raise their clenched right fists. Police who rode alongside and the throngs that watched from the sidewalks and the windows of office buildings looked on placidly.

The procession was to have gone through the garment district, but the police refused to allow it, and also put their feet down on a big demonstration planned in Union square, opposite communist party headquarters. Katovis' casket was to have been hoisted up on a platform from which speakers would address the crowd.

Few Give Short Talks.

But the demonstration simmered down to short talks. The crowd sang the "Internationale" and waited for the casket to be brought out of communist headquarters, where it had lain in state for four days.

The red covered casket was placed in a hearse. Color bearers carrying both the Stars and Stripes and a red flag—which proved to be only a union flag and not a communist banner—took their place in front of the band. Then came the hearse and the marchers fell in behind.

PARENTS PART MARRIED COUPLE HELD AS ELOPERS

Larry Mouatt, 19 years old, 616 Lake street, Wilmette, and his 17 year old wife, the former Miss Frances Bell, 1218 Wilmette avenue, Wilmette, who vowed yesterday morning that "dynamite couldn't separate them," were at the homes of their respective parents last night, apparently reconciled to annulment of their marriage after 48 hours together.

They were wed last Aug. 28 in St. Francis Xavier church, Wilmette, and immediately were separated when their parents instituted annulment proceedings. Mouatt left for Central America and, on his return last Saturday night, persuaded his bride to accompany him to Iowa for remarriage. They were accompanied by the girl's friend, Miss Harriet Nelson, 717 Monroe street, Evanston, a circumstance which gave rise to rumors of a double elopement involving Miss Nelson and Joseph Montfort, 127 17th street, Wilmette, whose car they used.

At Elgin the couple decided another marriage was unnecessary and returned to Evanston.

Chinese Laundrymen Get Fines for Ignoring Signs

Five Chinese laundrymen of Evanston were fined $10 each yesterday by Justice of the Peace Samuel Harrison in Evanston court on complaint of Health Commissioner Richard Lindsey that they ignored posted warnings against sprinkling clothes by blowing water from the mouth. The culprits, Hung Moy and Moy Sing of 910 Foster street and Ching Yung, Yung Sam, and Chin Sen, all of 703 Washington street, offered an identical defense. They declared the printed warnings, written by a Chinese student at Northwestern university, were in a dialect incomprehensible to them.

Return from Theater to Find Home Razed by Fire

When Archie W. Wallen and his wife returned to their home, 834 Glencoe avenue, Highland Park, from a theater last night, they found their home in ruins. Fire, believed to have been started by crossed wires, caused $10,000 damage to the home, a two story frame structure. Wallen is in the real estate business, with an office at 6712 North Clark street, Chicago.

'CRUELTY DIARY' DIVORCE CASE WON BY WIFE

Granted Decree in Three Year Court Battle.

Mrs. Cora E. Winkler, 1014 Elmwood avenue, yesterday won a divorce from her husband, George F. Winkler, wealthy plumbing contractor, before Superior Judge Lewis. The decree ends a barrage of cruelty charges hurled by the principals in bills, cross-bills and stipulations for almost three years. Winkler listed 35 specific instances in his series of actions against a dozen advanced by his wife.

The Winklers were married in 1894. He is 57 years old and she is 60. He brought suit for divorce on April 20, 1927, alleging numerous acts of cruelty in a marital war diary, which was held to be only a slight intimation of actual conditions of their married life. The diary listed the acts charged by month and date, and was expanded in subsequent legal actions.

Kept Him Awake, Claim.

Among the unusual acts charged by Winkler were: rocking a heavy rocker on the floor above his bedroom to keep him awake, taking doors off their hinges so that they would fall on him when he attempted to open them, putting a pet dog in his bed, and breaking a bathroom door to deprive him of privacy. He also charged that his wife and daughter, Mrs. Fredda E. Davidson, had taken $110,000 in stocks and bonds from a joint safety deposit box.

Mrs. Winkler filed a cross-bill for separate maintenance charging cruelty and infidelity. She declared that her husband delighted in breaking her eyeglasses. Her attorney, George L. Schein, brought a four inch square box of broken lenses to court to offer as evidence. She further charged that her husband had thrown her down a flight of steps and through the glass in the door of their car.

Judge Asks Agreement.

When the case came before him, Judge Lewis asked that the couple reach an agreement without going through a protracted trial. Attorney Joseph Z. Wilner offered to allow Mrs. Winkler to win a decree if she would drop the charge of infidelity in her separate maintenance suit and sue for divorce on charges of cruelty. When she complied she won the decree by testifying to only three of her charges.

They were unable to agree on alimony. Mrs. Winkler declared that she had financed her husband's business by giving him the proceeds from the sale of a millinery business which she had conducted before their marriage. She demanded $1,000 a month. Winkler asked for the return of the bonds and stock. The judge referred the dispute to a master in chancery.

DUDLEY MALONE TOWEDBROOKLYN GIRL IN LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Dudley Field Malone, international lawyer, who has secured Paris divorces for scores of Americans, will be quietly married in London tomorrow. The bride-to-be is Miss Edna Louise Johnson, 24, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Malone is 50.

The couple have known each other three years, being introduced by W. J. Locke, the novelist, in Paris, where Miss Johnson is studying music. They have been engaged about three months.

Mr. Malone was divorced from his second wife, Doris Stevens, noted American feminist leader, in Paris last October on a charge of abandonment. The newlyweds will spend their honeymoon on the continent.

Firemen Rescue Family in Flat Building Blaze

Five colored families were routed from a three story brick apartment building at 550 Browning avenue last night by a fire which swept from the basement to the roof, causing an estimated $25,000 damage. Lieut James Purcell and his men of insurance patrol No. 4 carried out Rudolph Poole, his wife, Bertha, and their daughter, Margaret, 4 years old, who were trapped above a burning third floor staircase.

TWO WOMEN DIE AFTER FALLS.

Two women died yesterday in the County hospital of complications resulting from injuries suffered in falls at their homes. They are Mrs. Catherine Albrecht, 74 years old, 1704 Newberry avenue, and Mrs. Delia Byrne, 60 years old, 735 West 48th street.

BOMB DAMAGES AUTO LOAN SHOP ON MICHIGAN AVE.

Mysterious Blast Causes Excitement in Loop.

Three explosions, at least two of which were reported to have been caused by bombs, shook three sections of the city last night.

Guests of the New Southern hotel, 13th street and Michigan avenue, were startled when a bomb was discharged in the rear doorway of the Lewis E. Bower auto salesroom, 1240 South Michigan avenue, a few doors north of the hotel. The bomb tore away the doorway and damaged an automobile parked near by. The loss was estimated at $1,000.

Myron E. Griffey, the manager of the salesroom, with Oscar Gardner, a colored attendant, was in the front office at the time. He told the police that the concern does an auto loan business and may have incurred the enmity of some customer, but could offer no other explanation for the bomb.

Mysterious Blast in Loop.

A detonation, which the police attributed to bombers or safe blowers, alarmed scores of persons in the vicinity of Madison and Wells streets shortly before the south side blast.

Six watchmen, off duty in the offices of the Central Watch service, 19 South Wells street, were positive the blast occurred in an alley which the office faces. A detail of police from the first district found no trace of a bomb in the alley nor in the six story building, which they searched.

Gino Amerdo, chef in Piccolo's restaurant, 183 West Madison street, and a dozen patrons of the restaurant were certain the blast occurred close to the restaurant, averring they had smelled burning powder.

Explosion at Paper Factory.

A blast blew out windows of the Central Paper company, 2445-55 Elston avenue, just before midnight. The watchman, William Goodman, and Shakespeare avenue police agreed that the place had been bombed and a search was started for the owners of the plant to learn the cause.

POLICE CAPTURE GANG OF 8 IN RAID ON FLAT; 2 CONFESS HOLDUPS

A band of eight alleged holdup men were arrested without a struggle when a police squad under Sergt. Tim Foley raided a flat at 3546 South Wood street last night. Five guns and several boxes of ammunition were found in the flat. No loot was discovered. After several hours of questioning two of the gang confessed to five street and taxicab holdups.

Those arrested are Stanley Zmikly, 25 years old, 3546 South Wood street, said to be the leader of the gang; Chester Macknikowski, 19 years old, 2731 36th street; Ben Chonski, 20, of 4410 South Honore street; William Miller, 20, of 4732 Winchester avenue; Peter Lesco, 18, of 4423 South Wood street; Ray Schrader, 19, of 3821 South California avenue; Marion Ruzanski, 18, of 4613 South Honore street, and Conrad Wisz, 19, of 2438 48th street.

SENATOR NEAR FISTICUFFS WITH LOBBY WITNESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], whose clashes with witnesses have featured many hectic sessions of the senate's lobby investigating committee, narrowly missed a fist fight today when he accused Arthur L. Faubel, secretary of the American Tariff league, of uttering "a perfectly outrageous falsehood."

The squabble, throwing the whole hearing room into confusion, was precipitated when Faubel, seeking to justify the league's employment of attachés of congressional tariff committees as contributors to the organization's publication, "The Tariff Review," declared he could see no difference "between that and Senator Caraway making a speech before the Importers' council in New York, for which he received $300."

Fails to Name Informant.

"What's that?" shouted Caraway, leaping to his feet and pounding the table with his doubled fist. "Whoever told you that?"

"Well, I was told that, all right," asserted Faubel, "and I can get the man——"

"Any one who told you that told you a lie," interrupted Caraway, purple with anger.

"I take exception——" began Faubel, equally aroused.

"It's a perfectly outrageous falsehood," declared Caraway.

"I take exception!" Faubel shouted again.

"Well," shouted Senator T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], jumping up from his chair and elbowing Caraway to one side, "you richly deserve the rebuke administered by the chairman! You have no business, testifying under oath, to retail such statements."

Walsh Takes Up Inquiry.

Faubel made no reply, and the spectators, who had pressed forward expecting to see fisticuffs, returned to their seats as Walsh took over the examination of the witness, who last week astonished the senators by advocating the replacement of the senate by a body, similar to the British house of lords, with limited veto powers over house action.

"You see no impropriety, then," asked Walsh when order was restored, "in employing E. N. Dingley, tariff expert for the senate finance committee, and Clayton Moore, clerk of the house ways and means committee, to write articles for your paper?"

"I do not," responded Faubel, emphatically. "May I ask you, senator, if there is any?"

"You may ask my personal opinion," said Walsh. "I think it is highly improper, and I don't believe there would be the slightest doubt about it in the mind of any one who has any regard for the integrity of the public service."

After the hearing Faubel produced a pamphlet, issued by Thomas Brady's speakers' bureau, 236 West 44th street, New York City, listing Caraway with eighteen other members of the house or senate, who, the pamphlet said, could be secured through the booking agencies to make speeches for fees.

Among those named in the pamphlet were Senators H. F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], G. H. Moses [Rep., N. H.], W. H. King [Dem., Utah], J. E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], H. J. Allen [Rep., Kas.], A. W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.], Simeon Fess [Rep., O.], Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], W. F. George [Dem., Ga.], G. P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.], B. K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], W. L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], Sam G. Bratton [Dem., N. M.], and Representatives J. M. Beck [Rep., Pa.], F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], Mary T. Norton [Dem., N. J.], and F. S. Purnell [Rep., Ind.].

Two Bookings for Caraway.

Inquiry at the bureau's headquarters resulted in the information, Faubel asserted, that Caraway's fee was $300 a speech, and Caraway himself admitted later that he had accepted at least two bookings from the agency. The Arkansas senator denied, however, that either of the speeches had been made before the Importers council, a low tariff group, or before any organization interested in legislation pending before congress.

Following the conclusion of Faubel's testimony, Walsh made a statement, apparently for the purpose of explaining the decision of the radical Republican-Democratic majority of the committee in regard to the German dye charges of F. P. Garvan, former alien property custodian. These charges linked Senator Moses with the German dye cartel in 1922 against higher chemical tariffs, and intimated that Herman Metz, American agent of the German interests, had also contributed to Senator King's campaign fund in Utah. Metz, it has been testified by King's former secretary, gave $1,000 in cash to the senator in 1922 and a check for $1,000 in 1928. But the lobby committee was apparently disposed to ignore Garvan's charges. Today, however, it was announced that Walsh, with Caraway and Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], had reconsidered that decision and had ordered Metz summoned to appear before the committee tomorrow morning.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS NOT 'BUILDING' ROAD, STATE OFFICIAL SAYS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—A. L. Bowen of the department of public welfare, today issued a statement explaining employment of patients from the Anna state hospital on a road at Makanda, Jackson county, leading to Giant City park.

Denying they were "constructing" the road, he said they were used merely to distribute crushed rock.

Hal W. Trovillion, of Herrin, editor and former member of the Illinois commerce commission, had advised John H. Walker, of the Illinois Federation of Labor, that the patients were "building" the road.

"This park is a state preserve, access to which has lacked roads," said Mr. Bowen. "Crushed rock having been contributed, the director of the state department authorized employment of Anna patients to haul and unload this stone along the route."

$176,903 FINES COLLECTED OF 2 RICH SMUGGLERS

Mrs. F. V. Storrs, L. A. Schwabacher Pay Up.

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Collection of two large fines, totaling $176,903.29, for smuggling was announced at the custom house today.

The larger check came from Mrs. Frank V. Storrs, social registerite and wife of a New York capitalist and real estate operator, and the second from Louis A. Schwabacher, a San Francisco financier. Both cases have been hanging fire since last October.

Limitations Statute Cited in Vain.

On Oct. 4 Mrs. Storrs and her debutante daughters, Carolyn and Anna, arrived on the Berengaria of the Cunard line. Inspectors, said to be acting on information received in advance, searched the baggage of the trio thoroughly, and discovered wearing apparel and jewelry which did not appear on their declarations. The property was seized and impounded pending an investigation.

Counsel for Mrs. Storrs asserted that the new ornaments had been duly declared, but that used jewelry had not been put on the declaration because, having been in the country prior to the trip abroad, it was not dutiable. It was contended further that the statute of limitations applied to such jewelry. Customs officials refused to entertain such a defense, asserting that they had no record of buty having been paid.

$18,000 Necklace Involved.

Mr. Schwabacher arrived on Oct. 22 on the Bremen, accompanied by his wife and her maid, and inspectors found that a quantity of clothing and jewelry purchased abroad had not been entered on the declaration. Among these things was a necklace valued at $18,000. Since that time there have been several hearings. The receipt of the check today closed the case.

In both instances the amounts paid constituted the foreign value, valuation, the duty, and a 100 per cent penalty.

FARMERS TASTE BITTER DEFEAT ON CASTOR OIL

Senate Refuses to Increase Tariff.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Agricultural interests met defeat today in an attempt to obtain senate approval of increased duties on a long list of vegetable and fish oils. In only one instance was a higher duty approved, the rate of linseed oil being advanced to 4½ cents per pound from 3.7 cents.

The test vote on which the agricultural senators met defeat was on an amendment by Senator John Thomas [Rep., Idaho] to increase duties on castor oil, hempseed oil, rapeseed oil and other oils and to shift palm, perilla and sweet almond oil from the free list and to apply a minimum duty of 45 per cent to all of them. This was rejected by a vote of 26 to 49.

In the increase in duty on linseed oil, made at the instnce of Senator L. F. Frazier [Rep., N. D.], the rate approved represented a higher duty than was proposed in the house bill, which fixed it at 4.16 cents per pound.

The Philippine situation was a factor in the defeat of the proposal for an increase in duties. It was conceded that so long as no duty is applicable to Philippine coconut oil, the effect of duties on that and other oils which are interchangeable in use, is nullified.

3 Women and Child Killed When Train Strikes Auto

Eulaton, Ala., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Three women and a child were killed here tonight when an automobile occupied by them was struck by a Southern freight train.

BOY, 6, ON SLED KILLED AS AUTOS CRASH AT CORNER

A collision of two autos resulted in the death of a six year old boy who was sitting upon his sled near the curb last night. The boy was George Kelder, 6116 Nettleton avenue, and the accident occurred at Raven street and Northwest highway.

An auto driven by Roy Stahl, 25 years old, 6819 Olmsted avenue, collided at the intersection with another machine driven by Sverre Guttormsen, 27 years old, 1641 North Melvina street. Stahl's car skidded after the crash and struck the boy whose sled was in the street near the curb. The child died at the Belmont hospital an hour later. Both drivers were held pending the inquest.

This death and one other yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 47. The other victim was:

Anthony Winchester, 31 years old, 4160 Ellis avenue, a taxi driver. Died in the Chicago Memorial hospital of injuries received on Jan. 18 when the cab in which he was riding with three other employés was struck by a truck at 39th and State streets.

Conrad Woefel, 1326 Roscoe street, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter for the second time within the month yesterday by a coroner's jury. He was held yesterday for the death of Mrs. Katherine Hodson, 5310 North Paulina street, who was fatally injured by his auto when she alighted from a street car at Highland avenue and North Clark street on Jan. 2. Mrs. Hodson died on Jan. 17. Woefel was also held for the death of Mrs. Lottie Gustafson, Republican women's leader in the 50th ward, who was instantly killed in the same accident. Both women were on their way to an undertaking parlor where the body of County Commissioner John W. Gibson lay in state.

Two Bullets End Romance; One Is for Him, One for Her

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Della [Dot] Lee, 35 year old manicurist, put an end to her love affair with Howard W. Moore, 28 year old mechanical engineer, with two bullets as Moore lay asleep today. The first shot killed Moore, the second killed Mrs. Lee. Moore was married.

PROF. MICHELSON TO REPEAT LIGHT TEST IN APRIL

Noted Scientist Regaining Health in Bermuda.

From Bermuda, where he is recuperating from a serious illness, word comes to the University of Chicago that Prof. Albert A. Michelson expects to be able to set forth for Pasadena, Cal., the latter part of April, to repeat his world famous experiment on the speed of light. And from California, where Fred Pearson, his assistant for nearly a score of years, has been supervising the erection of the mammoth apparatus that will be utilized, comes word that the job is almost complete.

It is nearly three years since Prof. Michelson, one of the world's greatest physicists, flashed a beam of light from the top of Mount Wilson to the top of Mount Old Baldy, forty miles away, and measured its speed with the delicate and accurate instruments he has perfected. At that time he was able to assure the scientific world that the beam traveled at the rate of 186,284 miles per second. For the sake of the greatest possible accuracy, he now proposes to repeat the experiment in a vacuum tube one mile long, to determine whether any variation might have been caused by atmospheric conditions in the original successful experiment.

Seeks Greatest Possible Accuracy.

It is emphasized by his associates at the university that the possibility of error in the measurements is less than one-half mile per second, yet Prof. Michelson is undertaking the second experiment "because he's that kind of a worker" and means to secure the greatest possible accuracy on which to base further scientific work.

For his experiments in May and June, an iron pipe one mile in length and three feet in diameter has been laid on a ranch near Santa Ana, Cal., found suitable for the purpose. It has been made airtight. When the equipment is ready, the air will be pumped out of the pipe, and a beam of light will be sent through the pipe, reflected back and forth five times by a series of revolving mirrors placed at either end. By checking the length of time it takes one beam to travel five times the length of the tube the exact speed at which light travels will be determined.

Assured Help of School.

Prof. Michelson will return to his own laboratory at the University of Chicago, where he is a professor emeritus, for the summer. Henry Gordon Gale, dean of the graduate school of science on the Midway, has recently advised the physicist that not only anything but everything he may want in the way of equipment for experiments is his for the asking, and that his laboratory is maintained just as he left it, and will be during his lifetime.

This summer Prof. Michelson will resume in this laboratory his experiments in the making of diffraction gradings, with the ruling engine he perfected. This apparatus is capable of drawing from 10,000 to 30,000 exactly parallel lines on one inch of metal. It is used to measure the light refractions from copper and other substances, such an infinitesimal accuracy having been achieved that it is now possible to determine the composition of a star by the light refractions from it as measured on the ruling engine.

GARAGE ORDINANCE HELD VALID.

Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend yesterday denied an injunction, sought by public garage owners, to restrain the city from enforcing the garage licensing ordinance. The ordinance exacts a minimum license fee of $25 from operators of public garages and makes it unlawful to conduct a public garage without a license. The city receives $200,000 annually from this fee.

THE TRIBUNE CONTEST OF INTERESTING LETTERS

Every morning The Tribune prints a photograph of the stamp and postmark and the name and address of the recipient of a letter from an interesting or little known place, with a map showing its origin and a brief word of description.

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune. The sender of every envelope which is reproduced will be paid one dollar.

From Southern Spain

Letter received by Paul Smith, 5744 Rokeby street, Chicago.

This letter comes from La Linea de la Concepcion in the extreme south of Spain, the first town to be passed when motoring into King Alfonso's realm from Gibraltar. "The Rock" is separated from Spain by a neutral strip, which a majority of the workmen from the town pass on their way to work in the British dockyard of the great Mediterranean fortress. La Linea has a population of about 75,000 and is one of the leading towns of the province of Cadiz.

La Linea is the headquarters of the Spanish commandant of the lines of Gibraltar. The fortifications erected here in the sixteenth century were dismantled by the British in 1810 to prevent the landing of French invaders and all the existing buildings are modern.

CERMAK'S FINAL WORD ON COUNTY RACE DUE TODAY

Lundin Names Appear on Deneen Slate.

BY PARKE BROWN.

As chairman of the Democratic county managing committee, A. J. Cermak said yesterday that the question of the regular organization's candidate for the presidency of the county board will be settled today.

As Cermak now holds that office and has announced that he does not wish to run again and has made futile attempts to persuade others to run for it, his statement is considered as the equivalent of an announcement that he will give his own final decision in answer to persistent efforts to persuade him to seek renomination.

Some Changes Made.

Some analysts went even further and predicted that because of his failure to find another acceptable candidate Cermak will be forced to overcome his own desires and to run again.

This was the situation when, after several more hours of conferring, the announcement was made that there had been no real additions to the slate but that a few changes had been agreed upon. Ald. John Toman declined to run for one of the two openings on the board of assessors and that place was left open. Decisive action in the chief justiceship of the Municipal court, for which Judge Frank M. Padden had been considered, was postponed and that question also was left open.

One change was made in the slate for the sanitary district. As it now stands that part of the ticket includes four aldermen—Thomas Byrne, D. J. Horan, Thomas J. Bowler and Sheldon W. Govier, the fifth candidate being Attorney Walter J. La Buy.

Deneen Announces Slate.

The balance of the Deneen county slate, except for one entry for county commissioner from the country towns, was made public during the day and was found to include the names of a number of business men well known in their own localities and entirely new to politics. Another outstanding fact that attracted comment was the appearance of the names of more Lundin candidates on the Deneen list.

The list made public follows:

County judge—Municipal Judge William A. Helander, 7944 Lahgley avenue; marine corps veteran, wounded and gassed in the Verdun offensive.

County clerk—Peter I. Bukowski, Boulevard State bank, 3621 Irving Park boulevard; served with the A. E. F. in Russia; ran third for state treasurer in 1924.

Superintendent of schools—George A. Schwebel, 1914 South Austin boulevard; superintendent of Cicero public schools.

The four country town candidates for the county board announced were Commissioner William Busse, who declined to run for sheriff; Commissioner Frank J. Kriz, a brother-in-law of President Klenha of Cicero; George A. Miller of Oak Park, a former commissioner, defeated in 1916, and George H. Gibson, former mayor of Harvey.

Name Oak Park Resident.

J. Leonard Undem, a coffee merchant, was announced by the People's Republican organization as a candidate for the board of review. He is a resident of Oak Park.

During a meeting of the Cook county branch of the Illinois Woman's Democratic club at the Hotel Sherman there were protests that the party slatemakers had listed for the county board women those present considered Republicans. Direct reference was made to Miss Emily Napieralski by Miss Mary McEnerney.

GEN. SANDINO, REBEL CHIEF, HINTS OF NEW WAR IN NICARAGUA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28.—Gen. Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan revolutionary leader, with six staff officers, arrived here early today from Vera Cruz after an airplane flight from Merida, Yucatan, yesterday. There was no one at the station to meet him.

"Only death will prevent me from returning to Nicaragua and continuing the work I have been doing for my country," said Gen. Sandino, indicating he planned to carry on his revolutionary campaign.

All Nicaraguan revolutionary and radical elements hastened to visit him at the house of the so-called Nicaraguan consul, Dr. Pedro Zepeda, who, three weeks ago announced that Gen. Sandino was preparing an invasion of Nicaragua. While Gen. Sandino will not be molsted here, police are watching his movements closely.

JUDGE REBUKES PROSECUTOR AS O'BRIEN IS FREED

"Effort to Mislead Jury" Is Criticized.

CRIMINAL COURT.

John Berkowitz, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Joseph Doran, Michael Avalos, and Salvatore Ramiers, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Frank Culliton, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Charles Juska and Edward Druktenis, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

The trial of James N. [High Pockets] O'Brien, one time head of the alleged $1,000,000 slot machine syndicate, finally came to an end yesterday, with the jury bringing in a not guilty verdict within 10 minutes. The trial, which has been going on for one week, even though the prosecutors admitted having no legal evidence, was finally brought to an end when Judge John P. McGoorty addressed a rebuke to Assistant State's Attorneys Henry Ayers and Granville Beardsley.

JAMES N. O'BRIEN.

O'Brien, who fled to Europe when the slot machine investigation was opened more than one year ago, was charged with the bribery of Frank J. Beran, police custodian. The prosecution's case, however, collapsed last week when David C. Rockola, "crown prince" of the former syndicate, refused to testify and for the second time was sentenced to six months in jail for contempt of court. The same situation occurred last fall in the trial of Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson political leader, and six police captains, when Rockola first refused to testify.

Judge Rebukes Prosecutors.

The prosecutors for several days have kept a jury locked up while they went through the motions of a regular trial, even though they had admitted having no legal evidence and the judge had announced he could not sustain a guilty verdict if one were returned. The rebuke came when the prosecutors in their final arguments asked the jury for a guilty verdict.

"I cannot understand how the state's attorney can ask for a guilty verdict," said the judge. "He knows that such a verdict must be set aside. When you stand before this jury and ask for a guilty verdict it is inconsistent with what you know the law to be. I do not approve of your attitude."

Orders Case Concluded.

"Because you believe O'Brien guilty you have no right to tell your belief to the jury; you must prove his guilt. The state's attorney has no right to wilfully mislead a jury."

"But I still believe O'Brien is guilty and that if a guilty verdict is returned and a new trial granted I believe we could get a conviction at another trial which would be sustained," said Prosecutor Beardsley.

"That is monstrous doctrine and savors of contempt of law," said the judge, as he ordered the case concluded.

BABY SMOTHERED IN CRIB.

Lawrence, the 2 month old son of Eugene Pepin, 342 North St. Louis avenue, was smothered in his crib Monday night and was found dead yesterday morning by his mother.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ACTS TO ABOLISH RUM WAREHOUSES

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—All liquor warehouses in British Columbia will be abolished June 11, under legislation which will be introduced by the provincial government at the present session of the legislature, Premier S. F. Tomie announced today.

The action was decided upon by the provincial cabinet after the federal government had canceled the customs bonds of British Columbia warehouses, effective June 11.

The abolition of export houses, together with further amendments to the liquor act, which will also be introduced shortly, will do much to improve the government's control over the handling of liquor, Premier Tolmie declared.

OFFICIALS DENY TUNNEL CAUSED BUILDING SAG

City officials yesterday inspected the 999 Lake Shore drive building, the owners of which have filed a $1,000,000 damage suit against the city in the Circuit court, claiming that leakage from a water tunnel is causing the building to sag. After the inspection tour the officials called the claim absurd.

"We advised the builders at the time the plans were being drawn how to erect the structure," City Engineer Loran D. Gayton said. "Precautions were taken to insure against damage."

LOST MOTHER ALIVE TO CLAIM SON'S $100,000

Princeton, Ky., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Word that his mother, from whom he had been separated since infancy, is still living was received here today by relatives of R. E. Butler, merchant, who died last week, aged 64, leaving an estate valued at $100,000 and with no direct heirs and no will.

Butler's father and mother were separated when he was a baby. Both remarried.

Two half sisters were thought to be R. E. Butler's only heirs until word came today that his mother, now Mrs. Frank Hill, is living at the age of 85 at Doctors Inlet, Fla.

MITCHELL SETS WETS AND DRYS ROARING AGAIN

Wickersham Crashes Beer Proposal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Attorney General W. D. Mitchell's decree that district attorneys, marshals, agents and other department of justice subordinates henceforth must be teetotalers and dry law sympathizers evoked a new tumult in congress today.

A similar rumor apparently founded on Mitchell's order created some excitement while it lived. It was that President Hoover, through the state department, had ordered American diplomats all over the world "on the wagon" forthwith. The report was instantly and emphatically denied both at the state department and the White House.

Meanwhile, Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] renewed his attack on the department of justice with a statement intimating that sleuths were shadowing his office. This was promptly denied by Mr. Mitchell.

Throws Cold Water on Beer.

The recent proposal of Representative L. C. Dyer of Missouri, spokesman for the St. Louis brewery interests, that the Wickersham commission study the feasibility of a 3 per cent beer amendment to the Volstead act met no glad reception from Chairman Wickersham today. In a letter to Dyer, Wickersham pointed out that the Supreme court had held that congress alone had the power to fix the alcohol percentage which makes a beverage intoxicating in fact" and gave no hope for a favorable recommendation from his commission. His letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Dyer:

"I have your favor of the 25th, instant. You may remember that in one of the cases which went to the Supreme court of the United States, a very large amount of evidence was adduced by the plaintiffs, who were represented by ex-Senator Root and William D. Guthrie of the New York bar, to show that no beverage could be intoxicating that had less than 2.75 per cent of alcohol.

Held Congress' Affair.

"The Supreme court, however, held that that was purely a legislative question. They could not say that one-half of one per cent was so grossly inadequate that a court could hold that the legislature might not, in the exercise of its discretion, fix it as the maximum amount which it was safe to permit as the criterion of intoxication.

"My recollection is that the opinion of the court was unanimous, although I am not sure of this. I am writing from memory.

"But the real point is that the opinion of the Supreme court was that the whole question was within the competency of the congress, and that the court would not undertake to overrule the exercise of its discretion.

"That being the law, as established by our highest court, it seems to me that it would be impracticable for this commission to attempt to reëxamine that question. I will submit your letter to the commission, which is to meet here on Feb. 5, but in the meantime, I simply call your attention to this decision and to what seems to me, personally, the necessary consequences of it."

Dyer Comes Right Back.

Representative Dyer immediately issued a counter statement declaring that Wickersham had missed the point entirely. Dyer explained that he was perfectly aware that the question was under congressional jurisdiction and for that very reason 2.75 per cent beverages did not conflict with the 18th amendment. Inasmuch as the Wickersham commission is recommending acts of congress, Dyer said he saw no reason why it should not study and recommend modification of the one-half of one per cent alcohol clause in the Volstead act.

The wet attack on Mitchell's bone dry pronouncement was led by Representative Emanuel Celler [Dem., N. Y.] in a speech in the house. He called it "silly."

"Under such a ruling, the late President Harding could not have been a prohibition agent nor a government official," said Celler. "Neither could Roscoe Pound, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, or Newton D. Baker, although both Pound and Baker are members of President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] said Mitchell's order "means just so many more thousand pieces of paper on file in government offices."

Among the drys taking up the cudgels in behalf of Mitchell were Senators Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.] and George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], and Representatives W. B. Oliver [Dem., Ala.], Cyrenus Cole [Rep., Ia.], and J. G. Cooper [Rep., O.]

"Mr. Mitchell has rendered a distinct service to the American people," Representative Oliver told the house. "He has shown great wisdom and courage, and it is to be hoped all other department heads will follow his example."

The house expenditures committee this morning continued its consideration of the Williamson bill to transfer the prohibition unit from the treasury to the department of justice, but failed to report the bill out. An amendment was adopted, however, to keep the dry agents under civil service, although attorneys are to be appointive.

Won't Quiz Dry Leaders.

By a vote of 11 to 3, the committee rejected a motion to invite before it F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon league and Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist temperance board.

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, today replied to an invitation to testify before the house judiciary committee by a statement that "all the Wickersham bills in the world will not enforce the prohibition laws."

CONVICT DRY RAIDER WHO KILLED FARMER EXONERATED BY U. S.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 28.—(AP)—A federal investigation into the slaying Saturday near Winchester of Tom Morris, mountaineer, resulted in the exoneration of Buford Rader, ex-convict member of a federal raiding squad, A. V. McLane, United States district attorney, declared today.

McLane said Morris was known as a moonshiner, that he fired first and that Rader, deputized by the prohibition squad, had a right to go armed.

A dispatch from Winchester quoted a 13 year old son of Morris as saying he was with his father at the time of the shooting, that his father did not fire a shot, and was not ordered to halt by the officers.

ALCOHOL DEATHS MULTIPLIED BY 6 IN DRY DECADE

Life Insurance Statistics Show Increase.

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Deaths from acute and chronic alcoholism are nearly six times what they were in 1920, the first year of prohibition, the Metropolitan Life Insurance company revealed in an announcement today of a survey made among its 19 million industrial policy holders.

The rate for 1929 was 3.4 per 100,000, as against 3.3 in 1928. In 1929 641 policy holders died of alcoholism, as compared with 599 the previous year.

Rate Low in First Year.

The lowest mortality rate from alcoholism was recorded in prohibition's first year. The highest was in 1929, when the rate was approximately twice that of 1918, the concluding year of the war. In 1919, the year of "war time prohibition," the number of deaths declined, so that the 1929 figures are about two and a half times those of ten years before.

The mortality from alcoholism since national prohibition has not been quite as high as for any of the years between 1911 and 1917. However, if deaths from wood and denatured alcohol poisoning were added to the total for years beginning with 1920, and if the comparison were limited to policy holders in the United States alone, the death rates now prevailing would equal or very closely approximate those for certain pre-war years.

Toll Almost Negligible in Canada.

"The mortality from alcoholism has always been almost negligible in Canada, particularly in the province of Quebec, where the Metropolitan has nearly 600,000 industrial policy holders, among whom there were only 3 deaths from the disease in 1929," said the company's report.

"There were certain states in which the 1929 alcoholism death rate was considerably in excess of the average. Among these were Maryland, Nebraska, Delaware, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, West Virginia, Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky."

FIND U. S. RESORT MAN SLAIN; RUM PLOT SUSPECTED

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Louis Carl Miller, 52, was found dead of bullet wounds in his camp on Chippewa creek a few miles from here today. Authorities said they believed he had been murdered, possibly in another rum running plot. No weapon was found.

For years Miller had been associated with night clubs on the American side. His camp was patronized by sportsmen from the American and Canadian Niagara districts and was famed for the fish and game dinners served.

The camp is located in a lonely section. Provincial police took charge of the case shortly after Miller's wife found the body when she arrived at the camp from the city.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Elsie Bartlett, the actress, has moved from the home where she formerly lived with her husband, Joseph Schildkraut, well known stage star, and has taken an apartment in her own name. Today the Schildkrauts explained that it was only a "temporary separation."

FRANKIE LAKE, ARRESTED AT TEA DANCE, IS FREED

Frankie Lake, the beer baron, who was arrested at a tea dance in the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman on Monday afternoon and charged with disorderly conduct, was discharged yesterday by Judge Immenhausen in State street court. His companions at the dance, Morris Bogolowski, Jack Silver and William Cunningham, also were freed.

Pointing out that attendance at a tea dance does not constitute disorderly conduct, Judge Immenhausen pressed Lieut. Andrew Barry for an explanation of the arrest. The officer explained that the hotel management and leaders of the Democratic and Republican organizations, which maintain headquarters there, had complained that hoodlums were infesting the lobby. Lake proclaimed his respectability, citing his payment of $30,000 in taxes.

FIRE PENSION FUND ALSO IS SHORT OF CASH

Board Ponders Ways to Meet Next Payment.

The firemen's pension fund will be unable to meet its full monthly payment to 1,540 pensioners on Feb. 6 unless additional funds can be obtained before that date, members of the firemen's pension board revealed yesterday. The fund makes payments monthly to widows of firemen killed in the performance of their duty, their young children and to firemen retired from the force.

Firemen's widows are paid $45 a month and $10 a month for each minor child. Retired firemen receive one-half of the amount of their salaries at the time they left active service. To meet this pay roll, which totals $97,000 a month, the board has only $60,000 in cash.

Many of the widows and retired firemen are almost wholly dependent on their income from the pension fund for support, according to members of the pension board, and failure to pay the monthly stipend is likely to cause considerable misery in the homes of the pensioners.

Lack of Taxes Blamed.

The predicament of the fund, which board members say has always existed in a "hand to mouth" fashion, was laid to the fact that no taxes have been collected. The fund never had a considerable cash reserve and its tax levy ordinance for 1930, which will produce approximately $1,000,000, has not been passed by the city council. If it is passed on Feb. 4, when the council expects to pass its own tax levy, the pension board can offer its 1930 tax anticipation warrants for sale.

The prospect of selling 1930 warrants brought little cheer to the meeting of the board members yesterday in the office of City Controller Schmidt, who is chairman. Other members, including City Clerk Smith and City Treasurer Peterson, remembered the failure of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium and the forest preserve board to sell their warrants.

According to a recent statement of the Strawn committee, the fund will not receive sufficient money from the 1928 tax collections to take up its 1928 tax anticipation warrants outstanding and pay the accumulated interest on them. The probable collection for the fund of 1928 taxes was placed at $567,000 by the Strawn report while the principal and interest of the 1928 warrants is placed at $604,950.

Goodrich Offers Services.

The fund has sufficient 1929 tax warrants left to carry it over this pay roll, according to the board, providing a purchaser can be found. Fire Commissioner Goodrich, though not a member of the board, has offered his services as a salesman in an effort to produce the $37,000 needed for the widows and other pensioners.

One remedy was found in the pension fund law but was discarded by the board. In the event a pension fund is short of money the law provides that what money is in the fund can be pro rated among the pensioners. Douhts were raised as to the legality of later making up the difference and the board determined to exert efforts in other quarters first.

At the last session of the legislature the tax levy of the fund was raised from one-sixth to one-third of a mill as a preliminary step in placing the fund in a solvent condition. The only other revenue to the fund is the two and one-half per cent of their salaries paid in by the firemen. A bill its being prepared for presentation at the next legislative session to raise the amount paid by the firemen to take care of the increasing number of pensioners.

INCOME TAX ADVISER URGES CITIZENS TO GET THEIR AID EARLY

George W. Schroeder, deputy tax collector assigned by the government to THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, Madison and Dearborn streets, declared yesterday that he hasn't enough work to do, although he has made out federal income tax schedules for from 50 to 100 persons a day since Jan. 12.

Schroeder is assigned to help citizens solve their income tax problems and file their returns before the final filing date on March 1. He has a complete stock of blanks used in making out returns.

"I wish more people would come in for help early in the season when I have plenty of time to give them," Mr. Schroeder said. "Toward the end of February I'll be swamped with pleas for help, although there will be a staff of assistants to do part of my work."

He was overcome by auto fumes while working on his car in the closed garage at the rear of his home at 4945 North Washtenaw avenue. His wife, Mrs. Hazel Darness, becoming alarmed at her husband's long stay in the garage, investigated, and found him unconscious. She dragged him outside and Darness regained consciousness before the arrival of an inhalator squad.

Theater Executive Forfeits Bond in Security Law Case

A bond of $5,000 for I. F. Dersch, president of the United Theaters corporation, was forfeited yesterday when he failed to appear before Judge Arnold Heap in the Municipal court to answer a charge of violating the Illinois security act. According to Assistant State's Attorney L. P. Holt, Dersch has sold some $20,000 worth of stock in an Orient theater at Ogden and North avenues. The stock is not registered with the securities commission.

DAILY ROUGHAGE IS AN ESSENTIAL IN ANY DIET

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation. Also Adds Iron to the Blood

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed. Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied. Be sure to include it in reducing diets as a preventive for both constipation and anemia.

There are so many ways you can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and enjoy it. In any form, it is appetizing. It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals and soups and notice the added flavor. Many people soak it in fruit juices. Excellent in cooked foods. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. It is served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Ask for it! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MAYOR TANGLED ON LOOP VALUE, FIGURES SHOW

Action of Review Board Hit by Malone.

the public trough before he was a citizen of Illinois.

Mr. Sullivan is credited with having originated the mayor's plan to add 300 million dollars to the loop valuations. In that figure he made a mistake, but 300 million dollars has been given to the community newspapers and the mayor has used it in his official messages to the city council, and the Thompson camp sticks to that figure. The error arose because Sullivan took the difference between the assessors' figure on the loop for 1927 and the 1928 tentative figure. The assessors' 1927 figure was reduced $116,198,451 by the board of review.

The Building Managers' association announced yesterday that it stands ready to coöperate in an investigation of the loop valuations.

"Beclouding the Issue."

"If, however, the matter is to be approached from the standpoint of political expediency, only further delay and confusion can result," said Attorney Lester L. Falk, representing the association. He said that President Caldwell and Attorney Sullivan have disseminated much "misinformation and have beclouded the issue."

"If the board of review, by conducting open hearings, in accordance with the law, at which evidence from all persons acquainted with the facts can be presented and expert testimony offered and witnesses cross-examined," said Mr. Falk, "they will force the distorters of facts to prove their reckless assertions respecting downtown assessments and the community will have been done a great service."

As examples of misinformation which he claims Caldwell and Sullivan have turned out, Mr. Falk cited the figures on a number of buildings published. He says that Caldwell and Sullivan have tried to get the public to believe inaccurate figures regarding the assessments.

He said they had told the public that the assessors had placed a value of $1,447,936 on the property at 100 West Monroe street, whereas the assessors' figure is $2,715,448. The Madison-La Salle building was assessed at $1,662,993, but Caldwell and Sullivan say it was assessed at $880,513. On the Pure Oil building Mr. Falk says the difference between the assessors' valuation and the Sullivan-Caldwell representation is $1,130,775.

On the Stop and Shop building the assessors' figure is $3,891,078, while Caldwell and Sullivan have represented it as $1,786,641. The Wells and Jackson building is represented to have been assessed at $109,660, while the right figure is $672,632. On the Bismarck hotel the assessors' valuation is $8,733,758, while the Caldwell-Sullivan figure is $6,324,165. On the La Salle hotel Caldwell-Sullivan error is $6,000,000.

Some of the neighborhood newspapers whose editors attended a meeting in Mayor Thompson's office have printed some of the Sullivan representations as the assessors' valuations on certain loop properties.

Barrett Outlines Plan.

The plan of "survey" which the board of review intends to follow was given out yesterday by Charles V. Barrett, a member of the board. He said that the board of assessors will be asked for its plats showing basic land values. These will be compared with the unit prices adopted in 1923 and 1927, quadrennial years, and the reviewers will thereby ascertain where the differences occur. Then the board of education will be asked to submit its information, which, Mr. Barrett has been told, is in writing. Then representatives of the property owners will be called in.

In the meantime the real estate advisory committee of the board of review, consisting of Thomas E. Sullivan, Perkins Bass, and John P. Hooker, will be asked to give its views. Mr. Barrett said that he personally is interested in the revenue produced by the buildings.

It was gossiped around the county building yesterday that Mr. Hooker was one of the real estate men who appraised loop land for the board of assessors, and that the assessors raised his valuations 20 per cent.

Malone Adds New Puzzle.

Chairman Malone of the state tax commission added another complication when he issued a statement that the board of review has no authority to make "a reassessment." Its job is limited to correcting any errors which the assessors may have made, he said.

Mr. Malone asserted that the duties of the reviewers are limited to the tasks imposed by rule 15 issued by the state tax commission, and that if the board does not follow that rule the state tax commission will take action, the nature of which he did not reveal.

More prospective trouble in the reassessment appeared when it was charged that certain residents of the townships of Thornton, Calumet and Niles have changed valuations in the books of the board of assessors. The board will try to find the alleged changes.

The activity on relief consisted of a written statement by Mayor Thompson and an oral statement by President Caldwell of the board of education. The latter said that he had sent an emissary to New York to borrow $54,000,000 and that he had information which "is very hopeful."

"If he gets favorable results," added Mr. Caldwell, "I shall go to New York in two days. When I was last there I was told by bankers that derogatory comments made here for political purposes did not affect the value of tax warrants."

Mr. Caldwell did not confer with President Cermak of the county board, President Elmore of the sanitary district, or Chairman Clark of the council finance committee. On Sunday Mr. Caldwell said he was going to confer with these officials immediately for the purpose of organizing a committee in opposition to the Silas H. Strawn rescue committee.

At a conference of the school trustees yesterday they unanimously approved President Caldwell's plan for an opposition committee, according to Mr. Caldwell. He said the trustees decided that it is illegal to delegate authority which will permit others to dictate to the public schools.

Both the mayor and Caldwell urged yesterday an appeal to the legislature as they have several times heretofore.

"The present financial problem was created by the reformers through the reassessment ordered by the state tax commission," Mayor Thompson's statement said. "The reassessment has prevented the collection of taxes for over 20 months, has necessitated the borrowing by our local taxing bodies of huge sums of money with which to operate and has cost the taxpayers over $45,000 a day in interest alone."

Bank Sues County.

The Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company filed a suit for $50,000 against Cook county in the Superior court yesterday. This bank advanced approximately $2,000,000 in salaries for county employés during October and November, and yesterday's suit is a continuation of the plan to get judgments for all cash advanced.

A few figures summarizing the results of action by the board of assessors and board of review since the tentative reassessments first were made public, were given out yesterday. The assessors have reduced valuations in eight city townships, an aggregate of $52,736,021. In these townships the board of review has already lopped off $18,338,480. These reductions will further reduce the amount of taxes to be collected, which in turn will provide less money to pay off the tax anticipation warrants outstanding for 1928.

INSULL URGES "OPEN PUBLICITY" FOR PUBLIC UTILITIES COMPANIES

Publicity, promoted "openly and boldly," was advocated in the operation of public utilities yesterday by Samuel Insull, public utilities magnate, speaking before the Illinois committee on public health information at a luncheon at the Palmer house. Mr. Insull 11 years ago was instrumental in the organization of the committee, the aim of which is to "educate the regulatory bodies and the public to the facts of our condition," as Mr. Insull expressed it yesterday.

"I am a great believer in publicity," Mr. Insull said. "I believe it is our duty to the properties we manage, and to our stockholders, and to the communities we serve, that we should keep them enlightened as to our condition. I believe in doing it not in any gumshoe way, but openly and boldly.

"Public utilities have a means of getting facts to their customers. And thus a politician may be forced to discuss utility questions on a basis of facts, and not draw upon his imagination and so creates prejudice against a great industry.

"We should carry to our customers the message that rates are not based upon capitalization, but upon property value. Politicians, particularly national politicians, assumer that the greater part of our business is a form of interstate business. But such is not the case. Hence there is little warrant for federal interference in state affairs insofar as our industry is concerned."

Life Saved by Friend's Tip Licks 13 Years' Handicap

One of the "Ladies of Hell" goes over The Top in Harder Battle than any in War

PRIVATE LOUGHNAN'S story is a simple one, after all. He was one of those Canadian Scottish heroes who, in what Foch called the finest act of the war, counter-attacked in the beginning of the second battle of Ypres after being thoroughly gassed. Severely wounded in the abdomen, he lived two days on morphine and water, and ended up in Canada after the war with a bride who believed in him, and a digestive apparatus that just naturally wouldn't work. It was literally "all shot to pieces."

His great problem was to discover a safe, natural, gentle way to keep his enfeebled body cleaned out. No ordinary laxative could be used. He was enduring intense cramps, fainting spells, and acute pain. "During one of these attacks," he writes, "a friend advised me to try Nujol because of its gentle, harmless, yet certain action. His explanation of Nujol's absorbing and cleaning process sounded like good common sense, so my wife got a bottle for me at once. That was thirteen years ago. I don't know how many bottles of Nujol I have used since then, but I do know I probably owe my life to it. That Nujol does its work under the physical handicap I have related, is proof that even the most delicate person may use it in comfort and with complete success."

Please remember, Nujol is not a medicine. It is simply the most widely used and harmless means of giving your body the lubrication it needs, like any other machine. Normally, easily, naturally, Nujol sweeps your body clean of the waste poisons (we all have them) so you will feel bright, energetic, happy, full of pep. Nujol contains no drugs, forms no habit, can be used by the tiniest baby. It is not absorbed, is non-fattening. It is as tasteless and colorless as pure sparkling water. "Bottled sunshine," many call it.

So many millions of people have put happiness into their lives this easy way—why don't you? Get a bottle today at any drug store. It costs but a few cents, and it makes you feel like a million dollars. You too can be well and happy. Prove it yourself—today!

NEWSPAPERS WIN RIGHT TO LISTEN TO NAVY PARLEY

Americans Get 12 Seats Out of 78.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The first real victory at the five-power naval conference was won today by the world's press when, yielding to the unanimous criticism of American and Brit- that arrangements had been made to that arrangements had been made to admit newspaper representatives to all plenary sessions hereafter, the first of which will be held Thursday.

This is considered all the more remarkable, as the reasons given for the exclusion of the press was that there was no space in the meeting room of the St. James's palace. Then American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson made the suggestion to admit three representatives of news agencies, keeping all writers of the great newspapers out.

Yankees Win 12 Seats.

Today, thanks to the energy of British representatives, arrangements have been made to find 78 seats for correspondents in the meeting room itself, and seats for all the rest in an adjoining room in which loud speakers are to be installed. The 78 seats are allotted as follows: Great Britain, 12; British Dominions, 12; United State, 12; France, 12; Japan, 11; Italy, 6; and 13 to other nations.

There is some slight criticism of the allotment of 12 to the dominions, but this will probably be rectified as the dominions do not want more than a half dozen, and their surplus may be given to the Americans and "neutrals."

The first signs of real progress was seen today in the announcement that matters had so far progressed to the extent of making another plenary session possible on Thursday.

Three Meetings Held.

The formal meetings held today included a session by the "big five" at St. James's palace in the morning, when final arrangements were made for Thursday's plenary session, the afternoon meetings of the Japanese and British and the French and British, both held in the prime minister's room of the house of commons. No developments were learned from the latter two meetings.

No formal meetings are scheduled for tomorrow, but informal business will be bustling, as usual.

Some progress has been made toward a compromise on the method of limitation, but many details are yet to be worked out. The suggested compromise by the transfer of tonnage from one category to another is now held up by the French insistence for only four categories: Battleships, cruisers, destroyers, and submarines. The British want at least five, dividing cruisers and perhaps submarines into two classes each, and certain other powers want still more.

It is also learned that the British and Americans have reached an agreement on 17 points, most of them minor, and also that there is considerable disagreement among the American delegation as to whether the United States is to ask for 18 or 21 cruisers to Great Britain's 15.

cost of our navies and thus relieve the taxpayers of each country from some of the burdens that rest upon them.

"Eight years ago, when America called the first disarmament conference in Washington, she was engaged in building a fleet of battleships larger and more powerful than those of any other nation in the world. Fifteen of such capital ships were already in the course of construction, and over $320,000,000 had been spent on their construction.

"In order to stop naval competition and to put an end to the consequent rivalry, suspicion and fear between the nations, which would grow out of such competition, America destroyed all these new ships, together with thirteen older battleships, and signed the Washington treaty with Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan. This treaty has put an end to all competition in battleships from that day to this between those nations.

Navy Second to None.

"We in America know that, so long as we have a navy equal in power and efficiency to Great Britain's navy, America has a navy adequate for its national defense. Furthermore, we know that so long as parity is maintained we can safely reduce our navy down as far as Great Britain is willing to reduce her navy. Instead of producing rivalry it removes it; instead of arousing apprehension it insures confidence and creates a standard by which both navies can be reduced in safety."

"We are also interested in the limitation of the navies of France and Italy, for authough we have no immediate interest in the Mediterranean, where these countries border on each other, it is nevertheless a fact that every great navy in the world influences every other navy.

"We are trying to accomplish the following results:

"In the first place, we hope to make an agreement with the other foreign nations represented here which will put an end to competition between them in cruisers and destroyers. These vessels are now not covered by any agreements.

Would Sink Submarines.

"In the second place, we should like to abolish submarines. If we cannot abolish them we wish to reduce their number as much as possible, and, at the same time, to make an agreement which will prevent their being used against merchant vessels in the ruthless and inhuman way in which submarines were used in the last war. Then we want to reduce the battleship programs below the programs which were provided in the Washington treaty. It is present competition in respect to cruisers, destroyers, and submarines which has caused the chief anxiety and irritation during recent years.

"An agreement as to them would be the greatest contribution to international good will, and for some countries it would also provide economy. For us, the chief economy would lie in the reduction of the battleship programs, for unless that program is reduced, we shall be faced with an expenditure of approximately $300,000,000 on battleships alone in the next six years, and in the following six years thereafter, another $300,00.000.

"The organization of the conference has been effective, and members of our delegation have been holding conferences with each other and with their colleagues from other countries, almost all day, for every day that we have been here.

"We know the other delegations and they know us far better than when we landed here ten days ago. We know their problems and their point of view with an intimacy that was impossible before. I think I run no risk in saying for them and for us that we have confided in each other's determination to make a long step forward in human progress before we leave here, and that that confidence not only augurs well for the success of this naval conference, but for that international good will in the future, which is the main object of the conference.

"Let me add one little word of caution. Some 400 newspaper reporters and representatives are gathered here in London to report this conference, and hardly a day passes but what some excited reporter comes to me with a rumor of some crisis of which he has heard, which is going to wreck the conference. I have no doubt that some stories of these alleged crisis have gotten into the newspapers of America.

Deplores Rumors of "Crisis."

"Crises make good news, much better news than mere reports of good progress. I can only tell you that thus far every rumor of such a crisis which has come to my ear has been quite unfounded. No such crises have, in fact, occurred.

"I, therefore, recommend that you be not troubled with reports of crises until they are confirmed by us. We intend to make this conference a success, and we think we can do so.

"The members of the American delegation here in one capacity or another went through the great war. Most of us have had to study national defense in the course of our official duties. We are united in believing that our national defense, our national interests, and our prospects will continue; peace and prosperity can best be served by naval limitation and its consequent good will.

"In the belief that the same agreement, which holds out such prospects for us holds equal prospects for the other nations here, we go at our task with the assurance of the support of the people of these five great nations."

"THERE'S ONE THING that stands out above all others in making a girl really alluring," says Clara Bow, whose vivid beauty and personality have won her world-fame in motion pictures. It's lovely skin.

"You may have marvelously appealing eyes—and a lot of charm—and a beautiful figure.

"But just notice the way people cluster around a girl who has lovely skin! And any girl can have lovely skin if she takes good care of it!.

"I got my first chance in the movies, partly, at least, because of what my father calls my 'baby-smooth' skin

"You see, motion picture directors found out long ago that unless a girl has marvelous skin she can never make millions of hearts beat faster when she appears in a close-up. The incandescent lights reveal the tiniest flaw in the skin!

"That's why we motion picture actresses have to keep our skin at its very best every minute.

"Several years ago some of us began using Lux Toilet Soap, and were enthusiastic about it.

NANCY CARROLL

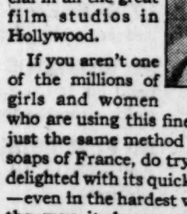
"So other screen stars began to use it—until it wasn't long before almost every important actress in Hollywood was using it. Janet Gaynor—Joan Crawford—Billie Dove—Bebe Daniels—Dorothy Mackaill.

"Take Nancy Carroll, for instance, one of Paramount's most fascinating girls. She keeps her fair skin delectable as an apple blossom with Lux Toilet Soap.

"And Mary Brian, too. Her skin is clear and smooth as a little girl's. Jean Arthur, too, keeps her skin lovely with Lux Toilet Soap.

MARY BRIAN

"In fact," Clara Bow goes on to say, "nearly every girl I know in Hollywood uses this soap. And aren't we glad that we have kept our skin in good condition—the talkies have even more close-ups than the silent pictures have!



JEAN ARTHUR

"When I get letters from girls all over the country—so many of them saying nice things about my skin—I long to answer every one of them and tell these girls that they can keep their skin just as beautifully smooth as we screen stars do—by using Lux Toilet Soap."

JOAN CRAWFORD
faces the close-up without fear

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use it

There are now 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars. Of these, 511 use Lux Toilet Soap, both at home and in their studio dressing rooms. Indeed, as a result of their enthusiasm this fragrant white soap has been made official in all the great film studios in Hollywood.

KAY FRANCIS

If you aren't one of the millions of girls and women who are using this fine soap, made by just the same method as are the finest soaps of France, do try it. You will be delighted with its quick generous lather—even in the hardest water. And with the way it keeps your skin always charmingly fresh and smooth. Order several cakes—today.

Clara Bow, scintillating Paramount star, in the luxurious bathroom designed especially for her in Hollywood. There—as in her dressing room on location—she uses Lux Toilet Soap. She says: "Just notice the way people cluster around a girl who has lovely skin! . . . And beautifully smooth skin means even more to a screen star than to other women. Lux Toilet Soap is such a help in keeping the skin in perfect condition!"

ITALIANS CHARGE BRITAIN SEEKS NAVY MEET 'GOAT'

Hint Breakdown Would Not Surprise London.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Thwarted so far in outmaneuvering the United States into postponement of discussion of the cruiser question, the British are repentant of their promises of parity to America, and are seeking some pretext to withdraw from whatever Prime Minister MacDonald agreed to do on this subject with President Hoover at Washington last October, according to voices in Italian naval conference circles.

Both the United States and Great Britain have been maneuvering for the support of France, Italy and Japan. Ostensibly the conference has been slowed up because of prolonged squabbles over fixing the agenda. This, in accordance with the original British invitation, should have been done before the conference assembled. But in reality the main trouble about getting on with the conference is the general cooling of British enthusiasm to reach accord with the United States. Each delegation has remarked how the present enthusiasm differs from that which existed while Mr. MacDonald was in America.

Italians Forecast Breakup.

The latent points of dissent which exist at present between Great Britain and the United States far exceed the differences between the other three powers. Hence the Italians are hinting that the major contenders—Great Britain at least—are exaggerating the differences between France and Italy over the parity question in the hope that these differences can be made the scapegoat for the breakup of the conference, a breakup that they already foresee. The three smaller powers, accordingly, are restraining the differences which exist between them so as not to be pawns in the game of major diplomacy between Great Britain and America.

The French say that the parity question between Italy and France has not yet come up, and the Italians express belief that there is a possibility that France and Italy may reach an accord in this respect.

See MacDonald Influenced.

It is believed in the conference circles of the minor powers here that apparently Mr. MacDonald's domestic and empire problems and the opinion of the British admiralty have gotten the upper hand and have changed the point of view that he held while he was in America. The conference has therefore, in a sense, become one of personal prestige for Mr. MacDonald and the Labor government.

There exists a distinct impression apparently, in Italian circles, that many of the delays and obstacles are being allowed to shape themselves in order to enable the British admiralty to avoid becoming an agent of the American thesis on cruiser parity.

It has been whispered that two principal things have induced Great Britain to repent of Mr. MacDonald's bargain with President Hoover last autumn. They are crystallized around difficulties with the dominions that have accepted, with only slight enthusiasm, Mr. MacDonald's pledges for maximum parity to President Hoover. The reason for their coolness is that they fear that little margin will be left for them to develop their own navies, since they are included in British parity.

U. S. AND BRITAIN TO SIGN PRIVATE PACT IF PARLEY FAILS, REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—It is reported tonight in British circles that American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald have reached an agreement under which an Anglo-American accord will be established, no matter whether the conference as a whole breaks down or not.

The terms of the agreement are said to be a cessation of all battleship building. Observers say this is a concession by Mr. Stimson to Mr. MacDonald, who must show the British people something new in the way of economy.

In return for this Mr. MacDonald is said to have agreed to withdraw his demand for the abolition of battleships until Anglo-American parity in cruisers is reached. The agreement is said to have been completed when Mr. Stimson visited Mr. MacDonald last Sunday at Chequers.

COPS EYE SOCIAL LIONS AT LONDON "LEMONADE" TEA

See That No Light Fingers Take Unliftable Gold.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Lynx eyed Scotland Yard men and venerable custodians carefully watched a fashionable throng, including the delegations to the naval conference, jamming the Mansion house this afternoon for the Lady Mayoress' reception.

The "dicks" concentrated on the mahogany walled and ceilinged room where the city of London's gold plate was exhibited, but inasmuch as every piece is more than two feet high and weighs at least a dozen pounds or so it would have been extremely difficult for any one to have slipped any of the gleaming salvers or huge candelabra under their coat. The collection is composed of more than 100 pieces, some dating back 1,000 years.

Gold Mace Five Feet Long.

The principal piece is an enormous and elaborate superscepter, five feet long, made of solid gold with London's coat of arms atop and on the scrolls the arms of the realm. Beside it was a mourning sword, a long two edged broadsword in a black velvet scabbard with a golden hilt. Besides there were cups, urns, ewers, pitchers, platters, baskets, vases, and tankards, all of solid gold. Outside in the main hall, edged with fluted gold pillars, was a buffet, serving no hard stuff but plenty of lemonade and tea, and 45 different kinds of cake.

All eyes in the Ritz at lunch time today were focused on a round table at a window overlooking Piccadilly where Mrs. David A. Reed, wife of the Pennsylvania senator, entertained fellow delegates and their wives. Yellow tulips, mimosa, daffodils, and jonquils were massed in the center of the table.

The guests included Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and his wife, who wore a black coat and skirt edged with white fur; Elizabeth Morrow, who was dressed in green with caracul fur; the Viscount and Viscountess Astor, the latter in the black and white uniform she wears in the house of commons; United States Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and Mrs. Adams, and the Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Matsudaira. Mrs. Reed wore a cigar brown velvet dress cut with the new side draperies.

Mrs. Dawes Entertains.

While the men folk attended the Pilgrims' club dinner Mrs. Dawes entertained 25 women guests at a dinner at the American embassy. On the long, shining mahogany table, stood tall gold colored candles, throwing a soft light which made every woman look beautiful. Lace mats replaced the table cloth. Subdued lighting came from sconces inset in the paneled oaken walls. Each guest was waited on by individual footmen in the embassy livery of dark blue.

The guests included Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Morrow, Elizabeth Morrow, Mrs. Hilary Jones, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Mrs. Page, Mrs. Rindle, Mrs. Yarnell, Mrs. Hepburn, Mrs. Vankeuren, Mrs. Train, Mrs. Higgins, and Miss Haynes of the American delegation; and Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the counsellor of the embassy; Mrs. Lammot Belin, wife of the first secretary; Mrs. Cox, Mrs. David Key, Mrs. Galbraith, Mrs. Thomas, and Mrs. Hanson.

Afterward the ladies were joined by the dinner guests of Miss Ishbel MacDonald who included Mrs. W. Wedgewood Been, Mrs. A. V. Alexander, and the ladies of the Japanese, Italian and French delegations, the wives of dominion officials, and those of the British delegates.

The huge ballroom of the embassy was decorated in rose du barry, and the guests, who sat in gilt chairs, witnessed a movie—not a talkie but a silent film.

SINCLAIR GOES EAST IN PARTY; SHUNS CAMERAS

Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company, arrived in Chicago from California last night aboard his private coach, attached to a Santa Fé train. Santa Fé agents barred newspaper photographers from the train shed at the Dearborn station as Sinclair left his coach with a party of friends huddled around him.

The oil magnate has denied himself to photographers since he left the District of Columbia jail before Christmas at completion of a sentence for contempt of the senate. Sinclair and his party spent the night at a hotel and were to leave for New York at 9 o'clock this morning from the Park Row station on a Michigan Central train.

Slayer, Paralyzed by Shot Resisting Raid, Sentenced

Lying paralyzed on a cot, Peter Augustanovich, member of a bandit gang of Hammond, Ind., pleaded guilty to manslaughter in Criminal court at Hammond yesterday and was sentenced to 2 to 21 years in prison. Physicians say he cannot live more than six months. The prisoner was one of five who resisted a raid last summer in which Police Sergeant Leo Fox was killed. His pals, unscathed by the bullets which paralyzed Augustanovich, were sentenced to life imprisonment.

FALLS DEAD ON STREET CAR.

George Casey, 73 year old laborer, 6519 Maplewood avenue, fell dead on an east bound 63d street surface car at Harvard avenue yesterday. His death was attributed to heart disease.

M'DONALD WILL BRING BACK RARE ANIMALS OF SEA

Commander Eugene F. McDonald will return to Chicago within the next few weeks with specimens of rare birds and sea animals for the Shedd aquarium, the Lincoln park zoo, and personal friends. The specimens were taken on his latest exploration in the islands of the Pacific ocean. The commander's Chicago office said yesterday it had not been informed of the date of his arrival.

Dispatches from the South Pacific yesterday also reported that Commander McDonald had found a German philosopher, Dr. Charles Ritter of Berlin, and his wife, who have been stranded on Charles island in the Galapagos group, near the equator, for five months, and had furnished them with a year's provisions. The supply ship which was to have picked up the scientist did not return, according to the dispatches.

Sea lions, iguanas, tortoises, one penguin and one albatross have been caught and quartered on the McDonald yacht, Mizpah, the reports added, and will be given to the aquarium, the zoo, and to John T. McCutcheon and George F. Getz.

WORLD BANK WILL OPEN IN APRIL; U. S. MEN RETURN

Personnel Not Selected, Traylor Announces.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 28.—[Special.]—The Bank for International Settlements will be ready for business in April in its own home in Basle, Switzerland, but the directors and personnel will not be definitely selected for thirty days.

This was the word brought back from the recent meeting of the organization committee at The Hague by Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who with Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, represented this country. Mr. Traylor and Mr. Reynolds returned tonight aboard the liner Bremen.

Told of reports that Gates W. McGarrah, chairman of the board of the federal reserve bank of New York, had been selected as chairman of the world bank and that Leon Fraser, New York attorney and former general counsel for the Dawes' plan, was to serve as vice chairman, the Chicago banker shook his head.

Leaders Not Yet Selected.

"Just rumors," said Mr. Traylor.

"The leaders will be selected by the board of directors and the board of directors has not been definitely decided. First the private group of bankers who are to subscribe to the American shares in the bank will have to be completed. You understand the United States is not in this bank except by private capital. This group of bankers has not yet been fully made up.

Then there still is the manner of formal ratification of the six other nations whose government banks are participating. The ratification, of course, is assured."

Mr. Traylor, while declining to be quoted on the matter of distributing America's quota of stone—one-seventh of $25,000,000—left the impression that he was confident that banks in all sections of the country would be invited to participate.

The Bank for International Settlements, Mr. Traynor explained, is capitalized for $100,000,000, but only $25,000,000 will be paid up to begin with, and for two or three years its scope will be confined to handling reparations. Later the bank may deal in investments, such as bonds, etc., of nations participating.

Report of Friction Denied.

Both Mr. Traylor and Mr. Reynolds denied there had been any friction or disagreement between them in arranging for America's joining the bank through private capital.

They were, the two bankers pointed out, selected by the bankers of Japan, England, France, and Belgium, and had no one to report to here, and consequently they had no axes to grind.

Mr. Traylor was told the Morgan interests had been mentioned by newspapers as a probable subscriber to the bank.

"Naturally such a firm would be mentioned," said the Chicago banker. "I cannot tell you more now than that the United States group has not been completed. It all should be settled within thirty days.

"Europe is optimistic for the success of the bank, and why should not it be? When two representatives from each of seven nations can sit around a table and come to an agreement in complete harmony it argues well for the success of the bank.

Divorced from Politics.

"The delegates on the organization committee were business men—mostly bankers—and quite different from a gathering of politicians. There was never any bickering or rowing over matters pertaining to the bank. The only differences of opinion were when political matters cropped up."

Mr. Traylor will return to Chicago tomorrow.

Both bankers appeared just a bit tired and, to an observer, genuinely glad to have a long rest from high finance in Europe. Mr. Traylor expressed concern over Chicago's financial plight but said he guessed they would have to fix matters up at home as, unfortunately, the bank for international settlements could not go in for municipal financing.

BISHOP BLAKE WEDS FORMER TEACHER AT ROME IN COLUMBUS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Bishop Edgar Blake of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Miss Mary Jane Eaton, Circleville, O., were married at Columbus, O., this afternoon.

Miss Eaton was for several years principal of the Crandon Institute for Girls in Rome.

Bishop Blake's first wife died in March 1925. He was elected to the episcopacy in 1920, and for eight years was resident bishop at Paris. While there he became involved in a controversy over religious developments in Russia with the advent of the soviet to power, and was transferred to Indianapolis two years ago.

Boy, 3, Shot by Brother While They Played, Dies

Walter Graffe, 3 years old, who was shot by his 4 year old brother, William, while they were playing holdup in their home at 4956 South Marshfield avenue last Friday, died yesterday at the German Deaconess hospital. The pistol that caused Walter's death is owned by the boy's father.

HISTORY FOR $2 A WORD DRAWS BREVITY EXPERTS

"Must We Use 500 to Win?"

While some college professors were shaking their heads and saying of THE TRIBUNE 500 word American history contest, "It can't be done," several letters were received by the history editor from persons who asked if the histories "had to be 500 words long."

Former President Coolidge, who is trying to write a history of America in 500 words, to be carved in the side of Mount Rushmore as part of the memorial in South Dakota, probably is working hard to condense volumes in 500 words, though he is not noted for verbosity. How depressed he might become if faced with the fact that several TRIBUNE contestants find 500 words too many!

Woman Uses 25 Words.

Moreover, three persons have sent in histories of the United States in something like 25 words! And what is more amazing, one of those three was a woman!

Of course, anything under 500 words is eligible for the contest. The $2,100 to be given in prizes won't be given to those histories that are the shortest, necessarily, but to those which say the most in the given range of 500 words or less.

About the only rules are that all manuscripts be in the Tribune by midnight Feb. 15, that they not be more than 500 words, and that they preferably be typewritten. The prizes:

For the best history	$1,000
For the second best	500
For the third best	250
For the next seven best	50

Strictly Modern Way.

It's a strictly modern way of writing history and should give lots of people who've always held a grudge against historians for all the dates and all the dull facts they had to learn in school, a chance to show how interesting and how complete a history may be without an exhaustive list of unrelated facts and figures.

The eighteenth century flare for rambling sentences and paragraphs pages long has given way to the staccato style, which may be a help to wouldbe prize winners of 500 word histories.

The text is the thing! The history editor says no one should spend any time making elaborate covers for manuscripts, or otherwise dressing them up. That won't help any manuscript!

BANK ON WEST SIDE CLOSED BY STATE AUDITOR

West Central State Is Examined.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson yesterday closed for examination the doors of the West Central State bank, 2315 Roosevelt road, of which the president is A. H. Dressel, who is known widely in Chicago sport circles and who has acted as bondsman for Terry Druggan, the beer baron.

Failure of the bank to meet its clearing obligations, to the extent of about $45,000, at the close of business yesterday was given by the auditor as the reason for the closing. Though the West Central bank is not a member of the Chicago Clearing House association, it uses a loop bank for its clearings, and in this way the auditor's office was apprised of the situation.

$161,000 on Hand Dec. 31.

On Dec. 31, when last examined, the bank showed cash on hand to the amount of $161,000, this being 22 per cent of its deposit liability, the examiners said.

At Auditor Nelson's office it was said that no further details of the bank's affairs could be learned pending completion of the examination. The bank has listed deposits of $730,000. Its capital is $200,000 and its surplus $20,000. Undivided profits at the last examination were given at $5,000.

From unofficial sources it was learned that of late the bank has suffered a heavy drain upon its deposits. The recent closing of another bank in the neighborhood is believed to have been at least partly responsible for withdrawals by depositors.

Other officers of the bank, in addition to Dressel, are F. A. W. Johnson, A. J. Harms, and W. D. Bostelman, vice president, and H. H. Schoene, cashier. The directors are A. G. Harms, H. H. Zuegal, W. D. Bostelman, C. A. Willard, Dressel, A. J. Harms, F. O. Bostelman, Schoene, E. E. Rose, and Johnson.

WOMAN, HER 5 CHILDREN, MAN BURN TO DEATH

Miner Dies Trying to Rescue Family.

Frederick, Colo., Jan. 28.—(AP)—A mother, her five children, and a heroic miner who sought to save them perished in a blazing two room dwelling on the Slope mining property near here early today.

The small frame building was burned to the ground and the bodies of the two adults and five children were charred beyond recognition.

Caused by Overheated Stove.

The dead are Mrs. Della Martinez, 32; her children, Pauline, 12; Emma, 10; Rosie, 8; Ernest, 6; Frances, 14 months; and Ernest Newlon, 35, caretaker of the Slope mine. Authorities determined the fire was caused by an overheated stove.

Newlon and his wife were asleep in their home about one hundred feet away from the Martinez house when the fire broke out about 1 a. m. The miner, without waiting to dress, rushed to the blazing dwelling after telling his wife to summon aid. He got into the house by crashing through a window.

Wife Powerless to Help.

"That was the last I saw of my husband," Mrs. Newlon said. "I heard him pounding on the walls inside, but I was powerless to do anything."

SERGEANT WHO KILLED MICHIGAN BOY IS MUTE AT HIS ARRAIGNMENT

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Charged with manslaughter in connection with the slaying of a 16 year old private of his regiment, Sergt. Joseph Peggione, 125th infantry, Michigan National Guard, stood mute this afternoon when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Leo G. Karwick.

The manslaughter warrant was issued today after Prosecuting Attorney James E. Chenot had finished his investigation of the slaying of Private Stanley Prusinowski in Hamtramck Saturday night. Peggione shot at the youth as he attempted to flee after the sergeant had called at his home to serve a warrant charging desertion by continued absence from drill.

U. S. OFFICIAL HELPS COVER UP PLANE TRAGEDY

Removal of Wreckage to Bring Quiz.

Kansas City, Kas., Jan. 28.—(AP)—An inquest at which a sweeping investigation will be made into the crash yesterday of a Central Air Lines passenger plane with the loss of five lives was ordered late today by Dr. Ben F. Coffin, county coroner. Two of the victims, C. R. McKinnon and J. R. Eggert, were from Chicago.

Dr. Coffin said it probably would not be possible to hold the inquest before the latter part of the week. Officials of the Central Air Lines would be summoned, he said.

The inquiry, he said, would seek to develop the cause of the accident and also extend to the reason and responsibility for the removal of the wreckage, contrary to an order from his department.

U. S. Inspector Responsible.

Richard H. Lees Jr., supervising aeronautical inspector of the department of commerce, who was conducting an investigation today preparatory to making a report to Washington officials, authorized the removal of the wreck from the scene of the crash.

Lees said he would report his findings to the department of commerce without making them public.

"We are trying to sell aviation to the public, and the wreckage of a plane lying around for people to stare at has a bad effect," Lees said in explaining his action in authorizing dismantling of the wreck. "Sometimes we cannot tell any more about the cause of an accident before than after the wreckage has been removed."

E. A. Watkins, president of the Central Air Lines, said that Dyke Laudeman, pilot of the craft, who was killed with his four passengers, had been flying since 1922 and that he was in splendid physical condition when he received his last regular monthly examination.

Pilot's Friend Contradicts This.

W. H. Ellis, an aviation mechanic and friend of the dead pilot, declared, however, that Laudeman had complained recently that he was tired and had been flying too much.

"Everything seems to go all right when my ship isn't heavily loaded and the air is smooth, but when I've got a load it's hell," he quoted Laudeman as saying.

FREED OF HANDBOOK CHARGE.

Joseph Rosenzweig, 31 years old, 1101 Columbia avenue, named as the owner of a handbook at 316 South Crawford avenue by Victor Shapiro, 4304 Flournoy street, who had been arrested as the manager of the place, was discharged yesterday by Judge Fairbank in Felony court when Shapiro retracted his statement.

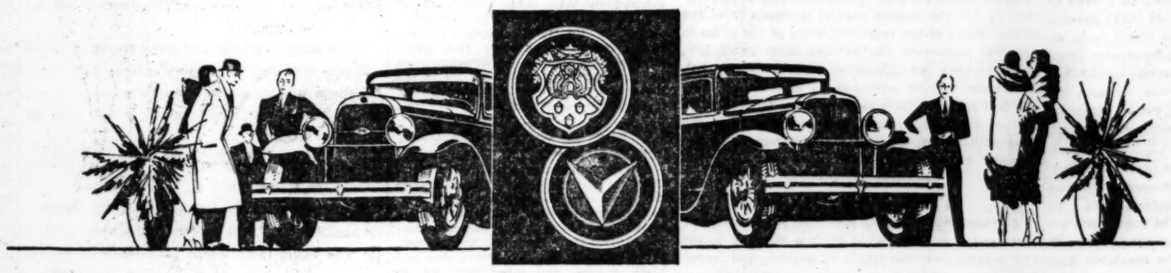
WINNING REAL FRIENDS BY GIVING REAL SATISFACTION



There can be little doubt of the warm friendship that Oldsmobile and Viking owners accord their cars. For Oldsmobile and Viking owners are quick to praise . . . they are always ready and eager to recommend Oldsmobile and Viking to their friends and neighbors.

Assuredly it takes more than mere close acquaintance with a motor car to build such loyalty. And both Oldsmobile and Viking have that "something more" in a measure above the ordinary.

Brilliant performance—at high-speeds or hard pulling—in every phase of motoring. Restful riding comfort and ease of control over every type of road. Continued economy that becomes more and more apparent as time goes on. Thoroughgoing dependability over the months and the miles.

These are things that create friendship for Oldsmobile and Viking among owners everywhere. These, plus the vitally important factor of honest value.

If you wish to learn more about either of these two fine automobiles, inquire among your friends who drive them. Then come and see Oldsmobile and Viking yourself. Drive them and know what they can do. Prove to your personal satisfaction that each is a great car—and a real value—at its price.

On display during the automobile show at the Coliseum, January 25th to February 1st, and at the Special Showing of General Motors Products, Hotel Stevens, January 25th to February 1st.

SENDING MEN TO THE LEGISLATURE.

The L. V. L. reports on the general assembly and candidates for nomination are being given out for the information of voters. The legislature in Illinois presents a unique political problem because at the time the present constitution was adopted it was regarded as important to preserve party representation and to keep alive a party of opposition. They were the post-war days of reconstruction and in the states parties had a meaning which has been lost to some extent. A system of minority representation was devised which by allowing each voter three votes to be distributed as he liked would permit a weak party in a district to elect at least one member of the house of representatives. Three votes could be cast for one candidate.

This was the beginning of what has proved to be for present day elections to the general assembly a complex of difficulties which seem almost to remove representative government from the direct control of the voters. It has been sometimes the case that nomination was virtually by appointment, by political committees or organizations, and election by mere formality of indorsing nominations.

The electorate, dealing with the problem of representative government, is confronted with one of its most involved political undertakings. To this may be added the fact that in many districts voters are preoccupied with other political interests and the selection of men for the assembly does not get the attention which its importance requires.

The source of state government thus is found in a body which comes out of obscured political methods. The present remedy is to get greater attention for the process. That is possible. The voters are concerned only with their own districts. The Legislative Voters' league gives information which will start a citizen on the way to satisfying himself as to the candidates. Electoral inattention to the legislative primaries and elections is bound to be reflected in an inferior representation and that in turn may produce some highly undesirable legislation.

Cook county should be particularly concerned with the quality of its representation because it is denied full voting strength by the country districts which nullify the state constitution. This persistent attack upon equality in citizenship requires of Chicago that it shall be represented by men of good character and a sense of responsibility to their constituents and to constitutional government.

WHERE TWO ARE GATHERED TOGETHER.

Dr. Doran, the prohibition commissioner, had an inspired moment in a talk before the Civic Forum of New York, and under its influence said: "Personal liberty ceased to exist when two people began to live together in the same house."

This would be true if A should be Dr. Doran and B some one who did not agree with him but not true as to Dr. Doran. It would be true as to B if A were Dr. Clarence True Wilson or Bishop Cannon or Scott McBride. It would not be true as to Dr. Wilson, Bishop Cannon or Mr. McBride. The unique virtue of Dr. Doran's remark as a truth is that it is the greater truth because it is only a half one.

The personal liberty of our distinguished prohibitionists and various doers of good is not infringed. They are doing precisely what they want to do. It has not been proposed that in their private and individual acts there should be any interference with them. It has been hoped that a way might be found to restrict some of their public performances which inflate their personal liberties into license to do away with the other fellow's. They say they have their liberties because they have virtues. Other people would not quarrel with their virtues or wish to share some of them. Their virtues are such as make virtue obnoxious.

Their personal liberties have been purchased at the expense of other people's. They are obtained by the nullification of several articles of the constitution which are necessary to it for the sake of one which is repugnant to it.

The answer to Dr. Doran's half truth is generally found in the divorce court.

STILL THERE IS A RESEMBLANCE.

Mexico has broken off relations with Russia, and Great Britain has remonstrated to the soviet government, both for identical reasons, although with different degrees of provocation. The communists have been making trouble in both countries where the envoys had been received. The Mexican government reports the trouble as serious, threatening the country with uprisings instigated among classes of Mexicans who can be attracted by the promises of communism and who can't see through them to the frauds.

The disturbance in Great Britain has been of minor character. The Reds started a newspaper and used it for the promotion of revolution. Englishmen do not fear that a communistic revolt could be managed but disorders could be caused and merely in itself the breach of good faith is irritating.

The reply of the soviet to protests is pulled out of a pigeon hole. It's the Red devil, the third internationale over which the soviet says it has no control. Its leaders, ideas and purposes are identical with the soviet leadership, ideas and purposes, but although Mr. Stalin "looks alike" he can't do anything about it and that certainly is a tough break for both of them.

OVERPRODUCTION OF WHEAT.

Mr. Legge of the farm board and Secretary Hyde of the department of agriculture continue to utter warnings to the farmers against overproduction, particularly of wheat. No reader of the daily market reports will have any doubt of the timeliness of these warnings. It is no exaggeration to say that the whole Hoover farm relief program is hanging in the balance; if it fails and the revolving fund is exhausted there is no reason to expect that any further attempts to improve the lot of the farmers will be sanctioned by congress for years to come.

The farm relief law presented an enormous task to the farm board. If the law is to serve the farmers it must function through coöperative marketing associations. Some such associations exist, but many others have had to be improvised. No doubt, to encourage the grain producers to join the coöperatives, the farm board has made generous loans on wheat. The basis of the loans, in the judgment of many shrewd observers, is considerably higher than would be justified by a conservative balancing of demand and existing world supply. Certainly the figure is higher than could be justified if there is to be any considerable increase in wheat production.

The policy of the board will be proved correct if it results in a rapid growth of the coöperatives and if the coöperatives, in turn, succeed in controlling the planting operations of individual farmers. It may be asking too much to expect the young coöperatives to exert much influence this spring and the leaders of the farm board realize the danger. They are therefore pleading with the farmers to plant less wheat. Incredible as it may appear, the promptings of the board are being opposed by a number of the presumed leaders of agricultural opinion, notably Senator Brookhart of Iowa. His personal dislike of some of the members of the board may have led him to seek to defeat its program. Whatever the explanation, those who have the welfare of the farmers at heart can only hope that they reject his advice. The money which the farm board is lending to farmers comes from the taxpayers, which is to say that by far the largest part of it comes from the cities. Many of the representatives of the cities in congress supported the present farm relief law, but it is more than doubtful if the taxpayers will countenance more advances to agriculture after the half billion dollars already voted is exhausted. The quickest and surest way of exhausting the fund without any permanent improvement in the farmers' lot is through overproduction.

THE PACIFIER.

War between Paraguay and Bolivia is sufficiently threatening to have called forth a warning to the two nations from the league of nations; and troops have been mobilized, it appears, on both sides of the border dividing Honduras from Guatemala.

We do not venture to predict what will grow out of either of these quarrels, but it can be said with much certainty that neither of them will be permitted to embroil the rest of Latin America. If the scene of the conflicts was outside the Americas we should have much less confidence in the outcome. Conflicting national ambitions for territory, natural resources and prestige might lead, as Balkan troubles have frequently led, to the threat of another general European war.

There will be no play of rival imperialisms in either Central or South America and for just one reason: the United States has the strength and the determination to keep the predatory powers away. That strength is expressed in the United States navy. The fact is worth remembering at this moment when the power which our navy has exerted for peace in the Americas is threatened. If conflict is avoided, the league may take the credit, but the navy will have played a far more important, if silent, rôle in preserving the peace in the sphere of its influence.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

Some shipwrights in New Orleans, pounding the scales off the hull of a lowly iron ferryboat of antique design, discovered to their astonishment that they were dealing with a monument in naval history. Investigation has shown that the hull of the ferryboat was once the U. S. S. Chickasaw, one of the four monitors that led Farragut's line into Mobile bay in August of 1864, and the lineal ancestor of those super-dreadnaught battleships of whose abolition Mr. MacDonald is reported to be desirous.

Wooden vessels have often had long lives, but the discovery of an iron hull still in active service after some sixty-seven years is anything but usual. When one remembers that the Chickasaw was of an entirely new type, brought out in all the hurry of a war progam to meet a need which had just been revealed by the pressure of war itself, her survival reflects credit upon the honest workmanship of her builders. The Chickasaw was one of the double turreted monitors, the first improvement upon Ericsson's original, and, like the original, she must have been a purgatory below decks and a coffin in a seaway. The fourth in the line at Mobile, she was not heavily punished, but lay under Fort Morgan, chucking canister at its gunners while Farragut and the wooden ships went by.

The Monitor herself was lost at sea, and, so far as one knows, the whole ugly and historic brood of her sisters and daughters has long since vanished. But impracticable as those early designs were, they not only helped to win the civil war; they also remade the navies of the world. Farragut's Hartford, which was already an anachronism the morning after the fight at Hampton Roads, has been preserved. If it were possible to restore the Chickasaw to her orignal condition, she would make an interesting relic.

PREVENTION OF HEART ILLS

HEART disease outranks most other disorders in the advantage of prevention over cure. Properly speaking, there is no cure. While the symptoms can be relieved, and while incapacity due to heart disease can be overcome, the leak in the heart valve remains as a permanent thing. Compensation can make an incapable into a capable heart, but it cannot remove the scars of the disease from the heart wall. On the other hand, prevention is double barreled. In the first place, the disease can be prevented. In the second, the heart valves having been injured, a break in compensation can be prevented.

In the prevention of heart disease in the first place the outstanding thing to do is to prevent rheumatism. While old fashioned rheumatic fever has almost disappeared there is plenty of acute rheumatic infection, the kind which causes so much heart disease. The single swollen joint caused us to think of it as articular rheumatism. We now think of it as a generalized or blood stream infection, with some tendency to localize in the joints, but with just as much disposition to involve the heart muscle and lining. The problem of preventing heart disease comes back largely to preventing rheumatism.

It is agreed now that rheumatism is an infection. Most physicians regard the infection organism as one of the streptococci. This coccus gets into the blood stream from some nest such as the tonsils, the sinuses, around the teeth, the gall bladder, or the pelvic organs. The nests in the nose and throat are more important than any others. This moves the prevention of heart disease back another step. To prevent heart disease, prevent sore throat.

There is a great deal of discussion among physicians as to how much, in preventing sore throat, may be accomplished by the removal of tonsils. Bloomfield has shown that removal of tonsils increases the susceptibility of some people to sore throat. On the other hand, a Bellevue report shows that removal of tonsils is followed by decrease in rheumatism and heart disease. A late report is that removal of tonsils after a first attack of tonsillar rheumatism prevents subsequent attacks, but removal after several repetitions of the rheumatism is not of service in preventing the joint disorder. Meanwhile, efforts to discover just which streptococcus causes rheumatism and just how to recognize this type in the throat and just how to immunize against it are being continued.

HOW TO USE NUT DIET.

H. E. P. writes:

1. Will you please write about nuts. They are at their best just now. Should they form a substantial part of the diet, as you note cheese should, or only a pleasant accessory? The common peanut, the Italian chestnut, the walnut, pecan, almond, the rich Brazil nut, and black walnut, and other nuts not so much in use.

2. Are they useful in a mucous colitis diet?

REPLY.

1. Nuts are a very rich food and high in calories. They should be considered as a part of the regular diet and their calories counted against the caloric allowance instead of being counted as an extra. Not so regarding them is one of the errors we make in eating nuts. Another is eating too much of them at one sitting. Nuts being so very rich, the stomach may rebel when overloaded with them. A third mistake is in salting them too much. The growing practice of adding nuts to breads, waffles, cereals, and other foods is a good one.

2. If freed from all hulls and "bran," they should be fit for use in this condition.

SLEEP WITH MOUTH CLOSED.

M. R. writes:

1. Every morning my mouth is very dry and has a funny taste. What is the cause of this?

2. Is there any way I can prevent it?

REPLY.

1. I expect you sleep with your mouth open, and snore.

2. Sleep with your mouth closed. Breathe through your nose. You may need to have your tonsils or nose operated on.

TWO CLAIMANTS FOR RENT.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A rents a house from B through a real estate firm. The house was sold one month after the lease was signed without notice to A.

C purchased the house, evidently, and desired the rent paid to him. However, the real estate firm advises A to pay the rent to them.

Originally the lease for one year read payable to B at the office of the real estate firm. There is no new lease and C holds no lease. 1. To whom should rent be paid? 2. How much notice does A have to give before moving? 3. If A holds rent receipts from the real estate firm are these sufficient? G. T. P.

1. Pay to the designated brokers until some rival claimant shows clear authority. 2. No notice would entitle him to move before the end of the lease. 3. See 1.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Now, According to the Newspapers—the wet drinkers and the wet thinkers are out of luck! Down in Washington Atty. Gen. Mitchell says those birds can't have jobs any more that have anything to do with dry enforcement. That means district attorneys and dry sleuths. After this they've got to think dry and drink dry.

Well, it's all right with some people we know. A bootlegger—sure, we'll tell his name; his name is Max—told us the other day that getting arrested for peddling hootch wasn't what made him sore; it was being arrested by a dry sleuth who sways back and forth and wabbles a gun at him and says: "Shay, lishen, feller, lishen t' me; you're unner arresh, unner arresh fer shelling hoosch."

Well, of course you can't blame Max; that would make anybody mad. And Max says he doesn't mind the district attorney roaring at the jury: "This desperate criminal at the bar has broken the most sacred law of our glorious country. He was riding around with a quart of hootch! When a crime of that vile, felonious, and treasonable nature is committed our revolutionary fathers died in vain and the cornerstone of the government is busted off to hell!" Max says he honestly doesn't mind that a bit. What gives him an acute localized pain is when the district attorney's breath is so heavy with the odor of cocktails, white mule, and Canadian Scotch that the jury breaks down and weeps.

Oh, well, Mister Mitchell says he's going to stop all that. Still, if they won't stop for the constitution of the United States, maybe some of 'em won't stop even for Mr. Mitchell. We'll have to wait and see.

WILD BIRD.

Your hands may only keep me for the hour,
For as the wild birds pause on north-bound flight,
I linger, waiting, restless, through the night,
I go when morning calls the buds to flower,
Your hands may only keep me for the hour.

Go if you will, go now, I shall not hold you,
Your pride is like the mountains, strong and tall,
But pride will shatter in my cold hands thrall,
You will remember these things I have told you,
Go if you will, go now, I shall not hold you.

You will have nothing, I too will be gone,
Sorrow and grief and pain you will endure,
Sorrow and grief and pain will leave you poor,
The stars will fade and vanish in the dawn,
You will have nothing, I too will be gone.

Brave dreams you have, and these too will be broken,
Brave songs you sing, and these you shall forget
Before my song, to morning cadence set,
Bitterness will remain with you, a token,
Brave dreams you have, and these too shall be broken.

He who would tame a wild bird, tastes of sorrow,
Only the tender touch of fleeting wings
May recompense for lost and shattered things,
Remember that I will be gone tomorrow,
He who would tame a wild bird, tastes of sorrow.

THE WESTERNER.

"WIVES OF U. S. NAVAL DELEGATES have tea at British admiralty and hear ghost."—THE TRIB. Betcha that was the ghost of old John Paul Jones saying, "Surrender? I have just begun to fight!" Or it might be the ghost of Capt. Jim Lawrence of the Chesapeake saying again as he once said with his dying breath, "Don't give up the ship." Or again, maybe the ghost that is hovering around the American delegation over there in London is that of Davey Farragut still shouting through his trumpet as he stood lashed to the rigging, "Damn the torpedoes, go ahead!" And one more guess: that might be the ghost of John A. Dix, who sent the message at the beginning of the civil war, "If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot!" Yessir, that ghost prowling around our navy delegates over in London must be one of these. Or we shouldn't wonder if all four of them are haunting around over there now.

WE RECEIVE THE SCOTCH CURSE!

Shenkin Ap Morgan sent us a playing card yesterday—the nine of diamonds—with this written across the face: "It's on you because you changed the name of Tylwyth Teg to Tommy Atkins!" Ha, the nine of diamonds—the Scotch curse. Lay off, Shenkin Ap Morgan; we changed the name of our little hound, that now helps us in our labor by eating the contributions that fail to stick to the ceiling, to Tommy Atkins; but just wait before you put the Scotch curse on us! Tommy Atkins is just as good a Welsh name as Tylwyth Teg. Listen to what Robert Graves in Good-Bye to All That says about the traditions of the Welch (the regiment insists on spelling it "Welch") Fusiliers: "Perhaps the most legendary item was Thomas Atkins. He was a private soldier in the First Battalion (Welch Fusiliers) who had served under Wellington in the Peninsular War. It is said that when, many years later, Wellington at the War Office was asked to approve a specimen form for military attestation, he had ordered it amended from: 'I, Private John Doe of the blank regiment, do hereby, etc.,' to 'I, Private Thomas Atkins of the Twenty Third Foot, do hereby, etc.' . . ." There, Shenkin Ap Morgan, we changed the name of our Welsh hound—yes, but we kept it Welsh. And, besides, what right has a Welshman to put the Scotch curse on us? Instead of sending us the nine of diamonds you'd better buy Good-Bye to All That and read it: it's a great story. And quit spoiling perfectly good poker decks by taking the curse of Scotland out.

LAGNIAPPE.

WE NOTICED a case of bad reporting in THE TRIB yesterday. A story was published about an aged peasant, Johann Georgii, dying in Rumania at the age of 150 years. It admitted he left a hundred relatives, BUT the story did not say that Johann had never drank intoxicating liquor, nor smoked cigarettes, nor chewed tobacco; which, "as the aged man had often said, was the cause of his remarkable longevity." This is a grave error and the Rumanian correspondent should be immediately fired. (Wait, Henk, make that "immediately should be fired" before the split-infinitive hounds pick up the trail.)

SEC. STIMSON in his talk over the radio yesterday denounced the "ruthless" submarine in warfare. We hope the secretary keeps at work until we finally have a war that has nothing whatever in it that is ruthless. Shoot it with flowers!

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 29, 1865.

NEW YORK.—Gen. Sherman has issued an order with reference to the Negroes within the lines of his army. The young and able bodied men are to be encouraged to enlist in the military service. The South Carolina sea islands and the abandoned cotton fields of the Florida and South Carolina coasts are to be set aside for the settlement of the old men, women, and children. Since the capture of Savannah more than 15,000 slaves have come into our lines at that place and at Pocotaligo.

WASHINGTON.—Brig. Gen. Saxton has been assigned to duty as inspector of settlements and plantations in the department of the south. His work will consist mainly in providing for the comfort of the freedmen and their settlement upon abandoned and confiscated plantations.

NEW YORK.—The World's Port Royal letter mentions the arrival of heavy reinforcements for Sherman. Troops so far received are veterans. Gen. Grover succeeds Gen. Geary in command at Savannah. The morning papers are filled with peace gossip in connection with Francis P. Blair's visit to Richmond. The Times and World say his negotiations have proved a failure. The Tribune says the result is unknown to outsiders.

NEW YORK.—The Beaufort, S. C., correspondent of the Times says that Gen. Sherman's advance is at Saltketcher, midway between Charleston and Savannah.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Typographical union elected these officers: President, P. J. O'Connor; vice president, Charles Trudeau; secretaries, H. R. Clissold, J. M. Edson, and A. C. Cameron, and treasurer, W. A. Morley.

LONDON.—Had London been struck by a cyclone it could not have been more dazed than it was by Gen. Buller's announcement that he had withdrawn his forces, including that of Gen. Warren, back across the Tugela river. His losses in the battles of Spion Kop and the retreat are unknown here, but Boer sources report that 1,500 British soldiers died in the attempt to reach Ladysmith.

CHICAGO.—The city administration admitted that the city collector purposely violates the liquor license laws for reasons of financial expediency. Mayor Harrison said he believed in nursing the weak saloons along and declared the city makes $500,000 a year by such a policy.

CHICAGO.—Yesterday was the coldest day of the winter thus far. At 10 a. m. the thermometer stood at 3 degrees below zero.

CHICAGO.—Miss Anna Bowen, dean of the woman's college of Northwestern university, died suddenly. She was 27 years old and the youngest woman ever called to a position on the faculty of Northwestern.

SEA POWER AND THE WILL TO LIVE.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Your editorial statement in "Sea Power and the Will to Live" that "there is an official adoption of parity of naval power between the United States and Great Britain" is puzzling.

While Mr. Hoover so stated in his Armistice day address and Mr. Stimson repeated the statement at the first plenary session of the London conference, no official British statement to this effect has been published, nor has Mr. MacDonald or any other qualified British voice confirmed such understanding. The carefully phrased statements of Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald made at the close of their recent Washington conferences announced an agreement that the two nations should have "ship parity," which is quite another and lesser thing; the distinction being that "ship parity" refers only to parity in fleets of the two nations, while "parity in naval power" comprehends a parity of naval establishments in addition to ships or fleets, naval bases and other governmental equipment designed to augment fleet power and efficiency.

Owing to the great disparity between the two nations in number and strategic location of naval bases, naval parity with Great Britain can be obtained by the United States only through a very material superiority of its fleet in both battleships and ten thousand ton cruisers.

With Admiral Jones at the elbow of our delegation, no confusion of mind as to this matter can exist in London, and no confusion of the public mind exists on this side of the Atlantic as to the utter improbability that the British would assent to such superiority. Such assent is even more unthinkable than war between the two nations, especially now that Canada may be safely tucked away as a neutral in such event.

Mr. MacDonald's visit to this country served several useful British purposes: It stimulated the hopes and activities of our pacifists; confirmed Mr. Hoover in his determination to smother technical advice; maneuvered our London conference out of trading position and led many of our people to accept the evident, though somewhat canny, sincerity of Mr. MacDonald as representative of the mind of the British people.

In view of the expressed desire of Japan to withdraw from her 1922 agreement to accept a 5-3 ship ratio with the United States—in return for which we gave up our rights to an efficient fleet base in the western Pacific—a suggestion might be in order that we acquiesce in her demand for a 10-10-7 ratio and reclaim our natural right to such a base. Japan might object that her agreement to the 5-3 ratio applied in specific terms only to capital ships and carriers, but could hardly deny tacit application to all categories limited by treaty agreement. In face of England's retention of rights to the great naval base under construction at Singapore, and her possession of efficient bases in Australia and New Zealand, she could not object to the plan with good grace, and both France and Italy would gain in trade security by restoration of our ability to command respect for our enunciated policy of "the open door in China."

This restoration is much more probable of attainment than fleet superiority to Great Britain, would return our natural right and power to safeguard our territorial possessions and legitimate trade interests in the far Pacific and ultimately, through future possible readjustments, yield us approximate parity in naval power with Great Britain—the most essential condition to world peace and the maintenance of the present standard of living in the United States.

N. M. HUBBARD, Jr.

FROM THE CITY ENGINEER.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Your column of today contains the following communication:

"Is it not a fact that the bridge contractors for the Wabash avenue bridge should dispose of the dirt removed by hauling it out in the lake?

"For the last two weeks they have been dumping it in the river and are doing so now. Later on the taxpayers will have to pay to have the river dredged."

Allow me to point out that while it is correct that the contractors for the piers of the new Wabash avenue bridge during the last two weeks have been depositing part of the clay excavated on the outside of the cofferdams and consequently on the edge of the channel, this is but a temporary measure and before final settlement is made by the city the contractors will be obliged to dredge out the material so deposited and remove it to the lake or elsewhere.

The reason for the present procedure is two-fold. In the first place the severity of the present winter season makes it difficult or impossible to navigate dump scows into the lake at this time. In the second place it is highly desirable to protect the outside walls of the cofferdams during construction by means of these temporary clay deposits.

CALLING A SPADE A SPADE.

Monrovia, Cal., Jan. 23.—Why don't THE TRIBUNE editors more frequently refer to the world court by its full name, the name which its American advocates do not use, the permanent court of international justice of the league of nations? F. S.

PROHIBITION IN THE ARMY.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Secretary of War Hurley says the army must go dry or face a court martial. If that law were honestly enforced there wouldn't be enough soldiers left to form a regiment at the close of 1930. I do not mean that the men are drunkards. What red-blooded, fighting he-man doesn't take a drink during his enlistment? What army we would have if we were to enlist men who never broke the 18th! Suppose the navy made a good will tour around the world and when a man was found drinking while on shore leave in some foreign port he was put in the brig until the fleet arrived back in the U. S. A. The fleet would never arrive because there wouldn't be men enough to take it back.

I served during the war when men in uniform weren't supposed to be served liquor. Did it do any good? No. Because wherever you went the people seemed to feel sorry for us not being able to get a drink and were giving the boys plenty. The American troops are able to take care of themselves. To really enforce the 18th would demoralize the army. So let's hope it is enforced like the federal men enforce the law in Chicago.

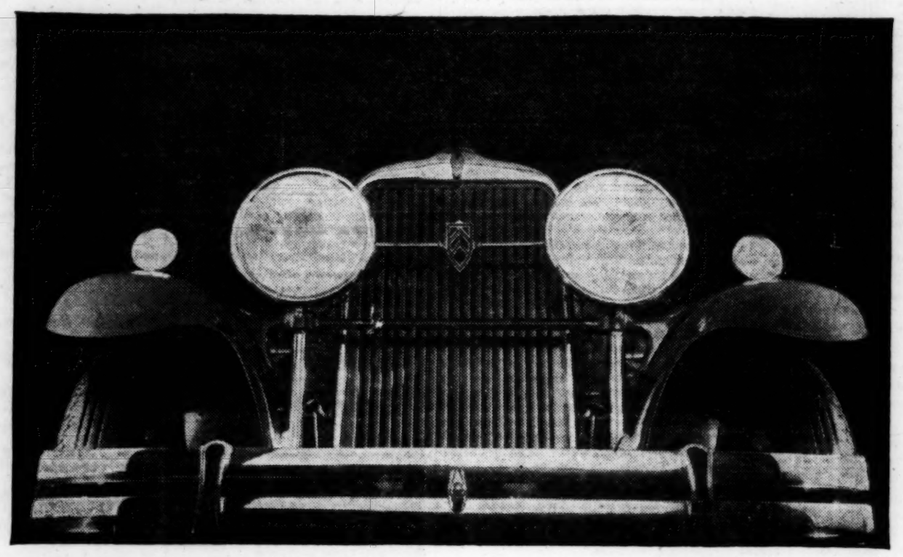
THE NEW PEERLESS



A PAGE FROM YESTERDAY—

The time is 1900. The scene—an early Chicago automobile show. The almost universal question—"Where is the Peerless White Streak?" The question is never answered because the crowd around the car is that answer. There it is in all its splendor—painted white and high in luster. The upholstery pigskin. The motor up front. The controls neatly placed—the most graceful, captivating car of its day.

TODAY there is a new Peerless. The scene is the same—Chicago. Thirty years have gone by. You would think that the "White Streak" and its early successors had long since been forgotten but not so—people still remember Peerless as the one car of this early day. Many of the people who come today to see the new Peerless come also to recall that it is a car which from the start has been one of the great landmarks of all automobile progress.

This rich tradition is a tangible, always present responsibility of the men who are now in charge of Peerless affairs. It is the purpose of these men to take Peerless carefully, studiously into the high ground of an even greater fine car leadership.

The three new Peerless cars shown here this week are the first out-growth of this effort. At Cleveland—days, nights, months, have been spent in planning, engineering and designing the cars which would be in every respect just that thing the public expects a Peerless to be.

The dominating thought of all has been to be sound—to take further time with the untried and unproved—to use only those features of design which had conclusively proved themselves to be dependable, efficient and safe. Peerless has a warm heart for experience—a constant guard against that which has yet to fully demonstrate itself.

The Peerless of today offers you among other things—a degree of style and appearance which hopes to be new and refreshing but which is sure of being well mannered and well born—a degree of performance which will take you there as fast as you like but above all is smooth and quiet—a simplicity and ease of operation which makes driving "second sense", never a thing to be actually thought out. Greatest of all, perhaps, Peerless offers you absolute assurance of satisfaction—the owner comes first in any and all expressions of the new Peerless policy.

A run-in with "the law" in the year 1904

With these fundamental factors at work and with a great new interest on the part of the public already expressed, the new Peerless organization looks forward to the next thirty years to be even more interesting and important than the first.

Representative models of the entire new Peerless line are on display, space 30, Coliseum. Will you see and ask to drive the new Peerless?

AUTO OFFICIALS DEMAND BETTER HIGHWAY SYSTEM

More Roads Called Main Need of Industry.

BY HAL FOUST.

The greatest advancement in automotive transportation during the next decade will be in improved pavements rather than in improved vehicles. This opinion was voiced yesterday not by road builders but by two leaders in the motor car business.

C. W. Nash, manufacturer of the car bearing his name, spoke before a company luncheon at the Congress, a gathering that incidentally celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday.

Clarence E. Eldridge, general sales manager of the Reo Motor Car company, was the principal speaker at the annual banquet last night of the National Automobile Dealers' association.

Need Better Roads.

"The public is looking to our industry to promote modern streets and highways," said Mr. Nash. "We have spent millions and have profited millions in giving the public each year a better automobile. Now it is time that the buyers of our cars are given better facilities for the operation of the vehicles."

Mr. Eldridge went so far as to say that the automobile industry will strangle unless there is prompt relief from traffic congestion.

"We have a selfish reason for getting behind the promotion of modern traffic facilities," he told the dealers "More than that, we have a moral obligation and a patriotic duty to help improve our streets and highways.

"We can't sell an automobile to John Jones unless Mr. Jones has a place to drive the car. Furthermore, we have already sold 26,000,000 cars now on the streets and highways and we are obligated to help the owners get a maximum of utility from those 26,000,000 cars.

Urges Super Highways.

"The most important argument, however, is that the cultural and economic development of our nation is dependent to a great extent upon motor transportation and this development can continue at its present rate only through the construction of superhighways, grade separations and elevated boulevards. Civilization—it may be said now as appropriately as at any time in history—can be measured by speed of transportation."

The banquet ended a two day session of the dealers' association. Si Histed, president of the Hudson Motor Company of Illinois, was elected president of the organization.

The National Automobile show at the Coliseum continued yesterday to draw crowds that augur well for the sale of the 1930 automobiles. The $5,000,000 exhibition will continue daily, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 10:30 p. m., until Saturday night.

PLAYS GOLF IN TWO STATES.

Living on the Texas-Arkansas line, Mrs. F. E. Pharr, of Texarkana, played in the state golf tournament in both states and now has two titles.

Auto Show Notes

Roy Faulkner, vice president of the Auburn Automobile company, addressed a meeting of his dealers and distributors at a luncheon yesterday, telling them that the company's total sales this year outnumber the sales for the same period of 1929. He added that more cars had been sold during the first three days of the Chicago automobile show than during the entire week of the New York show.

The three Graham brothers—Joseph B., Robert C., and Ray A.—outlined policies and 1930 prospects of the Graham-Paige company at a dealer luncheon yesterday. The toastmaster was George H. Bird, president of the Bird-Sykes company, Chicago distributor for Graham passenger and Paige commercial cars.

L. A. Miller, president of Willys-Overland, yesterday announced the election of George M. Graham as vice president in charge of sales.

G. M. Williams, president of the Marmon company, reports unusual activity at the automobile show, not only in actual sales, but also in public attendance and dealer interest.

James A. Bohannon, president of Peerless, in talking to his dealer organization yesterday, said that good management by the distributing mediums is the key to a healthy and normal year in the automotive industry during 1930.

TEST FOG DEVICE FOR PLANES AT LANSING TODAY

Earl C. Hanson, a research engineer of 5301 Kimbark avenue, who invented the audio cable used to guide steamers through the fog in New York harbor, will demonstrate his device for aerial navigation in fog and darkness with a Ford trimotored plane this morning at the Ford airport, Lansing, Ill.

The invention is based on the principle of electro-magnetic induction. Energized cables are laid parallel so as to form approaches to the landing spot and give off a code signal, one dots and the other dashes. A fog-blinded pilot, approaching the landing field, picks up the signals and steers between the lane of dots and dashes.

At the point where the signals reach greatest intensity the pilot knows he has reached the edge of the field and shuts off his engine for the glide to eatrth. The system is said to have been thoroughly tested during months of secret experiment by aviation officials and engineers. An adjunct is the electric altimeter, which gives the pilot his exact elevation above the signal cables.

Chrysler's test is the Industry's test

ANNOUNCEMENTS . . . announcements . . . announcements. . . . the papers are full of them! Read them all . . . analyze them . . . and what do you find?

Others are announcing as new to their cars features that Chrysler inaugurated months—and in some cases years—ago!

This is no boast! Look the field over. You simply cannot find a salient improvement in the newest of new cars that Chrysler does not offer in cars, not only tested beyond question in the laboratory, but by thousands and thousands of miles of practical use.

Tested and proved 4-speed transmissions with tested and proved high-compression engines. Chrysler has them.

Tested and proved quick, non-clashing, double-action gear shifts (permitting shifting BACK and FORTH between forward speeds regardless of how fast you may be driving). Chrysler has them.

Tested and proved down-draft carburetion—not simply a gravity-feed carburetor but complete down-draft manifolding as well (and there's a big difference in having one without the other!) Chrysler has them both.

Dreadnought body construction with all the latest comfort features—Chrysler has been seasons ahead with these just as Chrysler has led in providing noiseless rubber shackles that require no lubrication; flexible rubber engine mountings and impulse neutralizers; oil filters; invar steel strut pistons; four-wheel hydraulic brakes and scores of other features now being widely proclaimed as the latest engineering advancements.

In every instance, Chrysler's stamp of approval has meant almost universal adoption by the rest of the industry. FOR CHRYSLER'S TEST IS THE INDUSTRY'S TEST!

In the six years since the first Chrysler was introduced, the important advancements contributed by Chrysler actually outnumber the sum total of major improvements attributable to any other motor car.

So at the Automobile Show, when others point to advancements, learn what they are . . . then look at the Chrysler line.

If they are basic . . . if they are sound . . . if they have passed the experimental stage and actually contribute something worthwhile to final results in motoring efficiency, comfort, beauty, ease, style, economy or savings to the purchaser, you will find Chrysler has them . . . has HAD them . . . has tested them and proved them beyond the shadow of a doubt.

For Chrysler has established its place as the herald of engineering advancement, the pacemaker of performance and the criterion of style through such outstanding leadership in every phase of motoring that the ownership of a Chrysler inspires a pride all its own.

POLICE AND FIRE HEROES FETED AT TRIBUNE BANQUET

Chicago's Notables Give Bravery Its Due.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Weighty Chicagoans—judges, lawyers, heads of great civic departments—men accustomed to sitting in the high places at banquets—sat in the seats of the humble in a banquet room of the Drake hotel last evening and acclaimed men whose great deeds the community is wont to take pretty much for granted.

The occasion was this newspaper's second annual banquet in honor of men of the police and fire departments who in the last ten years have won THE TRIBUNE monthly prize for heroism in the performance of duty.

At one end and along each side of the room sat three score men whom ordinarily you see at the high tables.

Heroes at the High Tables.

But at the other end were the high tables, and at them sat 142 men "who," in the words on the menu cards, "fully aware of mortal danger, have, nevertheless, advanced to attack a law breaker or to save a life."

"There they are," said Justice Frederic R. De Young of the Illinois Supreme court, "a needed inspiration to all in the public service!"

From the presence of the tiers upon tiers of calm-eyed, square jawed men whom he faced the justice drew a moral for that uncertain civic quantity which he defined as "the average citizen"—the citizen who neglects to vote, who avoids jury service, and who is "too busy" to serve in public office.

A Lesson for Duty Dodgers.

"Evaders," said Justice De Young, "of brief and far from perilous public service while these men whom we honor tonight, often unjustly criticized and seldom duly praised, carry on at the risk of life a glorious tradition of public service. They it is who teach us the examples of that eternal vigilance which is not alone the price of liberty, but which, especially in its application to local affairs, is the price of good government. They it is who realize for us Lincoln's prayer, 'Let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it.'

"Let us emulate their example, for only with such emulation can come a better and brighter day in public administration."

Heroes Blush at Praise

Last evening's honor guests proved the jurist's contention. They did more. They showed that they dread it. When, after recital of his heroic deeds, man after man was called upon to rise and show the company what a silent, unasking hero looks like, then that man's specialty was blushing, and his way out of embarrassment was promptly to sit down.

But what had these champion blushers done?

Consider the case of Lieut. Andrew Barry, thrice a winner of THE TRIBUNE award. One of his achievements was a running duel in pursuit of a robber—out a window in pursuit, down a telephone pole in pursuit, over fences, through back yards, under a steady fire all the way. And he got his man.

And Sergt. Frank J. Reynolds—pursuit amid a fusillade from one room to another, in and out, up and down, every chance to evade, to think of his own skin, and to give up the fight. But he got his man.

Fireman John L. Fenn—into a flaming building to rescue a distracted woman's son, stairs burning and no way there, then by a ladder into smoke filled rooms—and the rescue.

James O'Neil, policeman—pursuing under fire, wounded and again wounded, fainting from loss of blood. But he got his man without firing a shot and took him barehanded into the station.

"Why didn't you fire, Jim?" exclaimed his fellow policemen.

"Because," said gasping James, "I wanted to get me hands on him." Big, bald, gray mustached O'Neil rose and bowed to the applauding—but meek—notables at the low tables, and his blush surrounded him like an aureole.

They're Men of Deeds.

And so it went—the heartiest, most genuine banquet oratory ever you heard, because the peroration of each crisp little speech of tribute was not words and more words, but the silent, diffident rising up before your eyes of men who represented grim duty greatly performed.

White and colored heroes sat together in a comradeship that knew no color line, for they had walked too often with death to be worrying about differences that disturb lesser men's minds.

A program of song enlivened the occasion, and it was contributed not only by the men of the police and fire forces but also by choir boys from the Holy Name cathedral and by Miss Margery Maxwell, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera company.

WAR HERO READY TO SWAP D. S. C. FOR JOB; CAN'T EAT IT, HE SAYS

Boston, Mass., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Holder of a distinguished service cross, awarded for rescuing a wounded comrade under fire during the Château Thierry offensive, Marion Simatra, 167 Putman street, East Boston, is willing to swap his hero medal for a job. He was wounded in earning the cross.

Simatra, with a wife and three youngsters, one of whom is ill, is walking the streets, looking for work. He carries his distinguished service cross with him.

SNOWDEN FILM STARTS RIOT IN CZECH THEATER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Jan. 28.—Anti-British feeling following Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden's alleged "insult" of Czecho-Slovakia at the recent Hague conference for adoption of the Young plan broke out here tonight in a movie house. When a news reel showed Mr. Snowden signing the Hague agreement hundreds rose, hissed, and yelled:

"Down with Snowden! Down with Great Britain!"

The movie apparatus was stopped until order was restored. Nationalist newspapers tonight demanded a boycott on all British textiles until an apology is offered for Mr. Snowden's harsh words. The British chancellor, according to the press, compared Czechs to a thug who steals one's last two matches and then offers to give one back against payment of all loose cash.

New York's New Traffic Rules in Effect Tomorrow

New York, Jan. 28.—Special.]—Trucks and other commercial traffic are to be barred from the immediate vicinity of the Grand Central terminal under new traffic zone regulations made public today. They go into effect Thursday morning for a fifteen day trial. Curtailment of parking, elimination of left and complete turns on parts of 42d street and of cab stands in front of the railroad station and Commodore hotel are ordered.

NORTHWEST SIDE FACES NEW BUS SERVICE TANGLE

Companies Tell I. C. C. of Attitudes.

The Chicago Surface lines yesterday, before the Illinois commerce commission, offered to install trolley buses on only a portion of 34 miles of northwest side streets in answer to the threats of the Chicago Motor Coach company to abandon service completely if the surface lines were given permission to operate in Diversey and Belmont avenues.

The attitudes of both the coach company and surface lines were outlined fully in statements given out by James G. Condon, counsel for the coach company, and Francis X. Busch, attorney for the street car company.

Members of the commission indicated they were loathe to issue any order which would drive the existing motor coach service off the streets and leave the northwest side without adequate transportation for the three months which the surface lines said would be needed to install trolley buses.

Urges Early Decision.

"In justice to the people of the far northwest side and the Chicago Motor Coach company, the commission should hand down an early decision," declared Mr. Condon.

"The attitude of the coach company is this: We do not oppose the installation of surface line 'feeder' bus service by the Chicago Railways company in Diversey and Belmont avenues if carried on in connection with lines to be operated in the remainder of the territory.

"If the commission orders the Chicago Railways company to install feeder bus service in Diversey avenue, it also should order the Chicago Motor Coach company simultaneously to cease and desist from all operations on the lines heretofore mentioned. Our company, for reasons which have been made clear, cannot be expected to operate these other lines without Diversey. In justice we should not be expected to do so.

Cites Diversey Line Revenue.

"We have stated that the average daily revenue passengers carried on the lines in question is approximately 28,000; approximately 5,200 of those passengers are carried on our Diversey avenue line, or about 19 per cent of the total passengers carried. With the Diversey avenue line taken out of our system, our current losses would be greatly increased and we would have no reason to hope that we could recoup the pioneering losses incurred up to Dec. 31, 1929. Surely the commission would not favor such a situation.

"The surface lines have promised to install buses in all 34 miles of territory. Now it comes in and offers to install the buses on only a portion of the territory and then only if allowed to use part of its special equipment fund.

"Our only question is: Will the surface lines make good on its first promises? If it can guarantee this, we're willing to withdraw."

Describe Proposed Routes.

The surface lines bus routes which were proposed yesterday were as follows: Belmont avenue from Central avenue west to Narragansett; Diversey avenue from Milwaukee avenue west to Narragansett; Narragansett avenue from Irving Park boulevard to North avenue; North avenue from Narragansett avenue to Austin avenue; Central avenue from Lexington avenue to Milwaukee avenue; Elston avenue from Lawrence avenue to Milwaukee avenue.

These routes are approximately 16 of the 34 miles of routes which the motor coach company threatens to abandon. Attorney Busch contended, however, that 95 per cent of the persons living in the involved area would have service to within four blocks of any of the routes.

"What if the commission should order you to install service on 25 miles instead of on the 16 you propose—should we decide that public convenience and necessity require it?" asked Chairman Charles W. Hadley of the commission.

Threatens Court Action.

"Then, if in our opinion public necessity and convenience did not demand the additional 10 miles, we would go to the courts," answered Attorney Busch. "We propose to do only what the special equipment and renewal fund, which is replenished monthly with an average of $355,740, permits us to do this year."

The commission took under advisement the motion of Attorney Busch to file a supplemental answer in addition to the statement read to sustain the allegations of financial ability to install the trolley buses.

BERLIN'S MAYOR QUITS FOLLOWING GRAFT SCANDAL

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Dr. Gustav Boess, mayor of Berlin, who visited the United States in October, resigned his office today. Dr. Boess was allowed leave of absence on Nov. 2 for an inquiry into charges of graft in Berlin city contracts. He learned of the scandal while in the United States but refused to return immediately.

On his return to Berlin he was greeted by hissing throngs and his picture was removed from the city hall. He asked for thorough inquiry into the charges to give him an opportunity to clear himself.

In a letter to the municipality announcing his intention of resigning, he affirmed that he was still convinced he would be acquitted, but was taking the step "in the interests of the city."

SCHOOL CHIEFS URGED TO CALL AIRPORT MEETING

Action Asked to Prepare Field for Spring.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe yesterday urged a special meeting of school trustees to arrange a public hearing on the proposed lease of school land at 63d and Cicero avenue to provide for the expansion of the Municipal airport.

Mr. Wolfe called attention to the seriousness of the airport situation and stressed the necessity of expediting negotiations between the city and the school board so that more landing area may be obtained for the spring rush of air traffic.

Wolfe Promises Speed.

"There will be no delay in the negotiations once the matter reaches us," Mr. Wolfe said yesterday. "As soon as the school board sends us their proposition it will go to the council subcommittee on aviation, headed by Ald. Massen, then to the finance committee, and from there to the council for final action. The city's attitudes of course, will depend upon the terms offered us by the board, but I see no reason why we cannot work out an agreement which will be fair and profitable to both parties."

Theophilus Schmid, chairman of the schools' committee on buildings and grounds, said last night that he will confer with President Caldwell of the school board today on the possibility of holding a meeting of the committee next week, at which all parties concerned in the leasing of the 600 acres of land now partly occupied by the air field could be heard. He expressed the belief that the meeting could be held next Wednesday.

Mrs. Helen Hefferan, who last week had Trustee Schmid's recommendation for the transfer of the airport property set aside and sent to the board's lawyers for legal advice, stated last night that she would not object to a special meeting but indicated that she would not favor the leasing of the land to the city.

Propose 50 Year Lease.

The recommendation made by Chairman Schmid at that time called for a fifty year lease to the city for $26 an acre per year and half of the net profits accruing from the subleasing of the airport land.

Air operators pointed out yesterday that the regular routine of the school board and the city council would make it impossible to bring about the transfer of the airport property before April.

STEAL CLOTHING FROM HOME OF A. D. LASKER

Burglars yesterday entered the home of A. D. Lasker, former head of the United States shipping board, in Old Mill road, Lake Forest, and stole a polo coat valued at $1,000 and an overcoat valued at $350. More than $1,000 worth of silverware, trinkets and vases, which the burglars were preparing to take, were found piled up in the center of the floor. It is believed that the burglars fled when they heard the caretaker, Robert Bradon, approach. Mr. Lasker and his wife are out of town.

Rabbits Invade 2 Towns When Snow Gets Too Deep

Bend, Ore., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Jack rabbits invaded the eastern Oregon cities of Bend and Redmond today after they were forced to seek new feeding grounds because of the deep snow in their usual habitat.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

Today POSTAL TELEGRAPH Opens a new chapter in the Telegraph History of Chicago

You are invited to visit this modern telegraph office—and to use it not only for writing and sending telegrams, but for meeting friends. Here, also, Postal Messengers are obtained for carrying packages, running errands.

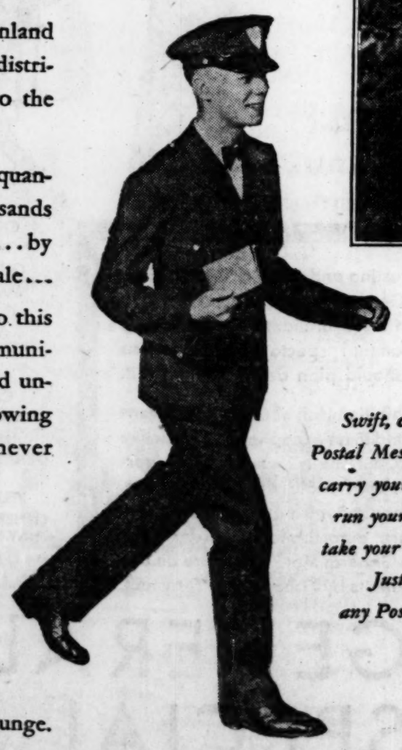
CHICAGO . . . capital of a great inland empire . . . nerve center of distribution, important not only to the United States, but to the world . . .

A gateway through which move vast quantities of wheat, beef, iron ore . . . thousands of products of farm, mine and factory . . . by water, rail and air . . . retail and wholesale . . .

Nothing could be more essential to this teeming city than its telegraphic communications—for, without their speed and unfailing accuracy, this constantly growing nerve center of the nation could never efficiently function.

Keeping pace with Chicago's tremendous growth, Postal Telegraph is glad to announce the opening today of a new modernized headquarters with a spacious ground floor office combining efficiency with the pleasant, comfortable surroundings of a club lounge.

This is a part of the comprehensive program of Postal Telegraph which is rapidly being put into effect for improving the telegraph service to the people of the United States. At this or any of the conveniently located Postal Telegraph offices in Chicago your telegrams will be handled with accuracy, reliability, speed. And you get a written, private record of the message sent. The turn of a key on a Postal call box brings an alert Postal Messenger to your office.



Swift, courteous Postal Messengers will carry your packages, run your errands, take your telegrams. Just call any Postal office

Or just call Postal over the telephone and give your message to the operator. If your office is equipped with the new Typing Telegraph, your messages flow instantly to this central Postal headquarters. From the new Postal Telegraph office in the Insurance Exchange Building, 166 West Van Buren Street, or any Postal Telegraph office anywhere, you can get into communication with the entire world—through the International System.

Messages to and from ships at sea over Mackay Radio—to Europe and the Orient, connecting with the rest of the world over Commercial Cables—to the West Indies, Central and South America over All America Cables.

LONGER BRIDGE CLOSING PERIODS DENIED BY U. S.

Objects to Amendment of Rules on Loop Spans.

The war department, dictator of river and bridge rules, denied Chicago relief from the open bridge evil. It will not sanction longer closed periods, nor will it allow the city council to legislate toward eliminating the right of tugs to call for open spans at any hour of the day, no matter how heavy pedestrian or vehicular traffic may be.

These edicts are set forth in a communication from the secretary of war forwarded yesterday to Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe by Maj. H. J. Wild, resident government engineer.

The ruling objects to the bridge ordinance amendment, which would increase the closed hours for loop bridges by thirty minutes mornings and evenings and provide an additional hour and a half closed period on Saturday afternoons. The amendment was passed by the city council on June 26, 1929, and last Jan. 20 the secretary approved the adverse recommendation of the chief of engineers.

Would Ignore Ruling.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], chairman of the council subcommittee on harbors and bridges, suggested last night that the council disregard the ruling, pass a bridge ordinance to suit itself, and wait for the government to act.

"We tried our best to evolve an ordinance that would be likely to gain the approval of the war department," Ald. Rowan said, "and we had a hard time keeping some members of the committee from insisting on fixed bridges. That would have put a stop to the nuisance for good and all. But the corporation counsel has already offered an opinion giving the city the right to regulate its own bridges, and I'm in favor of drafting an ordinance closing the bridges for whatever period the public wants them closed. We might also go to Washington and ask for a hearing on our side of this controversy."

Must Open at Any Time.

The war secretary said the closed periods were not to apply to bridges having a clearance of less than 16 feet above the water surface. "Such bridges," the ruling read, "shall open at any time to permit the passage of harbor tugs."

Most bridges have that amount of clearance when the water level is normal, but in the spring and fall the clearance sometimes is reduced as much as three feet.

It was suggested to the Rowan subcommittee last summer that if the unvarying city datum were fixed as the point from which clearance is measured, instead of the water surface, tugs and other craft would be forced to wait until closed hours before proceeding through the river.

That plan was originally suggested by Lieut. Col. W. C. Weeks, then chief federal engineer here. When the district was divided, however, Maj. Wild took over the bridge situation and told the subcommittee that he believed the war department would oppose such an action.

"He told us," Rowan said, "that the shipping interests were entitled to first consideration."

Shifts Closed Periods.

The only change approved by the secretary of war is a slight shift in the closed periods on the north and south branches of the river, which does not lengthen the periods, but only synchronizes them with traffic demands. Downtown the bridges are closed only from 7 to 9:30 a. m. and from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m. The amendment extended the morning period to 10 o'clock and set 4 o'clock as the time when the afternoon period should begin.

Maj. Wild's comment last night was: "From the start of this controversy last summer there has been no tendency on the part of the navigation interests to interfere with land traffic any more than is absolutely necessary."

PRIEST RESCUES HIS SUPERIOR FROM FIRE IN NORTH SIDE CHURCH

Msgr. William Cahill, pastor of Our Lady of Mercy church, 4432 North Troy street, was rescued from a fire which inflicted $5,000 damage in the church vestry and the adjoining Rev. Francis Gorman, assisted by Fireman Francis Guyhan of truck 38.

A passing motorist, who saw smoke coming from the vestry windows, turned in an alarm. Father Gorman, plunging into the smoke filled study, found Msgr. Cahill partly overcome. He had been napping on a lounge when the blaze, which was of unknown origin, started. Although scorched about the face and hands, Msgr. Cahill last night was chiefly concerned over the damage to his library, valued at $10,000, and to the church vestments.

Air Pilot Burns to Death as Stunting Ship Crashes

New York, Jan. 28.—[Speical.]—A stunting airplane crashed this afternoon at Murchio Flying field, Preakness, N. J., killing the pilot and critically injuring a passenger. The pilot, Christopher Adams of Haledon, N. J., was burned to death. George Pinder, also of Haledon, was thrown clear when the plane hit the earth. He was unconscious when aid reached him.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT ROBBED.

Gas from Auto Kills Man Overcome by It Before

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—John J. Brennan, 33, failed to learn his lesson when carbon monoxide fumes overcame him last December. He was revived then by firemen, but today he was found unconscious in his garage, the motor of his automobile running and the doors of the garage shut. Two hours' effort with an inhalator failed to resuscitate him. Brennan apparently was pumping a tire when he collapsed. Six weeks ago two of his children found him unconscious in the garage and summoned firemen.

Suitor Shot by Deputy in Street Quarrel Dies

A bullet wound inflicted last Nov. 16 by Deputy Sheriff Matthew O'Brien proved fatal last night to Michael Cuff, 28 years old, 1449 East 56th street, who died in the county hospital. Cuff was engaged in a street quarrel with his sweetheart, Miss Sarah Lynch, 25 years old, 7927 Emerald avenue, when O'Brien stepped in. Cuff knocked the deputy down and O'Brien fired, the bullet piercing Cuff's body.

HERE is a dentifrice that will win you the moment you try it.

You will be delighted by the wonderful refreshing effect it has on the mouth—a feeling of cleanliness, invigoration and well-being that you associate with Listerine itself.

Note, too, how gently but how swiftly it erases tartar and discolorations from the teeth. Note how it penetrates into those hard-to-get-at crevices between teeth, and sweeps away fermenting food particles.

After you have tried Listerine Tooth Paste a few days, examine your teeth and see how much more attractive they are. You will also perceive that they are beginning to have a delicate, lovely luster. This is due to the presence of modern polishing agents, which keep teeth looking their best.

You will discover an immediate improvement in the hygiene of your mouth and the appearance of your teeth.

Moreover, Listerine Tooth Paste is safe for all types of teeth. Its cleansing ingredients are the most costly obtainable and are selected because of their gentle action. They simply cannot harm enamel.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks sped to a well earned National league hockey victory over the Ottawa Senators here tonight, 2 to 1. The visitors came from behind to win on goals in the second and third periods after the home club had taken a lead on Hec Kilrea's tally in the opening period.

Gottselig tied the score in the second period and Art Somers won the game on a three man dash eight minutes before the end of play.

RANGERS, 4; AMERICANS, 3

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The third battle between New York's two hockey rivals, the Rangers and Americans, ended tonight with the most unusual of hockey occurrences, an awarded goal, which gave the Rangers a 4 to 3 victory in an overtime period.

After battling on even terms for 75 minutes, the winning goal was given to Butch Keeling of the Rangers without making a shot. Joe Simpson, American defense man, threw his stick in an effort to halt Keeling's rush in the overtime period. For this violation the goal was awarded.

TWO ILLINI ENTER GOLDEN GLOVES DANVILLE TRIALS

Hamilton, Steeve File for First Tests.

Several cities will start their sectional Golden Gloves tournaments today to pick teams for the Chicago finals at the Coliseum. The Springfield, Ill., meet opens this afternoon. South Bend, Ind., fighters swing into action tonight, as also do the contestants at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Rockford, Ill.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Two University of Illinois students, one of whom competed in last year's tournament, will take part in THE TRIBUNE'S annual Golden Gloves tryouts at Danville, Ill., Feb. 10 to 15. Winners in each class will compete in the grand finals at the Coliseum here beginning Feb. 25.

Jack Hamilton, a junior, has entered the 175 pound competition. Hamilton was eliminated in the semi-final rounds last year. He has improved so that he now is picked to win the light heavyweight title at Danville. Hamilton can punch with either hand.

Ed Steeve of Chicago, an Illini senior, will be the other entrant fighting in the 160 pound tests at Danville. Steeve, like Hamilton, can use both hands for punching. Steeve and Hamilton are working daily in the university gymnasium.

Brown Heads Fighters.

Another downstate boy to compete at Danville will be Aaron Bray of Champaign High school.

The Champaign and Urbana delegations in the Danville eliminations are in charge of James G. Brown of Champaign. For years Brown has staged amateur and professional shows in the university cities; many in the interests of charity. Brown believes Bray, Hamilton, and Steeve will qualify for the Coliseum finals.

Earl Vermilyer of St. Charles, Ill., is another whose entry was received for the 135 pound class. Frank Hrebick of Coal City, Ill., will contest in the same division, while Reno Pagni of Cicero will take part in the featherweight trials at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium Feb. 11.

Al Riedel of Joliet, Ill., filed for the heavyweight division. He will represent the Hub Recreation club. Riedel has competed in several downstate tournaments. Richard Clark of Harvey, Ill., will compete in the featherweight class. Tom Jiardine of Maywood is a middleweight entry. Virgil Pairie of Momence, Ill., nominated himself for the 147 pound class.

Fight Tickets on Sale.

Boxers who enter the tourney are requested to sign their given names. No entries bearing a prefix such as "Kid" or "Knockout" will be accepted. Several such entries already have been rejected. Contestants also must fill out the entry blanks as directed. Registration with the A. A. U. is a prerequisite. No entry fee is necessary.

Ex-Olympic Champ Wins Trevose, Pa., Target Shoot

Trevose, Pa., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Frank Troeh of Portland, Ore., former Olympic champion shot, won the second day's shoot of the Trevose Gun club today with a perfect score of 50. Second place went to N. B. Pillot of Houston, Tex., and E. W. Renfo of Dell Mont., each breaking 49.

In the 100 blue rock shoot, Steve M. Crothers of Philadelphia, former national target champion, scored 99 hits out of a possible 100. Renfo and Springer were next with 96 each.

LOYOLA'S CHARLIE IS READY

Feed's Got It on Stretch; Faster, Handles Ball Better

BY HARLAND ROHM.

That other Charles Murphy, who will captain Loyola in the basketball game of the year when the Ramblers meet Purdue Thursday, is another skinny lad who played ball awkwardly until he grew up, lost his clumsiness, and learned how to handle a basketball like a juggler. In fact he almost was forced to grow big, because he's the youngest of the family and labored under the handicap of being bossed by four older sisters. He admits [with a grin] they still boss him.

At that he didn't grow quite as tall as Purdue's Murphy, his 6 feet 4 being two inches less than Stretch's height, but he carries exactly the same number of pounds, a scant 185. It isn't because of the same weight for lesser height — he's still plenty slender — or because of his appetite he's known as Feed. That name came because he feeds the ball to his teammates from his position on the foul line with the skill of Dutch Dehnert.

Feed is as much a Chicagoan as Stretch is a Hoosier, for his homes have covered Chicago like he covers a hardwood floor. The Loyola captain was born on the west side and spent most of his boyhood there. Then he moved south to live around 63d and Maplewood and a few months ago moved to the north side and lives only a few blocks from Loyola university.

Played with Prep Champs.

As a boy he attended the Holy Family Grammar school, which adjoins St. Ignatius High school. As a lanky lad he got basketball experience with the high school boys on an outdoor basketball court and when he graduated and entered St. Ignatius he was only a lightweight, but good enough to make the heavyweight team. That team won the Catholic championship that year.

After four years of high school basketball, during which he developed into a fine ball handler but still was somewhat clumsy and unfinished, he entered Loyola. With the years—he's 21 now—the fumbling feet of the awkward years left him and he's become graceful.

Though he played end on the football team and first on the baseball team in high school, Feed dropped the other sports to concentrate on basketball when he entered Loyola. He still bowls and swims as recreation and to keep in condition in off seasons and is reputed to have more than average skill in both.

Feed is a good looking chap with light brown curly hair, and inasmuch as his father died while he was a youngster and he's been reared by his mother and four sisters he hasn't any fear of the feminine sex.

Feed a Shade Speedier.

The girls admit he's a "darb" of a dancer and his quick grin and usual liveliness make him a heavy date for any of the feminine basketball fans.

While impressions gathered from watching men at different times are inclined to be erroneous, Feed Murphy seems just a little faster than Stretch Murphy. Stretch has an advantage in height and reach, while Feed perhaps has a shade in ball handling. In shooting it is hard to compare them. Both are mighty good, but their coaches teach different styles of games.

Feed probably will average a greater percentage of baskets from shots taken, but Loyola's style of game permits only under the basket and set shots. Purdue takes more shots but not always from such excellent positions.

CARPENTERS AND NORWEGIANS TIED FOR SOCCER LEAD

The Carpenters and the Norwegian teams of the Chicago Indoor Soccer league are tied for first place after last night's games at the Chicago Stadium.

The Brickies were defeated by the Carpenters, 2 to 1, while the German All-Stars succumbed to the Norwegians, 2 to 0. Results of the other games:

Jugo-Slavs, 1; Spartas, 0.
Swedish-Americans, 2; Jewish All Stars, 0.

Fight Decisions

PING-PONG'S NO LONGER IN 'WAY BACKWHEN CLASS

Returns with a Bang at Highland Park.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Shades of the naughty nineties! Sophisticated Chicago has succumbed to ping-pong. That devastating pastime at which our grandmothers and fathers spent hours capering around a table when the game was young has returned in its hoary age to prime favor, not only with the rising generation, but also with a goodly share of the risen. If it went out without a murmur it came back last night with a bang.

It has crept upon Chicago unaware, biding its time in Y. M. C. A. and club recreation rooms, developing its experts and winning its adherents steadily but surely. Until now it has modestly refrained from making any bid for public favor or acclaim, or even emphasized its presence.

Its First Chicago Meet.

All that is changed since the Highland Park club last night staged in that up and coming suburb the first Chicago district ping-pong championship tournament.

Ninety-five entrants competed at the seven tables set up in the club ballroom.

At the finish of the tourney it was found that Ray Leininger was champion of the Chicago district, R. E. Clark had won the title for Highland Park, and that W. B. McDonald was the slickest player among the members of the Highland Park club. Silver cups were the trophies presented.

The tournament found Highland Park at fever heat. An indication of the interest and enthusiasm there was seen in the fact that the event attracted the greatest crowd that has gathered in the clubhouse in the last few years. Among the rooters who lined the sides of the ballroom and crowded close to the various competitors was Gen. Robert E. Wood, who lives nearby. Mayor Benjamin F. Lewis was perspiring in the ranks of the contestants, keeping his opponent, Bill Nunn, of high school age, on his toes. Dr. Carl A. Meyer, head of the Cook County hospital staff, had cast medical dignity aside and was hard at it with racquet and ball.

Takes a Sure Hand.

For the benefit of those still in ignorance of what it's all about, a brief explanation of the game might be in order. A table is arranged with a net a few inches high separating it into north and south halves, which are marked off into two courts each. The player at one end of the table serves the light, celluloid ball across the net, his opponent returning it as in tennis. Balls are served into alternate courts in turn, the serve changing after 5 points. The game is 21, the player first securing that number of points being the winner.

It takes a sure hand and a quick eye, and any one who is not light on his feet had better go in for something different, for the active player has all the advantage.

Officials for the evening were Robert E. Clark, R. C. Platt, and C. L. Odell. M. J. Traub, president of the Highland Park club, was one of the most enthusiastic fans. After which, it will not be such a shock to learn that Chicago is to be the scene of an international ping-pong tournament in 1933, as part of the athletic program being arranged for the world's fair.

And with such sponsorship as the Highland Park club provided last night, it is only a question of time until our most socially active debutantes will be inquiring hopefully of their newest swains,

"O, do you ping," or whatever the parlance may be.

FIRM FOUNDATION

Firm foundations make possible gigantic structures. Perhaps that accounts for the unusual size of Primo Carnera's feet. The giant Italian, who makes his Chicago fight debut Friday, wears No. 16 size shoes.

Carnera's Not So Wonderful, Says Rioux

Elzear Rioux, large French-Canadian woodsman, who has been chosen to be the person knocked out by Primo Carnera at the Chicago Stadium next Friday night, is getting a little sensitive in contemplation of his chore. You might even say his pride is rebelling.

Elzear yesterday undertook to convince interviewers that he is a rather colorful behemoth in his own right. For instance, he claimed the world's knockout record and told of conquering a bear which was much larger than Carnera.

Elzear claims that a lumberjack slapped him on the head with an ax (he shows the scar) and that six other lumberjacks laughed at his discomfiture. Whereupon he forthwith knocked out all seven lumberjacks in rapid succession. It was as a result of this mêlée that he decided to make money out of fighting.

The incident of the bear is even more inspiring. The bear had to bite off two of Elzear's fingers before the big Canadian became aroused. He hit the bear on the nose, then conquered him with a knife. The bear's skin and the absence of two fingers are offered by Elzear as evidence of his love of the truth.

Bear or no bear, figures show that Rioux is not hopelessly outsized by Sig. Carnera. Here is the comparison:

CARNERA.		RIOUX.
23	Age	26
6 ft. 7 ins.	Height	6 ft. 4 ins.
270	Weight	210
85	Reach	81
48	Chest [normal]	46
54	Chest [expanded]	49
20	Neck	17
38	Waist	35
30	Thigh	24
19	Calf	17
11	Ankle	10
18½	Biceps	16
17	Forearm	14½
11	Wrist	9

Rioux is not unknown to Chicago fans, having lost a decision to Hein Mueller at the Stadium several weeks ago. The Mueller decision is explained by Elzear, who says that Mueller weighed thirty pounds less than he and was just a little bit too sprightly.

Purvis Outpoints Petrolle in 10 Rounds at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Jackie Purvis of Toronto, welterweight, won a ten round decision over Billy Petrolle of Fargo here tonight. It was a slugging match.

Petrolle started fast, but Purvis caught up with him in the sixth round when a hard right ripped a cut over the left eye of the Fargo Express. It was the first bout for Petrolle since last September, he having been on an enforced vacation because of an injured eye.

Russ Martin's 73 Leads Qualifiers in Pan-American

Edgewater Park, Miss., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Russ Martin of Chicago today shot a medalist score of 73 in the qualifying round of the third annual Pan-American amateur golf tournament on the Edgewater Gulf hotel course.

Fred Lamprecht, New Orleans, former national intercollegiate champion, turned in the second low score, a 75, and Evans was third with a 76.

Al Welch, Biloxi, Miss.	40	39	79
Lee Schneider, Oshkosh, Wis.	41	40	81
Elmer Cozard, Chicago	41	40	81
Walter C. Schrearer, Mobile	43	38	81
Don Armstrong, Aurora, Ill.	43	38	81
Henry Hafer, Chicago	45	36	81
Gus Novotny, Chicago	44	38	82
Frank Justin, Chicago	39	44	83
H. F. Bowber, Chicago	40	43	83

Spaulding Wins C. A. A. Presidency by Surprise Vote

Charles B. Spaulding, candidate on the members' ticket, yesterday was elected president of the Chicago Athletic association. He defeated James G. Barsoloux, who led the regular ticket, 1,117 votes to 651. It was one of the greatest surprise elections in the history of the club.

CHARLES B. SPAULDING.

The newly elected president was born in Iowa and has been a member of the Cherry Circle club since 1898. He is president of the New Century Floor company, which was established in 1894. Mr. Spaulding also belongs to the Medinah A. C., Olympia Fields Country club, and is secretary of the Illinois Senior's Golf association. He succeeds Oliver R. Hogue.

George Williams, a member of Cherry Circle football teams of the late 90s, was elected vice president. Williams has been a life member of the club since 1892.

Thomas H. Heneage was reelected secretary, and Harry N. Grut, treasurer.

REFEREE MADE SCORING ERROR, COMISH FINDS

Braddock Had Been Given Draw.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Leo Lomski, aggressive light heavyweight boxer, may not know it, but he won a decision over James J. Braddock at the Coliseum on Jan. 17. Until yesterday, it was generally considered that the encounter would go down in the records as a draw, as announced from the ring immediately after the bout. Yesterday the Illinois boxing commission, ever equal to any occasion, said there had been some fuzzy adding of the scorecards and righted the wrong by figuratively holding up the arm of the absent Lomski in belated token of victory.

Of course Leo had been happy in the knowledge of a moral victory, for 6,000 fans who had braved eight below zero weather to witness the fight stood for five minutes and booed the draw decision, interspersing cheers for Leo the while.

The Commission Explains.

The commission attempted to show that the unusual procedure was not a reversal of a decision but merely the correction of a decision inadvertently given by Dave Miller, referee of the fight. An eleven day delay in announcing the correction was disposed of with the explanation that Miller has been out of town.

Walter George, secretary of the commission, said last night that he had discovered an error in Miller's scoring the night of the fight but too late for a correction to be made from the ring in the presence of Miller. Miller then left town and news of the correction was withheld from the press pending the formal meeting of the commission yesterday afternoon.

While the action of the commission was nothing more than a routine matter, it caused great consternation among the gambling element. Betting on the Lomski-Braddock affair was said to have been heavier than on any other clash of the winter season.

Those who became paper winners yesterday angrily are seeking to liquidate but with little success. Stakeholders, of course, returned all bets on the announcement of the draw.

Miller's explanation was that he had been the victim of poor arithmetic, the excited frenzy of Announcer Al Smith, and a comparatively new and confusing system of scoring.

Figures Were Blurred.

"Announcer Smith grabbed my score card before I had a chance to re-add my tally," Davie said last night. "I had added up the scores of the two fighters and found the totals to be 50 for each fighter, a circumstance that surprised me, for my general impression had been that Lomski had won, as I stated to the fighters in the dressing room after the fight.

"I was perspiring freely and some of the numbers had been blurred by perspiration. The total on my own original figures should have been 53 points for Lomski and 47 for Braddock. In view of the fact that Judge Osborn had given the fight to Lomski and Judge Lienert had given it to Braddock, my figures carried the final decision. When it was pointed out that I had added 50-50 for columns that totaled 53-47 there, of course, was nothing to be done in fairness to all concerned except correct the mistake and give Lomski the decision."

Welter Also was Confused.

Sports observers yesterday held that although the action of the commission might be basically fair, it opens up a wide field. Second stab decisions generally are frowned upon. Many major league baseball umpires, for instance, adopt the policy of no second guessing, even if they feel they may have made a mistake on their first ruling. The same is said to be true of football officials generally.

The unusual circumstance in connection with the Lomski-Braddock fight follows another two-decision fight on the same card. Referee Welter, who preceded Miller in the ring, held up the arm of Harry Fierra in token victory, then reversed himself and ruled that Archie Bell, Fierra's adversary, had won on a foul. As in the Lomski-Braddock case, the official conduct was attributed to confusion and excitement on the part of persons under jurisdiction of the commission.

LIEB CONFERS WITH GOPHER SPORTS HEADS

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Tom Lieb, assistant coach at Notre Dame, met with a senate committee on intercollegiate athletics at the University of Minnesota today. Following the meeting, Ernest B. Pierce, chairman of the committee, announced no decision had been reached in the quest for a head coach to succeed Dr. Clarence E. Spears.

Members of the senate made it clear that the announcement of appointment of a coach could not be made until the board of regents had acted formally in the matter.

HIGH SCORE WINS TWO HORSE RACE AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Only two horses went to the post in the Connecticut Yankee pace, the six furlong feature on the racing program at the Fair Grounds this afternoon. After leading all the way High Score, the 1 to 5 favorite, beat Extreme by two lengths. The time was 1:15 3-5.

A heavy rainstorm and a muddy track reduced the field to a two horse race. It was little more than a gallop for High Score which was ridden by C. Myers.

Several Louisiana Derby candidates clashed in the Daniels purse, the secondary feature. It was a dash at a mile and the favorite, Coral Beach, ridden by K. Russel, was a handy winner by two lengths from General Jackson with Jovial Friar third. In the betting Coral Beach paid $4.60 and he stepped the mile in 1:43 4-5 after leading all the way.

BRUINS DEFEND LEAD TONIGHT; ROCHESTER FOE

The Chicago Bruins, leading the second half race in the American Professional basketball league with a record of three victories and one defeat, will be out to protect first place against the Rochester Centrals at the Chicago stadium tonight.

The Bruins, whose chances for the second half titles have been strengthened by the recent addition of Nat Holman, toppled Rochester from the lead Sunday night. Honey Russell, the team's regular guard, may be unable to play because of a finger injury received in Sunday night's game. If he is unable to start, Gil Ely will take his place.

COAST BIDS FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE GAMES IN 1932

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—For the first time in its history of more than half a century the classic championship track and field meet of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America may be staged in the far west in 1932.

After journeying eastward year after year and capturing eight of the last nine championships, the Universities of California, Southern California, and Stanford have invited the I. C. A. A. A. to hold its 56th annual title event two years hence at the new University of California oval at Berkeley, it was announced today.

The bid was backed with a guarantee of $65,000 to help defray expenses of visiting teams and was favorably received by eastern members of the association.

According to plans outlined in the invitation received through Lloyd W. Georgeson, a California alumnus, the meet would be held in the latter part of June or the first of July.

Once more PONTIAC offers a finer car with a famous name

Ever since the Pontiac Six has been on the market, cars bearing this name have enjoyed an enviable reputation for value. The first Pontiac, because of what it offered at low prices, broke all existing records for a new car during its first year in production. Succeeding Pontiacs served to give the name Pontiac still greater significance for motorists in search of the most that their money could buy. And now this reputation for unusual value is being extended still further by the New Series Pontiac Big Six—a new and finer car with a famous name.

Greater Beauty, Finer Performance. This latest Pontiac offers even more striking beauty and finer performance than did its popular predecessors. New bodies by Fisher, including two new types, account for the added smartness of its appearance. Improved-type rubber mountings insulate the 60-horsepower engine from the frame and enhance its smoothness. A new steering mechanism provides increased handling ease. Its highly efficient, non-squeak, internal four-wheel brakes have been made more dependable than ever. And an added measure of driving safety is likewise contributed by its new, sloping, non-glare windshield.

Big Car Qualities Retained. The New Series Pontiac Big Six incorporates all of the other big car qualities which have made past Pontiacs so highly desirable. It has their speed, power and pick-up—their reassuring dependability and long life—and their all-round economy, too.

Let us show you the New Series Pontiac Big Six. Let us demonstrate its exceptional performance. You'll find it a car you will be proud to own—truly a finer car with a famous name.

Prices, $745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Bumpers and spring covers at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

N. Y. RING CHIEFS RULE RISKO TOO SMALL TO FIGHT

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The New York state athletic commission dumfounded the faithful today with a ruling that Johnny Risko, who at one time or another has whipped almost every giant among the cauliflowers, was not a fit opponent for Victorio Campolo of South America.

This surprising mandate wiped out the feature battle of a heavyweight card scheduled for Feb. 7 at Madison Square Garden, left plump little Tom McCardle, the matchmaker, puffing in astonishment, and puzzled every one but the commission as to the reason. The solemn fathers merely declared that Risko was no match for the Argentine, who lost a decision to Phil Scott in his last bout here.

William Muldoon, 85 year old member of the commission, said the match was "too one sided and would result only in a repetition of the Campolo Heeney fight. Campolo scored a technical knockout last summer over Heeney, who has since retired.

Muldoon said Campolo, who fights at about 225 pounds, compared to Risko's 195, was altogether too big for the rugged Bohemian baker boy from Cleveland. He declared that there were many battlers of Campolo's own size available without tackling the "little fellows."

The decision was received with added amazement, four days after the commission approved the match in Madison Square Garden, in which Primo Carnera, 270 pound Italian mammoth, wiped out (Little Boy) Peterson in 70 seconds. Peterson weighed only 209 pounds.

Risko boasts an excellent record among the giants of the ring. His best victory was a fifteen round decision over Jack Sharkey in 1928 and he shares with Jack Dempsey the distinction of having floored Tunney

Offer Prizes for Humane Hunting Traps

BY BOB BECKER.

Fostering the idea that trappers should use more humane devices to catch fur bearers, thus eliminating much of the suffering which trapped animals endure when held in the usual steel trap, the American Humane association of Albany, N. Y., is urging outdoorsmen with an inventive turn of mind to get busy and design humane traps and enter them in the 1930 contest. The contest will close April 30. Anybody is eligible to compete in it.

Inasmuch as the whole idea of the contest is to get Americans busy on new traps that will catch and hold fur bearers and at the same time do it with a minimum amount of suffering to the animal, the contest has the approval of a large number of conservation organizations. A first prize of $150 will be awarded to the person submitting the most practical humane trap. Second prize brings $35.

The judges will consider only those traps that actually have been used in taking animals. The winners of the contest will be eligible to compete for the $10,000 prize offered by the national association of the fur industry.

They awarded first prize to a new model of steel spring trap which was so constructed that it held without injuring the trapped animal. It had a series of notches on the spring which controlled the pressure.

Outdoorsmen who are interested in this contest should write direct to the American Human association regarding the conditions governing the contest. The address is 80 Howard street, Albany, N. Y.

Joe Cantillon Rallies in Fight Against Death

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Joe Cantillon rallied slightly tonight in his grim fight against death at his home here. Mrs. Cantillon stated that he was breathing better and resting more comfortably, although physicians continue to administer opiates at frequent intervals.

Dr. Jackson of Paducah came to Hickman today to consult with Dr. H. E. Prather and Dr. J. G. Morrison, local physicians who have been at his bedside almost constantly since Sunday.

Judge Landis phoned and requested that he be informed twice a day of the condition of the baseball veteran. Mike Cantillon, his brother, with whom he was associated so long in Minneapolis, is ill also in Los Angeles, but his sister, Mrs. E. J. Archambault, is on her way here and will arrive Thursday.

COTTON WILCOX TO HELP PHELAN AT WASHINGTON

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—The University of Washington, which recently signed Jimmy Phelan, former Purdue mentor, as head coach, has drawn Cotton Wilcox, freshman Boilermaker coach, from local ranks to reinforce its grid staff, it was learned today. Wilcox, an outstanding ball carrier and all-Conference half back during his Purdue playing days, has resigned, effective Feb. 1. He has signed a three year contract with the Pacific coast institution as varsity backfield coach.

Wilcox has been head freshman coach football and basketball coach here since his graduation from the school of civil engineering in 1927, having achieved signal success with his teams.

Wilcox captained the 1926 Purdue eleven. In addition to being a football star, he was an outstanding floor guard in basketball and played regularly at second base on the varsity baseball team for three years.

SHIRES ARRIVES IN HOME TOWN AMID PLAUDITS

Italy, Tex., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Accompanied by several large trunks adorned with painted labels, "The Great Shires," the White Sox first baseman and ertswhile pugilist, returned today to the plaudits of his old home town.

Several hundred citizens of Italy and nearby towns, who "knew him when" were on the station platform when Shires alighted. Also there was a flock of photographers.

It required almost an hour for the Great One to greet old friends who swarmed about him. He will be the guest of honor at a dance and banquet tomorrow night at the Country club.

MEYERS MEETS DEMETRAL IN K. C. MAT SHOW

Johnny Meyers, claimant of the light heavyweight championship, and Jimmy Demetral will clash in the feature bout of an all star wrestling program at the West Side Knights of Columbus clubhouse tonight. They will meet in a finish match at catch weights.

Washington Five Beats Horace Mann; Takes Title

Gary, Ind., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Washington of East Chicago clinched the western division championship of the northern Indiana high school basketball conference tonight with a 24 to 11 victory over Horace Mann of Gary. Capt. Pete Kos was the only Horace Mann regular to be used by Coach Keith Crown during the game, and Kos was taken out midway of the first half when his injured knee, which kept him out almost all season, began to bother him.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

PACIFIC COAST COACHES

DEAR WAKE: I am an alumnus of the University of Washington and played football there in the days of Bagshaw, 1900-1903. Through my alumni society here, I have kept in close touch with athletic activities.

I was here during the negotiations with Jimmy Phelan and can say Phelan receives $12,000 a year and nothing more, no matter what else may be said. The Pacific Coast conference places no limit on salaries, but the amount, whatever it is, must be stated in writing to conference officials and must come from the university only. During the summer Phelan will conduct a coaching school for which he will receive a fixed remuneration from the physical culture department, as all coaches have done since the days of Gil Dobie.

As to alumni helping to make up a coaching salary I can positively say that is not true at Washington, and I doubt it can be true at any Pacific coast school. The rules are strict on this subject.

Washington offers a great field to a man like Phelan. It is the fourth largest state university with 12,000 students. For a comparatively young university it has great athletic traditions in football, rowing and track. Under Gil Dobie, Washington for eleven years did not lose a football game and was tied only three times. Bagshaw in his first seven years led the coast conference in games won. Washington has a national reputation in rowing, sending crews east. Its track team placed second in the national intercollegiate last year.

Washington, California, Southern California and Stanford are known as the "Big Four" and have an agreement renewed every five years. These colleges make up a schedule and the others fill in the odd dates. Games draw 60,000 to 80,000 spectators. Washington also plays to capacity against Washington State and Oregon State. The new stadium of 45,000 capacity will be enlarged by 1931 to hold 75,000 in addition.

Do You Remember Way Back When:

LAKE VIEW WINS PAIR.

Lake View heavies scored their second north section victory yesterday by defeating Waller, 19 to 12, at the latter's gym, but the lights were forced to an overtime to win their second game, 21 to 20.

ROOSEVELT IS DOUBLE VICTOR OVER SCHURZ

The race for the basketball title in the north section of the City league was cleared up considerably yesterday with Roosevelt's double victory over Schurz on the latter's floor, the heavies winning, 41 to 23, and the lights, 26 to 15. The heavyweight teams had been tied for second place prior to the game with three victories and one defeat each. The Roosevelt lights' victory was their fifth straight and broke up the tie between themselves and Schurz for the sectional lead.

COLD MOTORS "TAKE HOLD" AT DEEP-ROCK STATIONS

HOW reluctantly your motor "takes hold" these wintry days! Just see how quick it warms up with Kant-Nock-Ethyl... starts on the button . . . same as on a lush June morning!

It is the double premium quality that makes motors "take hold" and give their best performance. You'll experience a new feeling of zip and power, especially with these modern high compression engines . . . quick pick-up and pull over hills, in traffic and on the straightaway. The upkeep costs of motoring diminish and the pleasure of driving increases.

Yet Kant-Nock-Ethyl with its extra benefits costs no more than other Ethyl Gasolines. Stop at any Deep-Rock station and fill up with this Extra-extraordinary, aviation quality, high compression gasoline.

To complete your satisfaction fill the crank case with Certified Deep-Rock Prize Motor Oil.

U. S. STEEL'S NET SETS NEW MARK FOR PEACE TIME

Other Steel Reports Are Favorable.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The steel industry almost monopolized news of business and industry yesterday. The United States Steel corporation issued its annual report, showing a new peace time record for earnings was set last year. Simultaneously, the Inland Steel and Jones & Laughlin Steel companies issued favorable reports.

The Inland Steel company increased its dividend from $3.50 to $4 annually and the Colorado Fuel & Iron company declared a dividend of 50 cents on its common stock, which is the first payment to be made on the issue since 1921.

There was the news that steel mill operations in the Chicago district have been increased to between 80 and 85 per cent of capacity, marking a gain of between 5 and 10 per cent in the last week.

For the whole country, steel ingot production now is around 73½ per cent of capacity, compared with slightly above 69 per cent a week ago, a little over 65 per cent a fortnight ago, and 84 per cent a year ago. The United States Steel corporation now is around 77 per cent and independents average about 70 per cent of capacity.

Equals $21.18 a Share.

The U. S. Steel corporation's net earnings for 1929 were $197,531,349, including $9,972,351 as a special year-end credit adjustment not applicable to any particular quarter. Including this credit, the earnings were equal, after preferred stock dividends, to $21.18 a share on 8,132,840 common shares outstanding, while excluding the special credit, the balance was equivalent to $19.96 a share.

Net earnings for 1928 were $114,-173,775, equivalent to $12.50 a share on 7,116,235 common shares. After paying dividends, surplus earnings last year were $108,903,232.

Net earnings for the last quarter of the year were lower than in the preceding quarters of the year, due to the sharp decline in business and operations following the stock market collapse, but were larger than for the final quarter of 1928. Net earnings for the December quarter were $56,-845,334, or $4.21 a share, compared with $53,186,679, or $4.33 a share on the smaller number of shares outstanding in the final quarter of 1928.

Scrutator Cites Attempt to Stabilize Copper Price

BY SCRUTATOR.

Capacity to overproduce exists in nearly every American industry. In nearly every one, consequently, there is a constant temptation to bring out more goods than is advisable in times when price levels are favorable. A natural result is that the men who do this must either sell the piled up surplus at a price that is unprofitable, or nearly so, or cease production until the accumulation has been disposed of.

The copper producers have taken the latter alternative. Within the last two weeks the Anaconda company has shut down several mines, and Gordon R. Campbell, president of the Calumet and Arizona Copper company, stated on Monday that the basic producers as a whole had clipped production by 40 per cent. Meanwhile they are standing firm in their demand for 18 cents a pound.

Backgrounds of the condition have been given by the department of commerce, which states that the domestic withdrawals of the red metal in 1929 constituted a record.

Reason for Large Output.

Undeniably the large production was due to the rapid increases in the price of copper since the beginning of 1928. Two years ago the quotation was 13.9 cents a pound. In January, 1929, it was 15.9 cents a pound. A rapid advance carried it up to almost 24 cents in March, where it remained for a short time. Then a recession brought the figure down to 18 cents or a little below, where it has remained.

Eighteen cents, satisfactory to the producers, induced mining and refining at a rate that exceeded even the record consumption of a little less than a million tons in this country. So at the end of 1929 domestic stocks of refined copper stood at 265 million pounds against 114 million at the end of 1928, with an export market apparently worse than the one of a year previous.

If the copper producers are sufficiently firm in their attitude and able to keep a restrained output in effect long enough they will probably be able to hold to the 18 cent price, estimated to be from 3 to 4 cents above cost. Meanwhile the earnings of the companies in the field will be reduced and an unemployment situation created among the employés.

Copper mining and manufacturing have always been a hazardous business. Fluctuations in copper shares on the exchanges have been marked and their earnings vary greatly from year to year.

Hard to Forecast.

Most of this is due to the inability on the part of management to forecast the demand that can be expected at a fair price. This difficulty is intensified by the fact that something like a third of the production is sold abroad in some years and much less in others. Most of the large stock on hand at the start of 1930 was due to a falling off of 120 million pounds in exports.

Of the domestic consumption, utility companies are reported to take about half, or 500 million tons. The knowledge that this business will hold up in 1930 and possibly increase may have its weight in keeping the producers firm for their price. Such experiments have not usually been successful, but the copper men at least realize that the only way they can get what they think fair is to cut down the supply; to let nature store the goods.

FORMS GROUP TO BOOST STATE AS FINANCE CENTER

With the announced purpose of bringing the financial importance of Illinois and its possibilities as a financial center to the attention of the people of Illinois and the midwest, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce yesterday organized a financial committee. Harvey T. Hill, assistant to the president of the Chicago Stock exchange, was selected as chairman.

The new committee will foster sound financial practices in business and government in Illinois and the distribution of authentic information on the unparalleled growth and future of Chicago and Illinois as the financial center of the middle west.

Phoenix Insurance 1929 Income Is $32,981,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 28.—Assets of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company for 1929 aggregated $138,747,000, while the income amounted to $32,981,000, it was announced today by Archibald A. Welch, president, in the annual report to stockholders. Insurance in force totaled $584,054,000 and surplus, $8,144,289. Reserves now amount to $91,600,000, while $8,144,000 is being held as surplus to offset fluctuations in investments, mortality, and other business risks.

Freight Loadings for Week Total 847,353 Cars

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Revenue freight loadings for the week ended Jan. 18, were reported today by the American Railway association to have totaled 847,353 cars. This was a reduction of 15,838 cars under the preceding week, and a decrease of 84,508 cars under loadings for the corresponding week a year ago.

EASTERN LINES ASSAIL PROPOSED NEW ROUTE FROM N. Y. TO CHICAGO

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Plans for the New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago railroad to carry out the dream of the late E. H. Harriman by constructing a more direct route between New York and Chicago through the Pennsylvania mountains were vigorously attacked today before the interstate commerce commission by other eastern carriers.

At the same time counsel for the new road, which is sponsored by the Delaware and Hudson company, retaliated with criticism of the Baltimore and Ohio proposal to create a similar route by acquiring the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, and the Buffalo and Susquehanna railroads. Applications for these acquisitions are now pending before the commission.

J. J. Ekin, comptroller of the Baltimore and Ohio, said there was no indication that the road, if built, would be able to secure the necessary tonnage for its profitable operation. He contended its traffic would be drawn from existing carriers and not created.

This new line would extend from Allegheny City to Easton, Pa., a distance of 283 miles, and cost approximately $177,740,373.

Month-End Disbursements May Set $450,000,000 Peak

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 28.—January month-end disbursements will set a new high record of $450,000,000, according to estimates made in Wall street today. This figure compares with a total of $385,000,000 a year ago.

Dividend increases, resumptions and extras to be paid are largely responsible for the extraordinary capital outlay. February is usually an off month as far as payments are concerned.

Corporation disbursements will account for virtually the entire amount as neither the United States government nor the municipality of New York has any important interest payments due at this time. Altogether more than 300 corporations will pay dividends on Feb. 1.

Anaconda Payment.

Among the important corporations which will pay more in dividends next month than a year ago is the Anaconda Copper Mining company, which is disbursing $1.75 a share, compared with 75 cents a share in February, 1929. In addition the company has issued more than 5,000,000 additional shares of capital stock since last February. As a result it will disburse next month more than $15,500,000, contrasted with about $3,000,000 on the corresponding date of last year.

The Bethlehem Steel corporation next month will pay $1.50 a share on its common stock, against nothing a year ago. The company resumed common dividends last May, after suspension since 1924. Payments next month will be made on 3,400,000 shares of common stock, making the total for that account approximately $5,100,000.

Another corporation which will pay more next month that it did a year ago is the American Can company. The dividend rate was raised last year to $4 annually or $1 quarterly from $3 a year prior to that time, with the result that the corporation in February will disburse $2,473,998 against approximately $1,800,000 the previous year.

Among the corporations paying extra or special dividends next month is included American Founders, with a special dividend of 33 1-3 cents a share in cash.

Latest Declarations.

The regular quarterly dividend on the common stock of Norfolk and Western railway was increased today to $2.50 a share compared with the previous rate of $2, lifting the annual disbursement to $10. The Pennsylvania railroad, through a subsidiary, owns approximately 40 per cent of the outstanding stock of Norfolk and Western.

The United Engineering and Foundry company declared an extra dividend of 35 cents a share and the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share on the common stock.

Directors of Clarence Saunders Stores voted to omit the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the class "A" stock and 87½ cents on the 7 per cent preferred stock, due at this time.

GREAT WESTERN ROAD SHOWS ITS BEST EARNINGS

V. V. Boatner, president of the Chicago Great Western railroad, yesterday announced operating revenues of the road during 1929 were the largest in the history of the lines, reaching $25,825,337, an increase of 3.84 per cent over 1928. Net income after all charges was $1,235,880, an increase over the preceding year of $328,068, or 36.14 per cent.

The railroad is now enabled to handle larger trainloads with more powerful engines, he said. Fifteen of the most powerful type of freight locomotives have been bought and 32 old engines have been scrapped, with 1,774 obsolete freight cars.

Changes in operation routine have been effected, Mr. Boatner said in a letter to stockholders, by which he expects to save $800,000 annually. Plans for modernization of equipment and of faster schedules were also discussed in the stockholders' report.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 28.—Having faced forward for more than a week without a letup, the stock market paused for breath today. Talk of a possible reaction was heard and traders generally showed a sudden disposition to go cautiously in their commitments for the time being.

The result was a succession of mild rallies and recessions which gave the list a highly irregular appearance throughout the session. Selling gained the right of way in the late dealings and the close found a majority of the more active issues pointed toward lower levels.

Most of the leaders were among the losers. Thus General Electric closing at 261 showed a drop of 4 points. Radio, at 35, was off 2¾; Western Union was down 1½; Consolidated Gas, 1; American and Foreign Power, 1; New York Central, 1⅝; Standard Gas, 2⅝, and General Motors, 1⅛ points.

Top yesterday, $13.15; average, $12.25.
Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 8,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep.

The general average price of hogs was raised to the highest level since Sept. 23 on short supplies yesterday. Gains of 10@25c were general, the top showing 20c advance at $10.55, while the general average moved up 15c at $10.20.

There was a short lull in trading soon after urgent orders had been filled, but strength appeared again following the reales of an advance estimate of only 25,000 for today, which compares with 44,159 last Wednesday.

Offsets Increase.

Larger houses filled fair sized droves at the general advance in mid-session and later, leaving only 5,000 at the close. The decrease in receipts yesterday and today offsets Monday's increase, the three day total at Chicago being about the same as a week ago.

In an effort to avert further demoralizing price cuts in the cattle market, supplies at leading centers are being held below normal for the time of year. Only 6,500 arrived at Chicago yesterday, and only 8,000 are expected today, the latter total comparing with 10,195 last Wednesday and with 13,537 a year ago.

The condition of the trade showed little improvement, although salesmen succeeded in holding prices in line with Monday. Producers are not offering their top cattle, which partly accounts for the sharply lower level of prices thus far this week. Yearlings eligible to $15.50@16.00 were absent. Good quality 1,342 lb steers at $15.15 were the best available yesterday, while no yearlings were good enough to sell above $14.50. Cows and heifers have lost last week's 25@50c advance. A string of 108 heifers averaging 738 lbs sold at $12.75. Calves slumped 50c to $1.00. Stockers and feeders were slow and easy.

Lambs at New Low.

Drastic price cuts yesterday brought the lamb market to new low levels for the season. Fancy light and handy weights to shippers and city butchers sold at $13.10@13.15, the lowest since November. Bulk of 85@93 lb averages sold to packers at $12.25@12.75, with occasional sales as high as $13.00.

Heavy lambs were bought at $11.50 @12.00. Aged sheep ruled weak to unevenly lower. Sharp losses were recorded in yearlings, in sympathy with the 50c break in lambs.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs and 15,000 sheep, against 10,195 cattle, 44,159 hogs, and 17,645 sheep the previous Wednesday and 13,537 cattle, 31,140 hogs and 11,790 sheep a year ago.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet locally today, with no sales reported. It was announced in cables from Cuba that the single selling agency is willing to sell sugar for the next 30 days at 2c cost and freight New York, equal to 3.77c delivered. Early declines in raw futures were nearly all recovered in the later afternoon and final prices were net unchanged to 2 points lower. Approximate sales were 32,350 tons.

CHICAGO DEPT. STORE SALES UP 1% IN 1929

Department stores in the Chicago district made a gain of 1 per cent in sales last year, despite a letdown in the last two months, according to the Chicago federal reserve bank.

Holiday trade resulted in December showing an increase of 42.8 per cent over November, although it was 6 per cent under December, 1928. Chain store trade in December gained 41.9 per cent over November and improved 1.9 per cent over December, 1928, while the whole year showed a gain of 11 per cent over 1928.

With the exception of drugs, all reporting lines of wholesale trade had seasonally smaller sales in December and for the year all lines, except groceries, reported smaller sales than for 1928.

SCOTT STORES ADD FOUR MORE TO ITS CHAIN

Richman Brothers Lease in Lincoln Avenue.

BY AL CHASE.

The Scott Stores, Inc., a subsidiary of Butler Bros., have negotiated leases for four new branches. The company, which deals in articles priced from five cents to one dollar, already has stores in Chicagoland in Berwyn, Elmhurst, La Grange, Whiting and at 7206 Cottage Grove avenue. The stores just secured are at 864-66 East 63d street, 4173 Archer avenue, 4025 Lincoln avenue, and at Blue Island.

The Lincoln avenue lease was negotiated with the Magnus Building corporation and calls for space at Nos. 4025-27, including first floor and basement space, extending back to Damen avenue. The term runs from Feb. 1, 1930, to Jan. 31, 1940, and the rental will be $82,320 for the term or at the monthly rate of $550 for the first two years and $720 for the last eight years.

Has Adjoining Lease.

The lessee has an option to extend the lease twenty years at a monthly figure of $800 for the first five years; then $880 for five years and $995 the last ten. The company already has a lease on the adjoining store at 4023 Lincoln avenue.

The store at 864-66 East 63d street was leased from the Sixty-third Street Building corporation for seventeen years at a monthly rental of 833.33 until August, 1932, then $1,000 for eight years and for $1,250 per month during the balance of the term. Mark Levy & Bros. were brokers in this transaction.

The store leased at Blue Island is now occupied by the Alexander Dry Goods company. The store at 4173 Archer avenue was leased from Benjamin L. Rubin.

Clothing Store Expands.

The Richman Brothers company, men's clothing chain store, has leased the 25x117 at 3220 Lincoln avenue, for ten years at an annual rental of $12,666. The lessor, the estate of Amelia Klein, is to erect a two story building for the lessee which will be ready for the Easter trade. The company is negotiating for two additional stores, one of which is to be in a suburb.

The fifteen apartments at the southwest corner of Paulina and Belle Plaine, lot 50x135, were sold by Milton J. Jones to Emma K. Rintelman and then transferred to Raymond G. Carey. Quinlan & Tyson were brokers.

Roy C. Anderson has sold the twelve apartment building at the northeast corner of Bosworth and Arthur avenues, lot 58x125, to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burke. The two apartments at 6375 North Paulina street, were given in part payment. John J. Kern & Co. represented both parties.

BUYS TWENTY ACRE TRACT ON WHEELING ROAD

Albert Oehlerking has purchased a tract of twenty acres on Wheeling road, a quarter of a mile south of Hintz road, between Wheeling and Arlington Heights, from August Vogt for a reported $1,000 an acre. Harry H. Talcott was attorney.

Syndicate Leases Space on South Wells for Cafe

A syndicate headed by Angelos Masouras has leased the stores at 304-06 South Wells street, 35x80, from the 205 West Jackson Boulevard Building corporation for restaurant purposes, for ten years. The lessees state they will spend $35,000 in equipping and decorating the premises. The George D. Poulos company was broker for both parties. Decker & Golden and Isadore Fried were attorneys.

Buys Twenty-four Flats at University and Marquette

Baylor H. Gwathmey has purchased the twenty-four apartment building at the northeast corner of University avenue and Marquette road from E. K. Johnson for an undisclosed consideration, subject to a $58,000 encumbrance. L. C. Fortin and Henry S. Merrill, of Whiteside & Wentworth, and Arthur Blair were brokers.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Lends Encouragement.

Lower crude oil output last week was hailed as encouraging. The attempt to reduce crude prices in the midcontinent field is, of course, aimed at forcing curtailment. If sufficient reduction takes place doubtless restoration of prices would come, as was the case with the California fields.

Like Baking Issues.

The baking industry has often been called "depression proof." That is why many speculators are concentrating their efforts around stocks like National Biscuit, Loose-Wiles and Purity Bakeries. Earnings on the latter stock, incidentally, were equivalent to $7.02 a share in 1929, against $5.99 in 1928.

Estimate Income.

Net earnings of Raybestos-Manhattan for 1929 are expected to be about $5.50 a share on the outstanding common stock. This would provide a margin of approximately $2 a share above dividends, which now are being paid at the annual rate of $2.60.

Rights Soon to Expire.

Only two days remain before the expiration of the New York Central rights, which have been selling between $5 and $6.25. Wall street has long held the view that this stock has been hampered by these privileges, and that as soon as they are out of the way a better market will develop in the stock, as arbitraging coöperations then will cease and permit the Central to respond to new buying.

CORPORATION EARNINGS

STERLING SECURITIES.

Corporation reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, net income was $3,195,915 after expenses, taxes, etc. The corporation reported for the nine months ended Dec. 31, 1928, a net profit of $789,793.

G. C. MURPHY COMPANY.

Reports a net profit of $897,168 for the year ended Dec. 31. This is equal, after preferred dividends, to $5.47 a share on 125,000 shares of common and compares with $670,680, or $4.29 a share, in 1928. Sales of the company for the year totaled $15,726,651 in 153 stores, against $12,118,187 in 133 stores in the previous year.

DETROIT & CLEVELAND NAVIGATION.

Company reports net income for the year ended Dec. 31 was $718,826, equal to $1.19 a share on 603,800 shares of $10 par common stock outstanding. This compares with a net of $814,880, or $1.35 a share, in 1928.

SCOTTEN DILLON.

Reports for the year ended Dec. 31 net income of $602,901 after all charges and taxes, equal to $2.01 a share on outstanding common shares. This compares with a net of $758,202, or $2.53 a share, on the same basis in 1928.

GAMEWELL COMPANY.

America's Flying Center

NOT by accident did the United States government decide to build in San Antonio the greatest military air training center in the world—Randolph Field, "West Point of the Air"—now under construction at an ultimate cost of $20,000,000, where future American aces will learn to fly. Randolph Field is the direct result of the army's success at famed Kelly and Brooks fields .... alma mater of American air fighters, mail pilots and commercial flyers since 1917 .... located in a climate ideal for flying the year around.

EVEN without Randolph Field, San Antonio has long been aviation headquarters for the army, with four great fields—Kelly, Brooks, Duncan and Dodd—providing both primary and advanced training. Since 1910, when army air forces here began with a youthful lieutenant and a dubious plane, this city has grown steadily in importance as a military air base.

Geographic location and climate are the big factors ... climate which permits long hours of flying in the bright sunlight and the clear, blue sky of Texas, and enables the fledgling to try his wings without the handicap of strong winds, storms, fog, sleet and snow that less favored regions impose.

Commercial flying has grown apace. From an excellent municipal airport, passenger and mail planes travel the air routes radiating from San Antonio and linking it closely to the nation at large.

But San Antonio is more than the flying center of America. It is the mother city of South and West Texas—the country's last great frontier. Two hundred years ago San Antonio was an outpost of Spanish colonization. Today it is a modern city of 300,000, retaining an old-world charm plus the countless opportunities that a growing, progressive city offers. Here is a happy community where folks take time to really live ... where golf, tennis, polo and other summer sports are played the winter through.

Fly down and see!

ATTENTION BANKS— UNDERWRITING HOUSES

Two executives, who have been closely associated for the past ten years in a leading Investment Banking Institution, seek new connections. They have a wide experience in all phases of the Mortgage Banking Business. Their experience covers—Underwritings—Distribution of Securities—Building Costs and Land Values—Rebuilding of Financial Structures and Property Management.

They are seeking a connection where their combined effort and experience may be of great value to the institution with which they may become associated.

BIG UNIT BUSINESS

Two Commercial Credit checks aggregating $300,000 were issued during the current week for the purchase of instalment paper covering a single industrial transaction.

Startling news, no doubt, for the layman who conceives of instalment credit as a small denomination business.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES HEAVY; TRADING LAGS

Commonwealth Edison Is Down 5 Points.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks appeared a little weary on the Chicago board yesterday following the workout of the day before. Prices were heavy and volume of trading declined moderately. Transactions approximated 212,000 shares.

Middle West Utilities, which was among the active leaders in the previous session, was heavily traded in again yesterday, but its net gain was less than a point. Other utility stocks were generally lower. Commonwealth Edison closed with a net loss of five points and United Gas declined 1⅝. Public Service no par was off 6¾.

A few gains were scattered throughout the list. Reliance Manufacturing was two to 16⅛ and Vortex Cup advanced an even point. Automotive stocks were moderately lower with Auburn prominent with a loss of 3.

A. M. Castle Report.

The annual report of A. M. Castle & Co., showing a gain in net earnings for the year ended Dec. 31, had little effect on the action of the stock which closed unchanged at 50¾ on a turnover of about 600 shares. Net income for the fiscal year was $847,826, equal to $7.06 a share on the 120,000 shares of common stock outstanding. Earnings in the previous year totaled $711,341 or $5.92 a share. The balance sheet revealed total current assets of $3,753,161, against current liabilities of $421,851. Total assets and liabilities were listed at $5,402,238, against $5,641,115 at the end of 1928.

At a meeting of Castle directors W. R. Simpson was named chairman of the board and A. C. Castle elected president to succeed Mr. Simpson. Fred C. Flood was elected a director to replace Sidney Gardiner, resigned.

Q. C. Noblitt, president of the Noblitt-Sparks Industries, Inc., reported yesterday net income of the company for 1929 was $675,480, equal to $9 a share on the common stock, against $294,662, or $4.71 a share, in 1928.

Rises on Dividend News.

Railroad Shares was a fraction higher following action of directors in declaring an initial dividend of 12½ cents, payable March 15 to holders of record Feb. 17.

In the radio group Grigsby eased a bit, while National Union advanced a minor fraction despite publication of a letter to stockholders by President Nathan Chireistein stating that the company will probably show a considerable loss for the fiscal year, which ends April 30.

Per share earnings of the Vortex Cup company for 1929, reported yesterday at $4.05, should have been $4.95, against $3.45 in the previous year.

RALLY FOLLOWS EARLY BREAK IN ALL GRAIN PRICES

Wheat Closes Irregular Near the Top.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An oversold condition was largely responsible for a strong rally yesterday in the grain markets after an early break which carried wheat prices down 1¼c from the previous close to a new low on the present movement, while July corn and all deliveries of oats and rye sold at a new low for the season.

Short covering and buying against bids absorbed the surplus in the pit and wheat closed well toward the top with prices ¾c lower to ⅛c higher. March being $1.20⅝@1.20¾, and May $1.25⅛@1.25¼. The latter touched $1.23⅞ at the low.

Winnipeg wheat market was erratic, leading the decline early and then reversing its action and showed pronounced strength, closing at net gains at ⅞@1⅛c, with October leading. A better cash demand and short covering caused fair strength in Liverpool with the close ⅛d lower to ⅜d higher. Argentine markets rallied after an early decline, with Buenos Ayres finishing ⅛c higher and Rosario unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Local Sentiment Bearish.

Lack of aggressive foreign and domestic demand for cash wheat has been the main factor in creating an extremely bearish sentiment regarding the trend of values, and even the persistent buying of country run cash wheat by the coöperatives has been unable to change the situation to any great extent, although the average trader is not inclined to operate freely on the bear side, fearing further stabilization efforts on the part of the farm board.

Little attention was paid to Washington news, although it tended to confirm the trade's view regarding excessive stocks, and President Legge's statement indicated that an effort would be made to reduce the spring wheat acreage to 10 per cent was also ignored as a market influence. Export sales for the day were estimated at 300,000 to 400,000 bu, mainly Manitobas.

Somewhat less favorable crop reports were received from the winter wheat belt, as temperatures in the southewst have been sufficiently high to melt part of the snow in Kansas, and a ice pack has formed in some areas in that state, which may cause damage. Frost was also claimed in parts of Europe. A parcel of Russia wheat was sold to the United Kingdom at equal to $1.33⅛ per bu, c. i. f.

Corn Resists Pressure.

Corn market showed considerable resistance to selling pressure, and while lower early with wheat it rallied later on short covering, and the finish was unchanged to ¼c higher, with March 87½c; May, 90⅞c; and July, 92¾c. Shipping demand was active, with sales of 158,000 bu, while spot basis was ½c higher to ½c lower. Buenos Aires futures closed ½c lower.

Liquidation was on in oats early, with prices declining sharply, May touching 45½c on the break. Commission houses absorbed the offerings on the way down and a rally came toward the close in sympathy with other grains, the finish being ⅛@¼c lower, with March 44⅞@45c, and May, 46¼c. Shipping sales aggregated 120,000 bu.

Local professionals were free sellers of rye, and May dropped 4c from Monday's finish to a low of 86½c. Liquidation developed on the way down with stop loss orders uncovered, while short covering toward the last was largely responsible for a rally of around 3c from the inside figures. Final trades were at net losses of ¼@⅝c, with March 91¼c and May, 89½@89⅝c. German and Polish situation was reported as very weak, with both countries trying to find buyers at low prices.

BUTTER AND EGGS LOWER

Liberal receipts and larging storage withdrawals brought on a break of 2c, or $240 a car, in January fresh egg futures on the Chicago mercantile exchange. Other contracts weakened ½@1¼c. Sales were 348 cars and receipts 15,173 cases.

February butter declined ⅝c, or $120 a car, with a letup in consumer demand as spot levels the past few days showed a tendency to advance. Reports from the warehouses in 26 leading markets showed the butter surplus over last year had been reduced 2,125,000 lbs in the past week, and was 24,180,683 lbs on Jan. 25. Sales were 100 cars and receipts 10,558 tubs. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Traders said at the close that all the markets, especially wheat, had been well sold out, and, in fact, oversold and a large short interest created at the lowest level of the season. It was said the market was in a position to rally sharply should any constructive news come from abroad to start a covering movement.

Extensive advertising of the bearish position of the world's wheat market is not regarded by members of the trade as conducive to large constructive operations on the part of foreign or local operators. Prices at present appear to be no particular inducement for foreigners to take hold, judging from their actions on the decline of the last few days.

Bonds for Profit

Since the immediate trend of the stock market is at best uncertain, the well-advised investor will, we believe, confine his selections during the next few months to carefully selected bonds and preferred stocks. In this way he can secure a good return on his surplus funds, with every possibility of price appreciation without the worry incident to speculative securities.

CANADIAN POOL SEEN INFLUENCE IN EXPORT DROP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—A decline of $225,000,000 in the Canadian grain and flour exports during the last twelve months as compared with the previous year is the most spectacular feature of the Canadian trade report for 1929. The decline is said to reflect the world gamble of the Canadian wheat pool in holding supplies for higher prices.

In the confident belief that the price of wheat ultimately will soar to $1.70, Canadian wheat growers, under the directing influence of the wheat pool, have adamantly withheld supplies from world markets all this season. Even when wheat soared to $1.60 they held on. Their confidence in ultimately receiving a high price is still unshaken.

The Canadian wheat has been withheld even in the face of vigorous and even sarcastic protests from the British government, which feels its consuming public is being held up by their own kith and kin. Alex McPhail, president of the wheat pool, is now in England, discussing with the British government the mother country's urgent plea for return cargoes of Canadian wheat and for a release of Canada's wheat export blockade.

CITIES SERVICE CONTRACT BASIS FOR SUITS HERE

Five suits seeking recovery of purported losses sustained on cancellations of contracts to purchase Cities Service stock on the time payment plan, were filed yesterday by Attorney B. H. Baskin against the Henry L. Doherty company in the Chicago Municipal court.

According to Baskin the suits are similar to those filed recently in Omaha and since on a clause in the contracts which provided that the purchasers, in event of defaulting payments, were to receive the amounts they had paid, plus or less the market price of the shares on the thirtieth day following such default.

Baskin sets forth that the complainant's who defaulted the payments Oct. 1, last, were not 30 days in default until Oct. 31, and the market was closed on that date. He argues such purchasers are entitled to the opening bid on Nov. 4, the next day the curb market was opened. Attorneys for the company claim the purchasers should be paid on the basis of the closing price for the stock as of Oct. 30. A difference of almost 10 points is involved in the two quotations.

National Surety Reports Record Business Volume

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 28.—The National Surety company today reported the largest volume of business in 1929 ever written. Gross premiums increased $1,801,000 and net premiums amounted to more than $19,000,000, or an increase of more than $750,000 over the previous year. Income from investments aggregated $2,019,680. The balance from operations available for dividends, including income from investments, amounted to $3,073,305, or $10.24 a share, compared with $2,792,514 or $9.31 a share in 1928.

U. S. Output of Minerals Increases 10% Over 1928

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Mineral production in the United States during 1929 was reported today by the department of commerce to have increased nearly ten per cent over 1928 to a total value of $5,900,000,000.

U. S. STEEL'S NET SETS NEW MARK FOR PEACE TIME

Other Steel Reports Reflect Favorable Trend.

ings, the directors yesterday declared only the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the common stock. Unfilled orders on Dec 31, 1929: totaled 4,417,193 tons, compared with 3,976,712 tons at the end of 1928.

The Inland Steel company reported net earnings of $11,712,374 for 1929, which was equivalent to $9.76 a share on the capital stock, whereas net earnings for 1928 were $9,334,297, or $7.63 a share. The increase in the dividend rate to $4 was the second boost within a year, the rate having been increased from $2.50 to $3.50 in March, last year. Last year's earnings were the largest in a decade.

Net Is $20,848,749.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel company reported net earnings of $20,848,749 for 1929, which was equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $29.04 a share on the common stock. Net earnings for 1928 were $15,568,687, or $19.99 a share.

And to top off the day's good news there was the annual report of the F. W. Woolworth company and a close estimate of earnings of Sears, Roebuck & Co., these being two of the largest merchandising concerns. Net earnings of the Woolworth company for 1929 were $35,664,252, equivalent to $3.66 a share on 9,750,000 shares of capital stock, compared with net earnings of $35,385,606 or $3.63 a share on a comparable basis for 1928. The stock was split on a 2½ for 1 basis last May.

Surplus at the end of 1929 was $61,304,130, compared with $49,039,878 at the end of 1928. Sales totaled $303,047,172 last year, compared with $287,318,720 in 1928. Stores operated increased from 1,725 to 1,825.

Net earnings of Sears-Roebuck were estimated slightly above $30,000,000, which would be equivalent to about $6.60 a share on the common stock outstanding at the end of 1929 and about $6.80 a share on the average stock outstanding during the year.

FOX IS GIVEN RESPITE FROM RECEIVERSHIP

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—William Fox today received a two weeks' respite in which to rearrange the tangled financial affairs of his film and theater enterprises in an attempt to escape threatened receivership.

Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman ordered a two weeks' adjournment in the consummation of a voting trust agreement between the Fox Film corporation and its voting trustees, class B stockholders, and William Fox to give a group of bankers time to complete their refinancing plan.

While this move was being threshed out two default judgments against the film corporation, totaling $690,246, including interest, were filed in the county clerk's office by the Corn Exchange Bank and Trust company and the Bankers Trust company. Both are based on notes. The Corn Exchange bank's judgment is for $392,000 and the Bankers Trust company's for $298,246.

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 46,050 barrels for the week ended Jan. 25, totaling 2,615,000 barrels, says the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,913,400 barrels, a decrease of 52,950 barrels.

RAILROAD NOTES

Amtorg Trading corporation, official soviet economic organization in this country, yesterday announced that Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railway, had been invited to visit Russia and make a study of the soviet railway system.

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad has ordered 2,300 cars, 500 gondolas each from Pressed Steel Car company and the Bettendorf Car company, 500 box cars from the American Car and Foundry company, 200 box cars from Pacific Car and Foundry company, 300 flats from the Ryan Car company, and 300 flats from the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company.

The war department approved plans for the construction of a bridge across the Illinois river near Chillicothe by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway under authority of the state law. The proposed bridge will replace existing bridges.

Authorization to issue $2,115,000 of 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates was asked yesterday by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad in an application to the interstate commerce commission. Funds derived from sale of the certificates would be used to finance partially the purchase of 1,083 freight cars costing $2,822,820.

POSTPONES VOTE.

Get this FREE

ANOTHER year has been added to this company's long record of "never a loss to any investor."

Since 1881 thousands of investors in every state in the Union have purchased millions of dollars worth of Cochran & McCluer first mortgage real estate bonds, unsolicited by salesmen (because we employ none).

We appreciate this confidence and this recognition of our direct plan of serving investors—a plan which enables us to offer the highest rates of interest consistent with safety, now 6½%.

As a mark of appreciation to our regular customers—and as a symbol of welcome to new investors—we are presenting this genuine Wahl-Eversharp Writing Set to each purchaser of our bonds, either for cash or payment plan, while this offer is in effect.

The set consists of pen, pencil, and attractive gift box. Pen and pencil are of beautiful rosewood rubber, and have all the famous Wahl-Eversharp features. Obtain this set for yourself or for a gift to another (pen and pencil may, of course, serve as two separate gifts).

Cochran & McCluer bonds—bonds on which no investor has ever lost a single dollar in principal or interest—may be purchased in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000. As little as $10 starts you on our Retire in 15 Years Plan and entitles you to the special gift offer. This offer can be made for limited time only. Phone, call or mail coupon for full particulars.

Retire in 15 years

on your present living budget

Follow the simple, definite plan in the book, "How to Retire in 15 Years," and your independence is won. Plan works just as surely whether you are earning $1000 or $100,000 a year. Phone, call or mail coupon for free copy.

As directors of leading banking institutions, many of America's most representative business men continually exercise a most constructive influence on prosperity and progress.

Their advice plays an important part in determining the conservative course of the bank. Their experience and counsel, through the bank's officers, are a constant help and inspiration to its customers.

The board of directors of the First National Bank of Chicago is composed of men who represent many of the great industries of the nation. Cooperating with an official staff, thoroughly familiar with business and finance, our directors contribute a wide range of seasoned judgment to the problems upon which our customers seek counsel.

You are invited to bring your problems to this bank and to avail yourself of the facilities which have been an important factor in the development of Middle Western business for more than sixty-six years.

Marmon's choice of four years ago is the choice of the show today

BUILDER OF STRAIGHT-EIGHTS IN THE BUSINESS...

.... no matter whether it's hitting a golf ball or a baseball ... or bidding contract bridge ... or making biscuits .... or straight-eight engines—the longer you do it, the better you get

There no longer seems to be any doubt in anyone's mind that the straight-eight is THE THING—out of 35 manufacturers 25 are now making eights — mostly straight-eights.

Four years ago, in the heyday of the six, Marmon said, "Great days are ahead for the straight-eight." Concurrently Marmon, after two years of preparation, turned its factory over definitely and completely to the making of straight-eights—and has never built any other kind of engine since. Today the great preponderance of engineering opinion has swung over to Marmon's original thought.

If you are going to get a straight-eight (and the chances are that your next car will probably be that type) get the best—buy it from an experienced builder.

Marmon is no smarter than others in the industry, but there is no blinking the fact that "practice still makes perfect"—and that Marmon has been in this straight-eight business for nearly four years—long enough to have acquired the swing of it and to have become truly expert.

Every Marmon engine is Marmon-made. Every Marmon workman is trained and schooled in the fine points of straight-eight building. The whole Marmon factory, from one end to the other, is planned, equipped and operating strictly on a straight-eight basis.

Among the things that Marmon has learned about straight-eights are

—how to make them run with maximum smoothness

—how to make them deliver more power per pound of weight

—how to make them simple and free from mechanical annoyance

—how to make them deliver more miles per gallon of gasoline

—how to make them stand up and stay quiet

—how to make them so sturdy and dependable that they literally grow sweeter and better with age.

To convince you of this last hard-to-believe statement, every Marmon dealer will be glad, in addition to a ride in a new car, to give you a conclusive demonstration in a Marmon straight-eight that has seen real service in the hands of an average user.

Ride in an old Marmon, if you would know what to expect of a new Marmon. This is a test that would be fatal to any car that was not inherently sound in every way.

SHOW HEADQUARTERS: Palmer House, 16th Floor.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Chandler Rutledge, Texas ranch owner, is laid up with a broken leg and is forced to send his young son, Jim, out with a herd of cattle. Jim is hardly twenty-one, but he is sure to take on the job for his father, and tells him not to worry, he'll see it through. Ike Hart, the oldest cattleman on the ranch, is selected to accompany him. The first night on the trail Jim and Jack Barton, two of his men, are separated from the rest while searching for a ford on the river. They make camp, and are accosted by two strangers.

INSTALLMENT III.

A WARNING.

Jim explained their plight to the two strangers with no unnecessary detail. He did not know why the sight of these men made him instantly sorry, unless it was that he felt if they were honest men they had a right to use their swarthy, ill favored faces for libel.

"What's yore name, young fellow?" one of them demanded.

"James Warren," answered young Rutledge. This was true as far as it went. His middle name was Warren.

"Near Cleburne."

"Got a big outfit?"

"Who's in charge?"

"I am."

The man looked him over insolently and laughed sourly. "Sent a boy to mill, didn't they?"

"I wear man size boots," Jim said quietly.

It was the turn of the other man to jeer. He was younger and taller than his companion. "I'd never of guessed it," he said.

Jim let that pass. He wanted information rather than a quarrel. "My friend's name is Barton—Jack Barton," he mentioned. "What can we call you gentlemen?"

Was there a momentary hesitation before the older man spoke? Jim was not sure.

"Buck Roe's my name. This is Sam Moss." He spoke harshly, as though in answer to a challenge.

"Pleased to meet you," Jim replied.

Jim turned to Barton. "Didn't we hear the Circle R was about five or six days behind us, Jack?"

The cowboy took his cue at once. "Seems to me that old donker at Belvar said so."

"Fellow, who you talkin' at?" Roe wanted to know.

Jim looked at the mounted men in wide open candor. Both of them carried rifles as well as six shooters.

"Why, I thought you gents might give me a steer how to get through the Red River country without meeting up with these birds. If you live here, I reckon you have to watch out for them mighty close."

"This country is no worse than any other," Roe growled.

"But it's no place for smart aleck kids," added Moss.

Jim had been sitting with the saddle blanket across his knees. It chanced to be the turn of his companion to wear the trousers. There was a chill wind blowing and Jim rose to replenish the fire.

"Where are yore pants, fellow?" inquired Roe.

The young man flushed angrily, but said nothing.

"If he hadn't crossed the crick, as you call it, I would have been in Kingdom Come," Barton spoke up. "And if you've got to ride some one, mister, why I'm the guy that left his pants on the other side."

Moss turned his horse to ride away. Over his shoulder he said audibly to Roe, "A couple of greeners, I'd say. Betcha they don't get half their herd through."

The Circle R men watched them go. At the top of the slope Moss waved a scornful hand. Jim's lids had narrowed. All the warmth had been burned out of his eyes.

"Glad to meet up with you, Mr. Roe and Mr. Moss. I certainly don't take a smile to either of you. But I'll give you one credit mark. You're like rattlesnakes and give warning before you strike. Well, cut loose yore dogs soon as you're ready."

Jim spoke to himself rather than to Barton. He had been made to look ridiculous and he was young enough to resent it hotly. In spite of his father's admonition he was ready for war.

"They surely go outa their way to make themselves unpopular," the cowboy agreed. "Say, I'll bet those fellows, come to think of it, belong to the Moss gang."

"Go to the head of the class, Jack," his trail boss said. "You guessed right first shot outa the box."

"They got fifty thousand dollars from that S. & G. robbery. By jacks, some fellows have all the luck."

"They're ornery devils," Barton agreed.

"A while ago you were mentioning about guys not knowing enough to be thankful, Jack. I'll say you've got good cause right now. For if those two hombres knew I was Chandler Rutledge's son they would ride back and pump us both full of lead."

Barton stared at him in surprise.

The wind died down and the sunshine warmed the land. Jim donned the overalls, saddled Buckskin, and set out to find a crossing place for the herd. He found one a couple of miles from the camp. Near the upper point of an island the stream had widened above a bed of gravel to comparative shallows. Buckskin found it necessary to swim for only one short stretch. Moreover, the water had already lost the icy chill given it by the hail storm.

He met Sim Hart on the opposite bank.

"Gravel. Couldn't be better. We'll throw 'em over right away. First though, send one of the boys across with Jack's clothes, some grub, and the makings. He hasn't even had a cigaret for breakfast."

"Must have been cold in the night."

"Some."

"Once when I was a line rider in the Panhandle——"

"We had two visitors," Jim interrupted. "Ever hear of a gent named Buck Roe?"

The foreman stared at him. "I'll say so. I've known that cow thief for twenty years. He's Dave Moss' right bower. You ain't tellin' me you've seen Buck Roe?"

"Buck and a friend of his called Sam Moss. They drapped in to say how d'ye do?' and to warn me dad was sending a boy to mill."

"Golly! You tell 'em who you were?"

"I did not. When Roe asked about the Circle R trail herds, I said they were a week back of us. But this means we've got to keep our eyes skinned. They good as told me they were after our stock."

Jim ate a sandwich hurriedly while one of the cowboys roped and saddled a fresh horse for him. He rode back to the ford and watched the leaders of the first herd go into the water. They took it with very little hesitation. Within of three hours both herds had crossed in safety. They covered ten miles before night.

After they were bedded down Jim took extra precautions about the night guard. He warned the riders to be very careful and he made sure that they carried revolvers. Twice during the night Jim rode out to the sleeping herd to make sure that all was well.

Before daybreak the men were fed and as early as possible the cattle were in motion. Jim rode at the point to give the direction. He made a long day of it, for he wanted to get out of the danger zone quickly. Evidently the Moss gang did not know the Circle R herds were in the immediate vicinity. There was a chance that he might slip past without trouble, though he hardly dared hope for such good luck. Roe and young Moss had probably been sent to look their outfit over, and had contemptuously decided they were not very spry.

The sky was heavy with clouds and before darkness fell the rain was coming down. Thunder rolled up and distant lightning played across the sky. Jim doubled the guard, for this was stampede weather. An hour later the full forces of the storm was upon them. Cannon crashed in the heavens and the lightning played around the horns of the cattle. At the ears of the horses phosphorescence gleamed. The herd was disturbed and uneasy, but as yet had made no break. The animals were on their feet ready for whatever might take place.

He Conducts as Orchestra Plays His Notes

Eric DeLamarter Here; Stock in Cincinnati.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Frederick Stock is in Cincinnati for a few days putting in some final rehearsals with the chorus which will appear here with the Chicago Symphony orchestra next week.

Consequently Eric DeLamarter conducted the concert at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon, as he had in Milwaukee the night before, and it is permitted to record by report from Milwaukee and by presence at Orchestra hall that a fine success was scored in both instances.

Yesterday's program classified as agreeable rather than imposing. Still it contained such items as Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony, Richard Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel," and Mr. DeLamarter's own suite made from the incidental musical that he composed for Maeterlinck's play, "The Betrothal," about ten years ago. In all cases the performance had brisk pace, excellent balance, and first rate tone. The Tschaikowsky and Strauss works built themselves up into resonant climaxes that avoided being noisy and maintained complete clarity.

Mr. DeLamarter's own music had been silent too long. It is delightful in the swift rhythms of the overture and the "Dance of the Sweethearts," and the elaboration of "The Veiled Figure" into the present charming melody was just what was needed. Here Jacques Gordon as soloist and Mr. DeLamarter as composer-conductor shared the applause.

Tito Schipa, making up for lost time, is appearing during the last few days of the opera season in several works that he would have appeared in earlier if he could have been on this side of the Atlantic. It was "La Traviata" last night with a house crowded to the last seats nearest the exits and mad enthusiasm for everything that took place, ovations for Mr. Schipa as the young Germont, other ovations for Richard Bonelli as the elder of that family, special ovations for Claudia Muzio as the fair but morally unrobust Violetta. Anyway, "La Traviata" registers among the three most popular works in the repertoire of the Civic Opera company. At the end of the third act the cast was called before the curtain, responding to repeated applause. The singers brought Samuel Insull with them, and he bowed, refusing to make a speech.

Anne Post, contralto, gave a song recital at Kimball hall last night, introducing German songs, Italian songs, French songs, English songs to the highly expert accompaniments of Robert Macdonald quite after the conventions of those who have decreed that the best song programs must be in not less than four languages. She has a voice of pleasant quality and considerable range, to which is added the attitude of a well trained musician in interpretations. Her enunciation of words is fairly clear as far as vowel sounds are concerned, and would be clearer if the consonants were projected with a little more emphasis.

Mrs. W. B. Norton Honored by Fellow School Teachers

As a farewell to Mrs. W. B. Norton, for many years a teacher in Wendell Phillips High school, forty fellow teachers gave a tea in her honor yesterday at the school. Mrs. Norton is the wife of the Rev. Mr. Norton, who retired last year as THE TRIBUNE'S religious editor. She has resigned her post as head of the Latin department of the school to join Mr. Norton on the west coast. As a token of their friendship and respect Mrs. Norton was presented with an oriental rug from her associates by C. C. Willard, principal. Miss Grace Corcoran was chairman in charge of the affair.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question J. S. De Roestte, 1923 Berenice avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

The Answers.

Miss Katherine Adduce, 3606 Lexington avenue, clerk. — One can usually tell by the man's appearance whether he is a good for nothing down-and-outer or an unfortunate person, temporarily—but actually—in need of help. The person who is clean outwardly is probably clean inwardly.

A. M. Keegan, 1621 Ridge avenue, Evanston, Ill., landscape architect.—I usually ask them if they have tried the Salvation Army or any of the organized charitable institutions. I pay no attention to the offensive looking type of beggar. Every one is willing to help the needy, but our charitable institutions are able to separate the wheat from the chaf.

Miss Laura Coffman, 307 Reliance Bank building, stenographer. — If they ask me for money I usually give them a dime or so. The other day a friend and I were about to take a street car when along came an elderly fellow, gray haired, and, hat in hand, he asked me to help him. I put a dime in his hat and tears began rolling down his cheeks. We missed the car.

Wayne Mansfield, 1401 Hyde Park boulevard, service clerk. —If I think he is deserving I usually give. There are two kinds of panhandlers, the kind that you can feed and they appreciate it, and the kind that will accept your quarter and most generally spend it for drink. I would rather take a chance and lose than see some worthy person starve.

Mrs. Horace Carpenter, 6430 Kimbark avenue, housewife.—I always wonder if there are not social service agencies that take care of these cases. I do not consider it best to give them anything, so seldom do so, but I always feel sorry.

Trousers for Women, New Paris Fashion

Vie with Long Skirts in the Displays.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Long trousers, rather than long skirts, seemingly are occupying the minds of important dressmakers who showed summer styles for the first time today.

Unprecedented crowds of excited buyers and style writers jammed the salons for the first peek of the couturiers' answer to the organized opposition of American women to the long skirts and general back to bondage styles of the winter.

The style makers have proceeded to add an inch or so to skirts here and there, pull in waist lines generally, and tidy up their work, already well started, of creating a new outline for Eve.

The style makers, however, have created many varieties of trouser costumes which are labeled pajamas for the beach, for sun bathing, for the interior, for the studio, and even for dinner. It appeared as though they intended to lead modern women back to long skirts for daytime wear by irresistible trousers which are as long and wide as evening skirts, but neater and snappier. Even the old fashioned men among the buyers who frankly were for the "old fashioned girl" with her short hair and skirt were enthusiastic about the new trousers.

Knees simply are not good form, according to Paris. If women insist on wearing dresses instead of trousers for tennis and the beach they should have them long enough to reach the top of the calf.

Afternoon skirts are midway between that point and the ankle. Evening dresses are of various lengths, but almost none of them display any silk stocking above the ankle.

One house, noted for its eccentricities, shows afternoon dresses with waist lines under the arms in first empire style. There were demure shawls and poke bonnets to complete the picture.

The same house had Grecian satin dinner dresses of several yards of satin draped to leave one shoulder bare. These were girdled with crystals and there were toeless and sometimes heelless shoes to go with the costume.

55 Families Among 10,000 City People Helped by Charity

After one year of existence the bureau for the registration of social statistics, operated at the University of Chicago under the joint auspices of the university and welfare agencies in a number of the country's largest communities, has issued its first report.

Statistics gathered from the Chicago agencies, through the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, were included in the figures which will be presented E. L. RYERSON JR. in full to delegates at the annual meeting of the council at the Hotel La Salle Friday night.

Tabulations from the reports of the cities participating indicated that an average of 55 families per 10,000 population are dependent in any given month on family relief and welfare agencies. In these cities relief for these families amounted to $8,800 per 10,000 population, or 88 cents for every man, woman, and child in the community.

It was found that 28 children per 10,000 population were cared for monthly outside the homes of their parents. That the total of hospital service given amounted to 12,300 days for each 10,000 population, or one and one-quarter days per person.

Institutional reports revealed that there were 8.8 juvenile delinquents per 10,000 population in these cities, and that a total of 470 aged persons were in homes and institutions for the aged and infirm out of every 10,000 of over 65 years of age.

Chicago's records for the year were assembled from 2,275 monthly reports made by its member agencies to the Chicago Council of Social Agencies. It was found that in this city the public and private agencies expended in one year $2,689,786 in relief to dependent families, of which 63.7 per cent came from the public tax treasury and 36.3 per cent from the philanthropically supported agencies. A monthly average of 14,164 dependent families were in the care of the member organizations of the council.

Edward L. Ryerson Jr. will preside at the annual meeting Friday night, at which Beardsley Ruml of New York City will give the principal address after the annual reports have been presented.

THE THEATER

"THE FIELD GOD."

A drama by Paul Green, staged at the Goodman theater, Jan. 28, 1930, by the Art Institute Repertory company. The cast:

Hardy Gilchrist	Harry Mervis
Etta Gilchrist	Anna Titus Robertson
Rhoda Campbell	Bess Kathryn Johnson
Neill Sykes	Raymond A. Jones
Mag	Bernard Ostertag
Lonie	Sara Fenton
Jacob Alford	Roman Bohnen
Sion, his son	George Storm
A preacher	Lawrence Paquin

Act I.—The yard and rear part of Gilchrist's house on his farm in eastern North Carolina. A summer evening.

Act II.—Scene 1. Same as Act I. A day in the following winter. Scene 2. Sitting room of the house. Evening of the same day.

Act III.—The yard. An afternoon in the following June.

Act IV.—Scene 1. The sitting room. Four months later. Scene 2. The sitting room. The next morning.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

An exceedingly interesting evening of drama in earnest may now be found at the Goodman theater, where the imagination of Paul Green, a Pulitzer prize playwright, broods over certain domestic events that might happen, any time, among the primitives of North Carolina. This piece, which carries a fast pick-up of dramatic power in each of its four easy-going acts, is better than "In Abraham's Bosom," with which the author won a literary ribbon of honor. It deals with white folks of the corn and cotton belt, and there isn't a streak of color in its cast of characters. It is close to Carolina earth; it brings the power of nature into wrenching conflict with religious obsessions; and it has, in a drawling, sauntering Dixie style, emotional drive.

"The Field God" might be called, for the sake of an approximate definition, a down south "Desire Among the Elms." But its people are, in marked contrast to O'Neill's mean, warped New Englanders, essentially decent. They mean well as they blunder into their grim little tragedies.

The love story in this play deals with the passion that springs up, like one of the tricks of the great god Pan, between a middle aged farmer and a girl of his family—his worn-out wife's niece. They cannot help themselves in their drift toward a mating; but they keep their own and the audience's self-respect. Their only breach of the code, in fact, was a kiss at harvest time; but that is enough, in Carolina, to serve as an extremely active curse.

There is heavy going through the piny woods dialect at first. These natives of the Piedmont have a regional language that reaches the northern ear in pleasant, but often unintelligible, sound. But the listener becomes acclimated; and there is fire in the situations that seem to be conjured up by the spirit of the soil. The farmer, who takes his labor lyrically, is an agnostic, in contrast to his God fearing, chapel going kinsfolk and neighbors; and therefore he is marked out, in their eyes, for some special manifestation of the Wrath.

When he falls in love, the natural incident is to them a paganish business destined for dire punishment. And a surprising amount of trouble, grimly effective theatrical stuff, is stirred up before the story ends by a mediation of its tragic current. This pair of lovers are too clean of spirit to bring down an unhappy curtain. But they have a narrow escape, even after they get married.

A quick clicking brawl between the farmer and his jealous hired man; the sudden death of the invalid wife, with curses upon her mate and his girl for last words; a crazy, drunken charivari for the newly married pair, ending by the suicide of the boy whose heart had been broken by this match; and a scene of religious hysteria, in which the tribal gods of the backwoods are summoned up to part the couple—these are high lights in "The Field God." It is, in short, a strong, picturesquely written play of a segment of the American scene where the local temperament runs strongly toward congenital unhappiness.

The Goodman's company gives a sound, effective performance of this valid example of art theater drama. The cast seems to have a more or less authentic touch in painting in the Carolina atmosphere.

Harry Mervis is excellent as the virile farmer, and he supports the poetic tendency of the dialogue by looking, even at hog killing time, like an agricultural Edgar Allan Poe. Bess Kathryn Johnson is quietly winning as the nice bit of calico who inspires the god Pan to his biological amusements; Raymond A. Jones is sound as Young Carolina preparing to run amuck because of a girl; and Anna Titus Robertson [Mrs. Donald Robertson] makes an effective debut with the company as the depressed, religion haunted wife.

The intellectuals attended last night's opening in force, of course. And so, curiously enough, did Miss Texas Guinan.

Other Finds Show Vast Age of America.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 28.—The American Museum of Natural History announced today the discovery of:

Tracks which animals left in Alabama 250 million years ago.

Frozen bones of animals which roamed Alaska about 20,000 years ago.

These finds, with few exceptions, are the result of work by museum representatives and expeditions during the last year. Some of the material already has been received at the museum for study, and a few of the Alaska discoveries have just been put on exhibition.

The Florida man's skeleton is being studied carefully for information as to the antiquity of man in North America, where previous evidence only indicated human life 4,000 to 6,000 years ago.

"The animal tracks," the museum discloses, "occur in hard shale or slate two or three feet above the coal seam. When these deposits were being formed in the Pennsylvania period, about 250 million years ago, this country was flat and low and covered periodically with black mud. Across this mud walked numerous individual animals of that time.

"New layers of mud buried their footprints and preserved them so that with the passage of these millions of years they still are preserved as clear impressions in the solid rock. They are among the oldest known traces of land animals."

Bad Teeth, Dirt Promote Cancers, Physician Warns

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Cheering news concerning cancer was given to the Harlem Medical society tonight by Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins university. "Direct information universally distributed should wipe out cancer of the mouth and skin cancer," he said.

"From observations of more than thirty years," he said, "on external cancer, the evidence is that it does not begin as cancer, but in a local area of abnormal cells. These cells are of two kinds: First, those displaced before we are born, giving rise to the well known black mole, a spot like a pea beneath the skin. Second are normal cells irritated by an injury, such as a sore spot on the skin, or a white patch in the mouth.

"In the mouth in fully 97 per cent of the cancers of which I have definite records, two distinct factors clearly preceded the area of irritation in which cancer ultimately develops, and they were tobacco in any form, including snuff, and ragged, dirty teeth.

"Smokers who are very careful to keep their teeth clean and smooth, and who stop smoking the moment they notice the white patch, or experience the sensation of a sore mouth, never get cancer. I feel confident that my students within fifteen or twenty years will not see cancer of the mouth, but will only read about it, as I have read about cancer in chimney sweeps."

Dr. Bloodgood explained that formerly a special type of cancer prevailed among chimney sweeps. Dirt and soot collected upon them, he said, and finally the irritation developed into cancer cases.

"I am confident," he continued, "that cleanliness will protect and practically prevent cancer of the skin.

"As men and women grow older and age thickens and wrinkles the skin, it needs more attention, and in addition to soap and water there must be added some toilet water containing alcohol, and some application of an oil substance like vaseline, cold cream, or cream and almond oil, because the skin loses its natural secretion. Individuals exposed to dirt, sunlight and weather must be more careful of the exposed skin as they grow older."

Perfect Makeup Results from Lots of Little Details

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One of the things that rather amuses a person whose ears are not bared to public view is the care with which the lobe and rim are rouged when you are being "beautified" in a beauty parlor.

It may be love's labor lost with ears that are kept concealed, but not so with ears that are exposed. It is one of those tiny touches that particular women indulge in. A nice touch, too. A dead white ear is a bit repellant if you have an eye for observing every little detail. It suggests ill health or age, neither state being particularly becoming.

Looking for other spots on which to plant a tiny bit of color effectively, you might try a dab of rouge under the chin, to define it. This suggestion is for night adaptation, rather than day, unless the rouge is very faint. If the chin is extremely long you can run the color lightly up over the tip, to make it appear slightly shorter. If the chin recedes ever so slightly, don't rouge it at all.

Another spot where you may use a light caress of rouge is directly under the eyebrow. If it suits, which it does not with everybody, it makes the eyes a bit more brilliant, but it must be done most delicately, you know.

A dot the size of a pin point placed at the inner corner of the eye often is intriguing in effect, but if the eyes are close set it is not a wise thing to do.

If the lower lip is much fuller than the upper, as is often the case, do not daub paint over its entire surface. If ther is good color in it, do not paint it at all. If the difference between a carmined upper lip and a natural lower one is too great, either leave both untouched and this in itself is often reducing in effect for the coarse under lip, or else shade the heavy one extremely lightly in the thickened center, bestowing the color toward the ends. The color should be neither light nor dark—just as nea... natural lip ...oring as can be obtained.

Irene Bordoni Now Seeks Papers as Citizen of U. S.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Irene Bordoni, motion picture and stage actress, who is a little bit worried just now over the possibility of being a woman without a country ,yesterday applied for American citizenship.

Miss Bordoni became an American citizen once, automatically, by her marriage to E. Ray Goetz, motion picture producer. But the marriage was annulled in Chicago three months ago, as it was found to have been performed before the expiration of the time limit forbidding Goetz to remarry after a divorce.

One lawyer told her, Miss Bordoni said, that the annulment took away her American citizenship, and another, she said, informed her that it failed to restore her French citizenship.

In her application today Miss Bordoni stated that her parents were Corsicans, and that she spent her childhood on that island. All true Corsicans, she explained, claim to be cousins of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Museum in Lincoln Park Collects Films About Wild Animals

Progress in increased attendance and additions to animal exhibitions were reported by the Chicago Academy of Science museum in Lincoln park in the annual review of Alfred M. Bailey, director.

The attendance, 281,233, was an increase of 2 per cent over 1928, and was more than half composed of children, the report stated. Important progress in its task of making motion picture records of North American animal life was made.

Flag of Britain Floats Above Cocktail Glass

BY THALIA

At Nassau in the Bahamas, where many Chicago fashionables are sojourning, cocktail parties are a legitimate and popular feature of the social life. A cautious correspondent, writing from Nassau, refers to them as "sundown parties," although Nassau, being British, is, of course, prohibitionless.

These are no casual affairs, but formal functions, lasting from 6 to 8 o'clock. Invitations are issued a week or two weeks in advance, and sometimes as many as two hundred guests are asked.

Mr. and Mrs. James N. Rawleigh of Winnetka were among those attending one given a few days ago by Capt. Horace Fitzpatrick for Lady Diana Duff-Cooper and her husband, Capt. Duff-Cooper. Other titled guests included Lady Victor Paget and the Viscountess Cranbourne, while Capt. Sydney Herbert, M. P., was another guest.

Other Chicagoans arrived within the last week at Nassau include Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Robbins, who previously had been at Miami Beach; Col. and Mrs. Thomas R. Gowenlock, and the Albert J. Partridges of Wheaton. The Partridges are at the Royal Victoria hotel and plan to stay through the season, as they did last year.

The Kimball Salisburys of 1415 Astor street leave next week for Nassau, and the John T. McCutcheons depart within a few days for their island paradise, Treasure Island, in the Bahamas group. Charles T. Atkinson is to accompany them. Owen B. Jones has bought an island, and the Knowlton Ameses will undoubtedly occupy their place for part of the late winter season.

The wedding of Miss Marion Farnsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Farnsworth, to Fairbank Carpenter, son of Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, took place quietly yesterday afternoon at the Farnsworth residence at 1448 Astor street. Only members of the families and intimate friends attended the service, read by the Rev. Ashley Gerhardt at 4:30 o'clock, and the reception that followed.

The bride wore white satin, a tulle veil depending from a head band of pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of orchids. Her only attendant, her sister, Miss Edith Farnsworth, wore pale aquamarine crêpe with a small felt hat of the same hue, and carried green orchids. Benjamin Carpenter was best man for his brother. After a three months' honeymoon in Europe the new Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter are to reside at 942 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Felix Koerner Smith of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Katherine, to Oliver Drayton Ferguson of Detroit, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. John King Ferguson of Paducah, Ky. Miss Smith is a granddaughter of the late Gen. George E. Smith, and a graduate of Smith college, with the class of 1927. Mr. Ferguson was graduated from Harvard the same year, having prepared at Andover.

Mrs. Hermon Beardsley Butler, president of the Fortnightly, is to introduce Jean Jacques Haffner before his talk at the Fortnightly this morning on "The Modern Trend in Architecture." The lecture is the first of three being given under the auspices of the Cambridge school, in which Chicago alumnae of the school are interested. Mrs. Walter Ayer, Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Countess de Contades, Princess Michel Cantacuzene, and Mrs. Charles H. Goodspeed are among those who are attending.

Countess de Contades is the attractive Parisian who with her husband has been here for several weeks at the Drake. The Arthur Meekers have been showing them about.

The second tea in the series being given by the woman's auxiliary board of the Chicago Historical society for members of various patriotic and civic organizations will take place on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the society's building on North Dearborn street. The Daughters of the American Revolution and the Daughters of 1812 will be invited.

Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mrs. Walter Jarratt, Mrs. John H. Coulter, and Miss Carolyn Tyler, granddaughter of William H. Brown, the first president of the Chicago Historical society, are to preside at the tea tables. A short talk on the new building project, and a special tour of the museum will follow.

The service club had a meeting on Monday afternoon at Mrs. Albert F. Kallmer's residence at 4 West Burton place, with a tea for the new members afterwards. It was reported that $19,000 had been cleared on the service club show, and $7,000 of this has been designated to be used for the Visiting Nurse association, so that there will be a Service club visiting nurse. The annual luncheon meeting is to take place soon.

The Swedish consul, Carl de Dardel and Mrs. de Dardel of 52 Cedar street, who have many friends in Chicago, are about to make their departure. Mr. de Dardel has been appointed consul general for the Dutch East Indies. His post will be in the city of Batavia on the island of Java. The De Dardels are moving to the Churchill the end of this week to spend the last few days before they leave on Feb. 9. They sail from Vancouver and are to travel in Japan and China before going to Java. Numerous small farewell dinner parties are being given for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Woodruff of Joliet leave today with their infant daughter, Kay, for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will join the Marshall Keigs at the Phoenix-Biltmore. Their motor is being shipped down for them, and they will probably be gone for a month or two.

RETURNS FROM HONEYMOON

MRS. DAVID TABER.
[Koehne Photo.]

Mrs. David Taber is the former Miss Mary Ambrose, daughter of Mrs. W. O. Ambrose of Nevada, Ia. Her marriage took place on Dec. 28 at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Wetmore of Wheaton. On their return from a honeymoon in Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Taber will reside on the north side.

Society Attends the Opera

One of the most attractive box parties for the final Tuesday subscription night of the opera season last night was Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks'. With her were her house guests, Mrs. Frederick Ayers, Mrs. William Rockwood, and Mrs. Lawrence Chambers, who are here for a few days from Indianapolis, and Mrs. Aldis J. Browne, Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman, and Mrs. Charles Pierce. A dinner party preceded the opera. Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks have kept their Indianapolis residence open this winter, and have been commuting back and forth.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds occupied the George M. Reynolds' box with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Seaverns Jr. and Hervey Cabell as their guests. With Mr. and Mrs. H. Newton Hudson and Julie F. Brower were Mrs. Jackson Dering and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan were the Stuart Logans and Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Strotz. Col. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze had as guests Dr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Small, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Faithorn.

Mr. W. E. Clow Jr., had with him, his daughter, Miss Francise Clow, Donald M. Ryerson, and Frederic McLaughlin II.

With Mrs. Jacob Mortenson were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Shorey, and the Daniel J. Schuylers, who have attended regularly throughout the season. were accompanied by Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler Sr., Mrs. H. O. Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sweetser.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Mrs. Hoover occupied a box this afternoon at the concert of the Philharmonic Society orchestra, in Constitution hall. With her were Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins and Miss Susan Dyer of New York.

President and Mrs. Hoover were given a dinner this evening by Attorney General and Mrs. William D. Mitchell. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Victor F. Ridder, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Daniels, and Michael J. Doherty of St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Jaffray of Minneapolis, and Miss Ada L. Comstock, president of Radcliffe college.

James Robert McKee spent a few days in Washington en route to Battle Creek, Mich., from his home, Berkeley lodge, at Greenwich, Conn. He left this afternoon for Detroit after making a call at the White House. Mr. McKee's son, Benjamin Harrison McKee, lived for several years in Chicago and is a cousin of Carter H. Harrison, several times mayor of Chicago.

Forkner, Fournier Well Represented at Chicago Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Four one man shows were put on view yesterday in the Chicago Galleries association rooms, 220 North Michigan avenue. There are water colors of great depth and warmth of coloring by Edgar Forkner, which deal chiefly with ships and flowers. A little group of unframed water colors by William Forsyth, possibly the first discoverer of Brown county, Ind., gave a taste of his quality. In the larger gallery hang paintings by Randolph Coats and Alix Fournier.

Randolph Coats has evidently spent much time painting women when he might with more profit to himself have been studying serious anatomy, either from casts or the human frame, legs particularly and arms and hands, where they join and how they join; and he might have studied, too, how to make definite, sure strokes, the kind that supply solidity, and structure to pretty-pretty girls. It is difficult to have patience in these days with painting that does not definitely mean something. John Sloan can paint a nude and make of it a magnificent canvas. Mr. Coats contents himself with the slight and the delicate picture. There is no red meat, no vigor, little of lasting value in his figures. They slip through your fingers like scented water; they are as momentary in their power to please as the pattern on a butterfly's wing and as evanescent. His strongest piece of work, and best, is the "Assisi," a picture within a picture and lit by the charm of an ancient Italy.

Alix Fournier submits a number of delightful landscapes. A few stand out. Among these are "Hollyhock Time" with its brilliant rows of flowers; "October Evening," a little canvas of rich color; "Evening in Normandy," a poetic, wistful landscape foreign in feeling; "Threatening" with a storm sweeping up the lowering sky; "Sunshine and Mist," delicate and fragile; "Wild Plums," a gorgeous riot of white blossoms; and "Autumn Sunlight," another little canvas of poetic tendencies.

An exhibit of oils by the Spanish artist, Jose Drudis-Biada, is at the Belmont hotel until Sunday. At Carson, Pirie, Scott's, on the second floor in the fabric section, is a beautiful exhibit of quilts designed and made by Elizabeth Wells Robertson, who is the district supervisor of art in the Chicago public schools. An exhibit of Russian posters is now to be seen in the gallery of Kroch's book store.

Among the Chicago members exhibiting are Eda Nemoede Casterton, Marion Dunlap Harper, Lucile Stevenson Dalrymple, and Adelaide Hancock, whose studios in the Fine Arts building adjoin.

Skill, Centuries Old, Called On for New Mexican Industries

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28.—In the rural schools efforts are being made to revive and modernize handicrafts that were carried on with skill before the fall of the Aztec empire in 1521. For more than four centuries the Indians have preserved these ancient industries, the making of baskets, pottery, blankets, toys, sandals, sweets of infinite variety. These activities are carried on in the homes and each locality places its stamp of individuality on its products.

Often designs used were signs, symbols and totums of the ancient Indian deities, worshipped long before the Aztecs came into the uplands of Mexico.

In the valley of Teotihuacan, a thousand years ago the center of Toltec activity, where lived the most civilized of all the Mexican races, the present government has revived much of the ancient industry, giving it a decidedly commercial turn. Visitors are offered fascinating pottery, mats, carpets, shoes, garments, a variety of other things; all such products find a ready sale in Mexico City.

In Texcoco a famous old town within tram car distance of the national capital, Indian communities and families have been making serapes and blankets for untold generations. Lately, in Texcoco, the ancient designs have been modified to catch the tourist trade.

The whole trend of rural education in Mexico is to make the children able to help themselves, as a means toward bringing them out of the attitude of subjection and dependence upon their employers.

Money Talks French Among Nobility's Notes on Romance

["The height of ability consists in a thorough knowledge of the real value of things, and the genius of the age we live in."—Francois, sixth Duc de la Rochefoucauld: 1613-1680.]

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 28.—When is a French aristocrat's marriage a "mésalliance"? Can he wed an actress without arousing scandal? May he marry a commoner without loss of caste?

These grave problems were discussed for 20th century France when George Michel-George, Paris writer, discovered King Louis XV. let his courtiers wed ladies of the stage and even authorized a favorite minister to marry a noted comédienne called "chou-chou." This marriage, says M. Michel-George, would be equivalent today to Mistinguett walking off to the altar with Prime Minister Tardieu.

But "Louis the well beloved" was partial to pretty women. Witness Mmes. Du Barry and Pompadour.

In this century marriages between actresses and noblemen do mean scandal. Young Count Stanislas de la Rochefoucauld recently passed through such an ordeal. His family offered him an annuity of $2,000 if he would leave his lovely fiancée, Alice Cocéa, Paris boulevard comedienne, waiting at the altar. The young man refused: "An American impresario offers me $20,000 cash if I let my bride star in a film under the name of Countess de la Rochefoucauld. Really, I'd lose too much money if I listened to my family."

This bon mot would have pleased that long dead Rochefoucauld whose "Maxims" still sell in many lands.

A decided "mésalliance" in Paris society eyes, though, was the union of Count de Saint Laurens with a ballet girl by the name of Deverey. A thorough mistake, Paris thinks, was also the marriage of young Prince Philip of Orleans, duke of Nemours, and cousin of King Albert of Belgium, with Miss Margaret Watson, an untitled Anglo-Saxon, quite a bit older than himself. The duke's family opposed the marriage and took all his titles from Philip. So Miss Watson became a plain Mme. d'Orleans.

In the same way, Mrs. Walter Kingsland, née Princess Marie Louise of Orleans, lost her rank and all the privileges of her illustrious birth when she was wed to the scion of the noted American family.

"Can a French aristocrat marry an American commoner with a great deal of money and still be socially prominent?" I asked Viscount Henry de Brimont, of a venerable Parisian family.

"Why, rather——," he hesitated. "That is, there may be some opposition at first. But why shouldn't noblemen marry rich American girls if they love them?"

He recalled the answer of Baron de P——, who married an American millionaire's daughter, and explained: "There are women men love for their beauty, and others for their character. Why not love a woman for her money?"

Rev. W. Scarlett Elected St. Louis Coadjutor Bishop

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Rev. William Scarlett, dean of Christ church cathedral, St. Louis, today was elected bishop coadjutor of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Missouri by the diocesan convention. He is expected to succeed Bishop Frederick F. Johnson, who told the convention he would resign within four years because of ill health.

Red Cross Will Continue Books for Blind to Use

The work of transcribing books into Braille for the blind, which has been directed for the last two weeks by Miss Madeline Loomis of London, will be continued after Miss Loomis' departure for New York today, the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross announced yesterday.

To Recall Irish Saint

The twenty-seventh annual dinner in honor of the feast of St. Bridget will be held on Sunday evening at the Auditorium hotel under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Chicago. The Rev. Father Thomas Hayes of St. Veronica's parish, and Loran D. Gayton, city engineer, will speak.

Why 85% of America's leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent

PROPER sanitary care is more than a matter of personal daintiness . . . it's a matter of actual health protection.

So it's highly significant that 85% of America's leading hospitals select Kotex absorbent. Women may use Kotex, safe in the knowledge that their sanitary protection is the kind approved by doctors ... that the greatest hospitals could offer nothing finer.

Why Kotex is more hygienic

Its amazing absorbency makes Kotex safer in many ways. Kotex absorbs away from the surface. The surface is kept soft, fluffy and delicate. This is not only more comfortable, but more hygienic and far daintier.

Because Kotex absorbs so thoroughly, bulk and weight are not needed. You've no unpleasant consciousness of sanitary protection ... no nervousness . . . no worries. There's no "packing," because Kotex is made of air-cooled layers of Cellucotton absorbent wadding.

Remember that Cellucotton is not cotton—but a cellulose product which performs the same sanitary function with 5 times the absorbency of the finest cotton.

There are many reasons why Cellucotton makes a superior sanitary pad. Several are noted at the right. Please read them — then try Kotex. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT...
3—Fastidious . . . the sign of true daintiness.
4—In hospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
Regular Kotex—45c for 12 Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

HUSBAND NAMES WIFE'S LAWYER CO-RESPONDENT

Points Out Attorney in Courtroom.

When he pointed his finger to identify his wife's attorney, Patrick J. Allman, as the unnamed corespondent in his cross bill for divorce against Mrs. Patra Arliskas, 416 East 110th street, Frank Arliskas, wealthy automobile dealer at 10857 Michigan avenue, yesterday threw the contested divorce trial before Circuit Judge Feinberg into turmoil. Arliskas made the charge when he took the stand after his wife had given court fans details of her relationship with Lawrence Gaffney, New York six day bicycle racer.

Mrs. Arliskas is 32 years old. She is suing her husband for separate maintenance on charges of cruelty. She also alleges that he paid more attention to golf and gambling than to her. She estimated his annual income at $40,000. The husband charged that she drove to Los Angeles in January, 1929, with Gaffney and lived with him during the trip. She confessed to the relationship, adding that Arliskas took her back on her promise to forget Gaffney.

Points Out Lawyer.

In his bill the husband also charged relationship with a man named only as John Doe. When he took the witness stand his attorney, Clarence Boord, asked him to reveal the identity of the other man.

"There he is," Arliskas said calmly, pointing a steady finger at Attorney Allman.

Allman leaped to his feet to demand that the testimony be stricken. Arliskas repeated the identification.

"This is a serious charge," Judge Feinberg declared. "The attorney is an officer of the court. Do you realize the gravity of your identification? If you cannot prove it, it shall go hard with you."

Husband Repeats Charge.

Arliskas acknowledged the seriousness of his charge and again repeated it. Attorney Allman asked to be withdrawn from the case, since he was named as a witness. He declared the charge preposterous and stated that he is married. Judge Feinberg asked Arliskas to continue.

"I saw them together last Oct. 12," he said. "I followed them in my car to Whiting. He did not take my wife home until early morning. On Dec. 7 they went to a chop house and did not get home until after 1 o'clock. When they stopped their car during the ride I drew alongside and threw my spotlight on them. I cannot be mistaken."

"Was I affectionate?" Allman asked.

"You were pretty fresh," was the reply.

The judge continued the case until this morning.

Hawaiian Governor Fights U. S. Bill to Bar Filipinos

HONOLULU, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Gov. Judd of Hawaii has requested Delegate Houston at Washington to oppose the bill of Representative Welch of California, which would prohibit the immigration into the United States of Filipinos by placing them in the same class with Japanese and Chinese. The governor said the bill would be detrimental to Hawaii. Filipinos constitute the bulk of the unskilled labor upon Hawaii's sugar plantations.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Itchy the Brave

HELD AS ROBBER, TWO WIVES NAME HIM AS BIGAMIST

Frank Beaufort, 38 years old, arrested by Austin police last Friday and since identified by 25 victims of burglary and holdups, faced additional charges last night as a result of the solicitude of two women. His wife, the former Agnes Erban, 2534 Princeton avenue, calling to console him, found him chatting with Anna Sabasinski, 2344 Monroe street, who also produced a marriage certificate. Both women signed bigamy warrants against him.

The wooing of a blonde cashier in a loop restaurant by L. Lee Holliday, a photographer, which was to have culminated in a Crown Point marriage next week, was halted last night by Sergts. Henry Carr and George Homer and Holliday's wife, Mrs. Marian Holliday of Des Plaines. Holliday was held at the detective bureau facing charges of bigamy and grand larceny.

Holliday was being sought for the theft of a camera from the Webtser Studios, 53 West Jackson boulevard. He had left his home at 4744 Drexel boulevard last Saturday. The police say he married Leona Johnson, a Gary artist, in 1926 and married Mary Swanson in 1928. He married his present wife the same year. His first two wives will be sought to appear against him.

Mrs. Florence E. Golden Estate Set at $1,500,000

The inventory of the estate of Mrs. Florence E. Golden, wife of Dr. John F. Golden, prominent Chicago surgeon, was filed yesterday in the Probate court. It lists assets, chiefly in stocks and bonds, valued at $1,500,000. Mrs. Golden died on Aug. 30 in her home at 3100 Sheridan road. Her will left the entire estate to her husband with the provision that it be divided at his death equally between their two children, John F. Jr., 9 years old, and Clara L., 6. Mrs. Golden was the former Florence E. Lydon, daughter of Mrs Annie Lydon and a sister of the late W. A. Lydon, former president of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company and a prominent yachtsman.

Bishop Chas. Anderson Has Fighting Chance to Live

The Most Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, primate of the American Episcopal church and bishop of Chicago, who has been critically ill at his home, 4512 Drexel boulevard, for the last week, has a fighting chance, according to a physician's bulletin last night. The bulletin stated the bishop's semi-delirious condition could continue a week before a decided change. He was stricken with a heart attack last Tuesday.

GEN. GORDON, DEAN OF ARMY, DIES AGED 97

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. David Stuart Gordon, retired, the oldest officer of the United States army, died at his home here today at the age of 97.

Gordon was a veteran of the civil war and the Indian wars of the western frontier.

Had he lived four more days he would have been the oldest officer in the history of the army. Twenty years ago Gen. Daniel H. Rucker died at the age of 97 years, eight months and eight days. Gen. Gordon had lived 97 years, eight months and five days.

The veteran probably will be buried at Arlington cemetery.

Death last night claimed two high ranking officers of the American world war forces, Maj. Gen. Harry Taylor, chief of engineers with the A. E. F., and Rear Admiral Thomas Snowden, division commander of the Atlantic fleet during the war.

Snowden was 73 years of age. Taylor was 68. Both will be interred at Arlington.

Widow of Former Deputy Warden at Joliet Dies

Mrs. Lois Johnson McDonald, 83 years old, widow of Capt. John McDonald, civil war veteran and former deputy warden of Joliet penitentiary, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Roberts, 618 Jackson street, Gary. Funeral services will be held at the residence at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow with burial in Oakwood cemetery, Joliet. Capt. McDonald, who died in April, 1922, served with Admiral Dewey, then a lieutenant, at the battle of Vicksburg. He was a member of the secret service commission which captured the men who had plotted desecration of President Lincoln's grave.

Mrs. Daniel V. Harkin Will Be Buried Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Daniel V. Harkin, wife of the president of the Union bank of Chicago, who died on Sunday in her home, 380 Washington avenue, Glencoe, will be held at 10 a. m. today in Sacred Heart church at Hubbard Woods, with burial in All Saints' cemetery. Besides her husband, Mrs. Harkin is survived by a son, Daniel Jr., a daughter, Mary Margaret, her mother, Mrs. Henry L. Hertz, a sister, and three brothers. Her father, the late Henry L. Hertz, was once state treasurer and internal revenue collector in this district.

Four Sentenced to Die for Murder of Garage Cashier

Newark, N. J., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Frank McBrien, "the Jersey Kid," and three companions in the slaying of a motor bus garage cashier in a holdup were sentenced tonight by Judge Dallas Flannagan to die in the electric chair March 9. A jury of twelve men deliberated for four hours and thirty-seven minutes before returning a verdict of first degree murder.

W. R. LINN DIES; CHICAGOAN FOR LAST 63 YEARS

Veteran Member of Board of Trade.

W. R. LINN.

William Robert Linn, a Chicagoan for 63 years, and the oldest member of the Chicago board of trade, in point of service, died yesterday at his home, 209 Lake Shore drive, after a short illness. He was the father of Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick Jr., Miss Mabel Linn and Howard Linn, all prominent in the social activities of the city. He was 79 years of age.

Mr. Linn was born in Butler county, Ohio, March 25, 1850. He moved with his parents to Terre Haute, Ind., as a child, and was educated there.

Enters Father's Employ.

In 1867 he came to Chicago and entered the employ of Linn & Reed, commission merchants, of which his father was a member. For more than sixty years from that date he was constantly associated with the grain business, becoming a member of the Chicago board of trade in 1875. In the ten years from 1887 to 1897 he operated several grain elevators.

His interests included the company that for years controlled the south side elevated lines.

His marriage to the former Miss Nellie B. Butler of Chicago took place here on March 14, 1881. Mrs. Linn, who was widely known for her philanthropic activities, died about three years ago.

Fond of Hunting.

Mr. Linn was an active sportsman, and a member of a number of hunting and fishing clubs. For many years he and John B. Drake of the Drake hotel spent several months of each year following these hobbies in various localities. Only a few months ago, despite his advanced age, Mr. Linn enjoyed a trip down the Illinois river to shoot ducks.

He was a member of the Chicago Historical society, the Field museum, and the Art institute. His clubs were the Union League, the Chicago, the South Shore Country club, Chicago Golf, Onwentsia, Racquet, and the Saddle and Cycle.

Fanny Brice Says She Sues Movies for $160,000

Fannie Brice, now playing here, said last night she had begun a $160,000 contract breach suit against Joseph M. Schenck of United Artists, Inc.

Her contract with United Artists called for two talking films, Miss Brice charges. When United Artists and Paramount corporation merged, she said, Mr. Schenck neglected to list her contract for the second film. In addition, she worked six months on her first film, "Be Yourself," to be released Feb. 8, rather than the 14 weeks called for in her contract, she said, and Mr. Schenck owes her $40,000 unpaid salary. Of Hollywood she said: "It's just a village, and always will be. You always feel as if the circus was in town there."

H. K. Rammel, Short Story Writer and Editor, Dies

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 28.—[Special.]—Hal K. Rammel, 38, short story writer and managing editor for the last twelve years of the Escanaba Daily Press, died at Rochester, Minn., today after a year's illness. He engaged in newspaper work in Illinois and Minnesota before coming to Escanaba. He is survived by his widow and three children. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Assumption, Ill.

J. H. D. Howell, Evanston Church Leader, Is Dead

John H. D. Howell, an insurance agent and for more than a decade treasurer of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston, died yesterday in the North Shore hotel, Evanston, of pneumonia which developed after he fractured his hip in a fall six weeks ago. He was about 68 years old and is survived by two sons. The funeral will be held at 3:30 p. m. Friday from the First Presbyterian church to Memorial Park cemetery.

ACCUSED AS LOVE THIEF, MARRIED MAN IS FINED

Delbert F. Sponey, an auditor, married and living at 500 West 78th street, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Freeman L. Fairbank in Jury court on a charge of having been intimate with Mrs. Lillian Wheeler-Reid, wife of a Hollywood publisher, last August.

Her husband, Leslie Wheeler-Reid, testified he had employed Sponey last summer to assist him in merging four motion picture publications. Shortly after Sponey and Mrs. Wheeler-Reid were introduced she came to Chicago, trailed by her husband, who found her living with Sponey under an assumed name in the St. Clair hotel, according to his testimony.

A dispatch from Los Angeles last night announced that Mrs. Wheeler-Reid, a magazine writer, had filed suit for divorce, accusing her husband of excessive drinking and asserting he had "unjustly charged her with disorderly conduct."

Altar-Shy Men Claim Girls Expect Too Much Money

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The other day our helpful friend, the Inquiring Reporter, held up a half dozen or so bachelors on the street to ask the reasons for bachelorhood.

First reading of the answers gives you the impression that the reasons are plenty. Then, when you begin to boil them down, you find two affecting the ladies, unless you could say that every bachelor, as a reason in itself, affects the girls.

The altar-shy males insist that the girls are unreasonable and that they expect too much money to get married on. That is, they expect a man's salary to sustain them in the luxuries to which their own pay envelopes have accustomed them — or promise them at some future date. Anyway, money seems to be the root of the evil here, as elsewhere.

I remember presenting, some time ago, statistics gathered by a most enterprising officer of the New York Y. M. C. A. in which fifty dollars was agreed to be a decent weekly prospect for an average girl and man to begin their housekeeping on. And the fifty might be subscribed solely by the male half of the bargain or it might be a pooling of both wife's and husband's earnings. Anyway, it was proved by figures that the fifty-a-week experiment would work out agreeably.

I know I tread on dangerous ground in even presenting another's statistics on what two can marry and live happily on. Always a deluge of protests follows any established sum named, for it is hinted to be of a minimum nature. And abundance of proof is always forthcoming that marriage can be a success on less than fifty dollars a week.

On the other hand, there is no question about the working girl's increasing taste for more than the bare necessities of life, which interferes largely with her postponing marriage. And there is also no question that it does her character, along with love, to abandon a place that assures weekly comforts for one that has the element of financial guesswork about it. More credit is due those young women with the long view on life who are willing to forego their so-called luxuries for the time being. For the whole thing does boil itself down to a question for girls to decide whether they'll take the long view or the short one.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Kidney Recipes.

If we want to learn to cook mutton or lamb, if we want to make a beefsteak and kidney pie, or a kidney and liver pie, or if we want to do no end of bits of kidney cookery, we need to go to the English cook books, as for true class in kidney cooking we should go to the French cook books. The very French word rognon is a "classy" of itself.

If we go to Mrs. Beaton's complete cook book that one of gross weight which tips the scale at five and a half pounds, in addition to recipes we will find entertaining notes on the subject of lamb and mutton. For instance, it is certainly humorous to find, under the recipe for broiled breast of mutton with caper sauce, a long note on "the Order of the Golden Fleece," telling of the different kings and dukes and popes that used the symbol of the sheep so exclusively, but you will look in vain in that long note for anything suggestive of golden or any other cooking.

Another note, under fillets of mutton, constitutes a very pretty description of "the Downs." At the end of this long note, it does tell why the downs are favorable to a superior breed of sheep or one highly valued for its delicate flavor, and the wool for its fineness. If you are in England and escape without hearing a dissertation from some one on the subject of Welsh mutton, you have had an unusual experience.

In one English cook book, and one enormously useful and long used, the list of kidney recipes begins with kidney soup, the next one has the title, "To fry beef kidney," and then others are for stewed kidney, for rissoles of kidney, for minced kidney, for hashed plain kidney, hashed rich kidney, and cold kidney stewed with green peas, then scattered through the book you will find recipes for kidneys and in combinations, as for instance beefsteak and kidney pudding.

In some of the older American cook books we can also find a good many recipes for using kidneys, because when people did their own butchering they did use up every part of the creature whether it was a pig or lamb or ox. They did the most complete work with the pig, but any one who has had an old fashioned dish of minced sheep's brain or a minced sheep haslet, which used to appear under the form "harslet," will know how delicate a dish can be prepared in this way.

Accessories Pep Up Winter Wardrobes

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—(Special.)—There are some new Paris accessories, just out, that will pep up the waning chic of winter wardrobes and get them over the end of the style season with ease.

We are looking at our winter ensembles, that seemed so smart when we annexed them, with disillusioned eyes. They look a lot of other things, but they do not look chic to us. Paleness have gone through this same experience, and have tried out those high wonder workers, new accessories, so that ensembles and wearers are now doing well, stylistically speaking.

The most potent accessory for reanimating the jaded ensemble is a new hat, and there is a new hat out in Paris that has a most promising future. It's really a sunbonnet, made of felt or straw for the Riviera, but many at homes are beginning to wear it right here in Paris. It's sketched here. Isn't it cute? The original model is made of emerald green felt, but it has been copied since Talbot brought it out in every color of the style rainbow, as well as black and white. Paris matches it to, or contrasts it with the ensemble, whichever you prefer.

The same sketch shows the new mad lace stock that some of the smartest women in Paris are wearing with their sober winter dresses, under their fur coats. You take a quite long, but wide band of real lace and wind it around your neck, pulling loops through at the front, but not knotting them. The effect is bewitching and new. These lace cravates are either white or ecru in color.

At the lower right of our sketch is a new accessory ensemble for the south. There is a little round muff and a collar made of fine, waxed straw sewed on to a silk foundation. Flower motifs done in wool are embroidered on to both muff and collar. The muff conceals a purse at the back and it is usually slipped over one arm and worn like a fat cuff.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' SLIP.

This lovely costume slip, with a long waisted bodice pointed at the center front, has an attached skirt that is fitted through the hips by means of pin tucks. It adapts itself beautifully to the new lengthened silhouette. It has deep, comfortable cut out armholes, with the important V cutline at both front and back of the upper edge of the bodice. Crêpe de chine and wash satin are lovely materials for lingerie.

The pattern, 3237, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material with 3¾ yards of 2 inch wide lace and ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting for the bands.

Counterfeit Coin Shows Child's Idea of Right Action

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Counterfeit," said the ticket seller, and he pushed the quarter back.

"What did he say?" asked one of the boys in the small party that was bound for the harbor and the aquarium.

"The quarter's no good—it's counterfeit," answered the one-who-told-the-story-to-me. "But we'll pass it somewhere else," she said as she fished out a dollar bill.

The train came in and they boarded it.

"What are you going to do with the quarter?" said the boy who had asked the first question.

"O, I'll pass it."

"But it's bad."

"I know it is—but—but I gave value received for it and it was given to me in good faith."

"But if you pass it, somebody else will get it."

"Yes," said the teller-of-the-story, "but that doesn't seem wrong to me. I have good money to buy something and this bad piece was given to me as change. Most everybody passes on counterfeit coins."

"But it's worthless."

Just then the train stopped and the boys and their grownup friend got out and walked into the park and toward the bay.

"Let's sit down here for a few minutes," said the boy who had been so interested in the bad coin. "Now, about that counterfeit coin—what shall we do about it?" he continued.

"I was going to pass it," said the boys' guide, feeling a little cornered and in need of a better argument than she had yet offered. "What would you do with it?"

"I'd put it where it couldn't ever be put into circulation again," he said. "Into the bay would be a good place."

His grownup friend thought a minute, then fished the quarter out of her purse.

He took it. "Really?" he said, and with a long pitch over the sea wall it went into the water.

"There! Now let's go. I want to show Bill the mud puppies and the baby sea lion."

That's all.

Just a real conversation.

Provident Hospital Fund Now Totals $2,521,559

With the addition of $60,758 announced yesterday at a luncheon in the Hotel La Salle, hope was expressed that the three million dollar fund to establish the Provident hospital as a medical center for Negroes will be completed by the time the campaign closes Friday. The fund has reached $2,521,559.

Chief among the gifts yesterday was $10,000 from Cyrus H. McCormick, $6,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Lessing J. Rosenwald, $5,000 from Morton D. Hull, congressman from Illinois; $1,500 from Max Adler; $1,000 from M. J. Carney, New York. At a meeting of Negroes on Monday night, $8,100 was subscribed, Alexander L. Jackson, president of the hospital announced.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

My kid brother came in the other day and announced that he'd been made coach of the low third grade football team.

My mother asked him if he wouldn't rather be on the team, and he said: "Sure, but the other fellows wouldn't let me be on it 'cause I didn't know what a touchdown was. So, they said I'd just have to be coach." B. P.

A small boy was visiting in the home of his uncle and aunt, who had no children of their own. His uncle would say to him, "George, I'd rather you didn't do that," and then in a little while again, "Well, George, I'd rather you didn't do that."

The small nephew said finally, "You know, Aunt Helen, it seems to me that Uncle Bob is always a-ratherin'." H. C.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Wants to Earn a Living.

"I am practically blind, not able to go on the street, and am trying to run a small business in my home. I need a small show case, a short counter, and a coal stove. Perhaps some of your readers have these items which they want to dispose of.

"H. C."

The retiring merchant dismantling his shop could help to equip this unfortunate man's home for his business. Won't you keep him in mind when disposing of these articles? Perhaps someone will have the stove he needs, too.

MEN—WHO CAN SELL.

Do you want a genuine opportunity?

Once in a lifetime an article is in such demand, and in a field so big, the possibilities so tremendous that a great number of men find a genuine opportunity and some of them make fortunes in the business.

We are selling such an article. We have spent $50,000 to perfect it and perfect our sales plan. We have spent many times this amount here in Chicago for merchandising and sales experience, to make this opportunity possible for you. The sales plan has been tested over a period of months. It has been successful to the point of 100% Men in the field are sold on it at 100%. They have made as high as $200 per day.

The article we are selling fills the biggest need of any specialty in America. It has an appeal so basic that it is the companion piece to the automobile, and gives every buyer a bigger value per dollar expended than any specialty these days ever bought. It has a wonderful sales appeal.

We send new men in the field with salesmen who are already making good in a big way. We pay full commissions on first payments. There is no charge to you. We stand behind men for reverts. We are rated AAA1. We finance all time payments accounts and do the collecting.

Men this is a real deal. If you are ready to take advantage of a genuine opportunity and know one when you see it, call Room 1214, 6 N. Wabash.

MEN—IMMEDIATE AND STEADY EMPLOYMENT; $30-$35 weekly to start; advancement assured. If you're not making good too, don't apply. Mr. Dreyer at Madison, Rm. 307, 718 W. 63d. Rm. 40; 6349 S. Clark, Rm. 318.
